

Army, Navy Clash Today; 1961 AP All-East Team President Will See Game

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (P)—Army rules an uncomfortable 1-point favorite over Navy in their spangled climax to the college football season today with the thin possibility that a Rose Bowl bid may go to the winner.
President Kennedy, a touch football enthusiast, will be in the sellout crowd of 98,616 jamming Philadelphia Stadium for the 62nd annual service spectacle. It will be carried on a national television network (ABC, kickoff 1:30 p.m. EST).

The President, the first commander-in-chief to see the game since Harry Truman attended in 1949, will sit on the Army side during the first half and on the Navy side during the second. But he may find it hard to maintain strict impartiality. He was a PT boat commander during World War II and was decorated for heroism by the Navy.

hazy, partly cloudy day with temperature in the mid 50s. The two rivals enter the game about as closely matched as possible. Each has won six games and lost three. They played three mutual opponents—William and Mary, Detroit and Penn State. Army whipped all three. Navy beat two but lost to Penn State 20-10.

Pressure is always intense when these two old antagonists clash, but this year there is extra heavy pressure on Army Coach Dale Hall and his Black Knights. Army has been able to win only one of the last five meetings and dropped the last two games—43-12 in 1959 and 17-12 last year.

Holiday Sports Schedule

Steve Garban, assistant business manager of athletics, has announced the ticket procedure for all home athletic events scheduled during the holidays.

As in previous years, matriculation cards will admit students to all regularly scheduled athletic events.

For all other persons tickets will go on sale at Rec Hall approximately 2 hours before the start of the event. The price of tickets is $1 for single events and $1.50 for the basketball-wrestling twin bill against West Virginia Dec. 16.
