Smith Inks Pro Contract With Los Angeles Rams

Lion captain Jim Smith gets a steady hand from Miss Lithona Rozier, the Gator Bowl queen, as he signs a professional football contract with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League. Watching Smith sign is Jim

David, a scout for the Rams. The 230-pound tackle played outstanding ball all season as the Nittanies swept into the Gator Bowl. He continued his fine play under the sun at Jacksonville in the 30-15 win over Georgia Tech.

Bear Hug Fails To Stop Rock

Lion halfback Roger Kochman keeps churning forward despite a bear hug by an unidentified Georgia Tech player. Kochman played a big part in State's 30-15 win over Georgia Tech from scrimmage and carried the ball 100 yards from Galen Hall.

Queen Lithona Rozier and Her Court

Gator Bowl Queen Lithona Rozier, University of Georgia, and her court add to the pageantry and color of pre-game festivities. Miss Rozier (center) is attended by (L-R) Janice Marie Russell, Judson College; Dolores Loll, University of Florida; Marybeth Coker, Auburn; Charlotte Yonge, Jacksonville University and Sherry Lynn Whitmore, University of Georgia.

Galen Hall's Finest Hour

Coaches, Sportswriters, Fans, Players—all agreed that Lion Quarterback Galen Hall was magnificent in rallying the Lions from a 9-point deficit to crush Georgia Tech 30-15. At a banquet after the game Engineer Coach Bobby Dodd said that Hall was one of the greatest players to perform against Georgia Tech in many years.
