

Admission Applications Increased

Service Will Mark Reformation Sunday

By CAROL KUNKLEMAN
The number of high school seniors requesting applications for admission to the University is "well ahead" of last year, Robert G. Bernreuter, dean of admissions and registrar, said yesterday.

Bernreuter said that 10,680 high school seniors have requested application forms, or about 36 per cent more than last year at this time.

Approximately 936 of those students requesting forms have already returned the forms to the admissions office, he added. This number is about three times more than last year, he said.

The actual number of students who will finally be admitted to the University is still being determined, Bernreuter said. This figure will probably be released in January, he said.

"We are planning to accommodate approximately the same number of students next year as we now have on campus," he said. This year's enrollment on the University Park campus is approximately 17,000 students.

Bernreuter said the number of students will not increase next year because of the limited amount of facilities and money available to provide additional faculty members for classes.

"The fact that students are applying to the University earlier may indicate that students are more college-minded or it could mean that our courses are becoming more well-known and students want the advantage of being accepted here," he said.

After a student submits his application, Bernreuter said, he is sent a "letter of intent". The letter simply states that the University "intends" to admit the applicant, but places him under no obligation to accept at that time, he said.

Letters of acceptance are sent to applicants on March 1, Bernreuter said. Those students receiving the letters have two weeks to accept admission to the University, he said.

"This waiting period is our technique to cut down on the terror applicants experience when they know they must accept admission almost a year before attending college," Bernreuter said.

Those students accepted by the University are not required to pay any fees until after they confirm their offer for admission after March 1, Bernreuter said.

A Reformation Day special service, co-sponsored by the University Christian Association and the State College Council of Churches, will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow night at the Faith United Church of Christ.

The Rev. Winston Trevor of the Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church will be the speaker. The Meditation Chapel Choir, directed by James W. Beach, will sing for the service.

Rabbi Norman T. Goldberg of the Hillel Foundation will speak on "Judaism" for the Graduate Newman Club discussion series at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel lounge.

"The Young Lions" will be shown at 8 tonight at the Hillel Foundation. There will be dancing, folk singing and refreshments afterward. The foundation will serve a lox and bagel brunch at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The Evangelical United Brethren and the Christian Student Fellowships will hold a joint dinner meeting at 5 p.m. tomorrow at the United Church of Christ. Samuel Chan, graduate student in botany from Hong Kong, will speak and show films of his experiences in China.

The Lutheran Student Association will hold a forum on "Protestants, Catholics, Lutherans: Discussion of the Reformation" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow. Speakers will be the Rev. Samuel Gibson, director of the U.C.A.; the Rev. Arthur Seyda of the Grace Lutheran Church; and Dr. John Mourtant, professor of philosophy. The seminar will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Wesley Foundation will have a coffee hour at 9 a.m. and worship services at 9:15 a.m. tomorrow. A seminar is scheduled for 9:45 a.m. At 6:30 p.m., the Rev. Ted Braun of the U.C.A. will discuss "The Book of Romans" for the Bible study hour.

The Baptist Student Organization will discuss "Life on Other Worlds; How Would It Affect the Christian Faith?" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow. The Rev. Robert Beyer, advisor to the group, will lead the discussion.

Westminster Fellowship will hold seminars at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow and a study group on "Worship and Social Action" at 6:30 p.m.

2nd Jazz Concert

Approximately 450 tickets remain for the Penn State Jazz Club's second concert of the year, featuring the Jazztet, at 8 p.m. tonight in Schwab.

The Jazztet, an instrumental sextet, featuring Art Farmer on trumpet and Benny Golson on tenor saxophone, has received the New Star Award in the annual balloting conducted by Down Beat magazine among the leading jazz critics and writers of the world.
