

LATIN AMERICAN EDUCATORS from five countries, selected by their governments for study here, learn modern elementary teaching methods in one of the classrooms in Engineering "E." The program is sponsored by the College of Education and the Aid for International Development. Only one other program like this exists in the United States.

125 Latin American Educators Trained Here in Recent Years

By DOTI DRASHER

(This is the first in a series of articles about the various international programs on campus.)

About 125 Latin American school supervisors have been trained over the past six years on campus in a program jointly sponsored by the College of Education and the Aid for International Development, formerly the International Cooperation Administration.

At the present time there are 15 educators from five Latin American countries who are studying elementary education, modern teaching methods and administration here.

ONE OF THE PRIMARY OBJECTIVES of the project is "to help the participants gain a good knowledge and broad understanding of the history, organization and philosophy of the American school system," Dr. Gerald Bosch, local director of the program, said recently.

There is only one similar program in this country in Geneseo, N.Y., Bosch said. The project is financed partly by the country involved and partly by this country, Bosch said.

THE PARTICIPANTS OBSERVE SCHOOL supervision and classes in sessions at various area schools and also have a five or six week "internship" at one specific school, but the majority of their training time is spent in class instruction, Bosch said.

The headquarters for the project are on the second floor of Engineering "E" and in a nearby classroom. The educators are currently having classes in mathematics, social studies, language arts, and elementary school reading instruction, he explained.

THE EDUCATORS NOW training here have no prior knowledge of English, Bosch said. They are chosen by their respective governments according to geographic areas in which trained people are most needed, he added.

A full time interpreter has been employed since all their classes are in English, but the participants are learning English in their other studies, he explained.

The countries represented in the current group now studying here are Honduras, Ecuador, Guatemala, Colombia and Peru.

30 Coeds Drop Out of Formal Rush

About 30 co-eds have dropped out of formal sorority rushing as of last night.

"There are about 1,050 rushees still in the rush program," Mrs. Nancy M. Vanderpool, Panhellenic advisor, said.

These rushees may pick up and answer invitations to Bermuda Junction from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. today in the Hetzel Union main lounge, she said. They may accept three invitations to this rushing event which will take place tomorrow night.

Former Student Dies Following Illness

Susan Moyer, 19, sophomore in the division of counseling from Plattsburgh, N.Y., died Dec. 31 after a long illness.

Miss Moyer, who lived in McKee Hall, dropped out of school midway through the fall term and underwent two major operations.

She was a member of the Outing Club and secretary of the ski division.

Surviving are her mother, father, a brother and a sister. Funeral services were held Jan. 3 in Plattsburgh, N.Y.

Freshman Fined $25 On Shoplifting Charge

Lawrence Kauffman, freshman in chemistry and physics from York, was fined $25 Saturday after he pleaded guilty to removing a pipe from Woolworth's without paying for it.

Kauffman was apprehended after a Woolworth's employee saw him take a $.79 pipe and leave the store without buying it last Thursday.

Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills also fined Kauffman $11.30 court costs and imposed a 5-day jail sentence on him. The jail term was suspended.

CONSCIENTIOUSLY YOURS

The prescription your doctor writes may call for numerous ingredients.

These must be compounded precisely — measured, weighed, powdered, sometimes heated, sometimes chilled and ultimately blended into a medicine.

Your pharmacist must be exactly right with his grams, cubic centimeters, percentages and other scientific guideposts.

During the process, to the exclusion of all else, we are in every way — conscientiously your servant.
