

Norman's Closing Spurt Booters Close at Home Almost Catches Machooka

 "I'm sure we'll win the meet" Young said. "I don't think that Penn State can beat us."
 Villanova, with good team balance, finished third with 101 points. The Wildcats were led by Vic Zwolak, who finished 5th.
 Norman was pleased with his second place finish, but felt that he might have done better. "If there would have been another 300 yards in the race I think I could have won it," he said.
 "Howie's cramp is just something that happened," Werner said. "We were going along great until then."

 There were 36 teams competing in the meet with over 175 individual entries.
 The top ten teams in the order of finish were: Michigan State, Penn State, Villanova, Manhattan, Army, Princeton, Cornell, Syracuse, LaSalle and Fordham.

Penn State's two freshmen, Colin Grant and Jim Lampman, finished 6th and 7th in their race.

Grant might have done better but at one point on the course he was pushed off the path and had to recover the lost ground.

Villanova won the frosh meet with a phenomenal 17-point score. Terry Sullivan, who has run a 4:02 mile, won the race. He was followed by two other Wildcat freshmen.

Hawks Sign Levane
 ST. LOUIS (AP) — Owner Ben Kerner dipped into the ranks of his former coaches yesterday and picked Fuzzy Levane to coach the slumping St. Louis Hawks for the balance of the 1961-62 National Basketball Association season.
 Levane, 41, succeeds Paul Seymour, 33, who was fired Friday amid evidence of a widening rift between him and his veteran front line of Bob Pettit, Clyde Lovellette and Cliff Hagan.

Neither the snow nor the opponents have soccer coach Ken Hosterman worried about today's game against Pitt. The game, which is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m. on the soccer field next to the ice rink, will close out State's season.

"We have the snow plows alerted and as for Pitt, I'm sure we can beat them," Hosterman said yesterday prior to sending his booters through a light workout on the snow-covered practice field.
 "I can remember in 1955 against Pitt when there was about two and one-half feet of snow on the field, but we cleared it off and played the game," he said. "The field looked like an ice skating rink with all the snow piled-up around the sides—but we played the game."

Getting back to the serious side of the game, Hosterman is confident that his booters will pick up their fourth win against five losses.

"Frankly if we play like we did against Army, we'll kill them," he said. State lost to the Cadets, 4-2 Friday, but Hosterman called it the finest performance of the season.

"Pitt shouldn't have beaten us the past two years based on the shots and the looks of the teams, so we have something to make-up for," Hosterman said. "However, I am looking for a typical Pitt State game because of the tremendous rivalry."

The Panthers won their first four games of the season, but since then have gone stone cold, dropping four while tying one.

Six seniors will be playing in their final game for the Lions: Dave Grubbs, John Miller, Leland Lance, Howie Farrer, Glenn Ream and Dick Kuplen.

AFL Violates Draft Date Set For December

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The American Football League admitted yesterday that it had held a draft prior to the official date—Dec. 2.

It violated an agreement with the American Football Coaches Association and brought a protest from the NCAA.

Commissioner Joe Foss did not term it a draft in a statement designed to clear up all misunderstandings but he said the eight owners "conducted a poll among themselves in respects to a limited number of players with whom they would have intra-league negotiation rights."

Foss pointed out that the "privilege of negotiations for selected players, which was conducted partially on a territorial basis, was to embrace all regulations of the by-laws in respect to the signing of college players."

These by-laws prohibit signing any player before he has played his last college football game, thus the AFL "jump the gun" draft will not affect any college player's eligibility.

Foss declared "the negotiation list was compiled by the owners without the knowledge of myself or my office. I was embarrassed that the poll was taken without the knowledge of my office. I am told that this was done because of my feelings against any sort of player selection prior to the regular draft."

He added, however, that since this does not give a club the right to sign a player prior to Dec. 2, "I might have approved the negotiation list, as such, as a player-scouting measure."
