

Cold Weather Should Continue

By JOEL MYERS

The very cold air that over-spread Pennsylvania yesterday should keep temperatures below the freezing mark in this area for several days.

A high reading of only 20 degrees is expected this afternoon and a low of 10 is indicated for tonight.

BECAUSE OF THE tremendous size of the arctic air mass—it extends from the Atlantic to the Rockies and from the Gulf of Mexico to the North Pole—there is little possibility of a warming trend for at least four or five days. Temperatures in western Canada in the heart of the arctic air range from 30 to 50 below zero.

Below zero readings were expected early today from Michigan to Nebraska, northward. Temperatures were forecast to reach 30 below zero in parts of North Dakota and Minnesota.

SNOW FLURRIES ARE expected here today but no snow accumulation is likely. However, a few inches of snow may accumulate in the higher elevations to the north and west of here.

Heavy snow squalls are likely today and tonight in extreme northwestern Pennsylvania and western New York, and 10 to 15 inches of snow could accumulate in some areas immediately adjacent to the Great Lakes.

A weak storm system moving southeastward from Colorado may bring snow to this area Thursday.

THE LOCAL FORECAST calls for considerable cloudiness, snow flurries, windy and much colder weather today. A high of only 20 degrees is expected.

Slowly diminishing winds and very cold weather are indicated for tonight and tomorrow. A high of only 18 is predicted for tomorrow.

State Budget Cuts May Force Fisherman's Paradise to Close

Fisherman's Paradise and the hatchery on Spring Creek nearby will be closed this year if the proposed budget of Governor David L. Lawrence is approved, Albert M. Day, executive director of the State Fish Commission, announced over the weekend.

Day said reductions in the Commission's budget for next year, reflecting a decline in license sales, will seriously affect operation of the famed trout stream. THE BUDGET FOR the commission will be down about $300,000 for a comparable 12-month period, Day said.

He said that stream pollution also was part of the reason for closing the hatchery. The University has been charged with polluting Spring Creek by the State Sanitary Water Board.

A court hearing on the issue will be held this spring. It has been placed on the January calendar of Dauphin County Court, but the exact date of the hearing has not been set.

De LEVIE, A NATIVE of Oldenburg, Germany, and a member of the faculty since 1947, will continue as associate professor of German. In his new position, de Levie will be responsible for the Study Abroad program of the College of the Liberal Arts which will be inaugurated this spring.

Larson, professor and head of the Department of Horticulture, will succeed Dr. Herbert R. Albrecht as associate dean of the College of Agriculture. Albrecht, who held the post from 1953, resigned to become president of North Dakota State University of Agriculture and Applied Science.

LARSON'S RESEARCH has primarily been in the fields of plant breeding, genetics and the culture and physiology of vegetable species. In 1960 he worked with the Mexican agricultural program of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Larson received bachelor of science, master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Minnesota.

Political Parties--

Thomas Loman, acting Campus party chairman, said yesterday that the party is certainly going to campaign for retaining political parties, on the campus political scene. Details of the campaign are still "up in the air" Loman said.

He said that he plans to meet with Dennis Foianini, student body president, who ran on the Campus party ticket last spring, later this week to work out the final campaign plans.

Whiton Paine, Liberal party chairman, said, "We are a small party but we are going to fight as hard as we can to keep parties on campus."

Paine said that the party was going to put up posters and the like in campaigning to get this referendum approved by the students.
