

Congress Will Discuss WDFM, ROTC, Text Tax At Tonight's Meeting

Receiving WDFM in the dormitories, the 4 per cent sales tax on textbooks, voluntary ROTC and discriminatory clauses will be the main topics for discussion at the first Undergraduate Student Government Congress meeting at 7:30 tonight in 203 Hetzel Union Building.

Earlier in the week, Dennis Foianini, student body president, proposed a plan in which USG would loan money to the individual residence councils so they could have transformers built to change the FM signal from WDFM to a signal which could be picked up on any regular AM receiver.

The Congress would have to approve such a plan. Foianini, in announcing the agenda for tonight's meeting, said he hoped Penn State could take the lead among Pennsylvania colleges and universities in attempting to get the state legislature to eliminate the 4 per cent sales tax on textbooks.

FOIANINI SAID the Congress would have to approve a committee which would contact other schools in time for possible action while this session of the legislature is meeting.

A proposal to appoint a committee of students to work with the Liberal Arts faculty committee in their attempts to eliminate compulsory ROTC for liberal arts students will be considered at tonight's session.

The legislative body will also discuss the recent Senate ruling which bans student organizations with discriminatory clauses from campus after June 30, 1965.

THE CONGRESS will elect its two chief officers. The president pro tempore, the presiding officer in the absence of the vice president, and the rules committee chairman will be chosen from among the Congressmen.

The rules committee is in charge of placing proposed legislation on the agenda.

Foianini said that the USG budget will be presented to the Congress tonight. The budget will be two-fold, he said, in that it will include an accounting of the money already spent this year and the proposed expenditures for the remainder of the school year.

Congressmen are reminded that they may pick up copies of the agenda for tonight's meeting at the HUB desk.

OAS Adopts Act Denouncing Cuba

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the inter-American foreign ministers yesterday he sees Cuba eventually released from "its nightmare and returned to the family of American states."

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's delegation left the 10-day old conference in a huff, boycotting two general sessions that formalized an indictment of communism's intrusions in the Western Hemisphere.

All the foreign ministers in the OAS except the Cuban last night signed the inter-American conference's final act condemning the Castro regime. Uruguay's Foreign Minister Homero Martinez Montero then adjourned the two-week conference.

RUSK SPOKE at a plenary session which adopted a final report on a series of resolutions, including the hotly debated decision calling for expulsion of the Castro regime by the OAS from councils of the inter-American family. With Cuba absent, the vote was 20-0.

"We have had some difficulty on only one point; how to give effect to the simple fact that we all recognize, namely that the official character and policies of the present government of Cuba are incompatible with the presence and participation of that government in the principal business of the Organization of American States," Rusk said.

The crucial vote for booting the Castro regime from the OAS came in a committee session that began Tuesday night and lasted long past midnight. The vote was 14-1, with six abstentions.

CUBA CAST the negative vote. The abstainers, whose governments represent more than two-thirds of Latin America's people, were Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile, Ecuador and Mexico.

Lined up with the United States for the resolution were Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela.

Other resolutions adopted at the committee session, with Cuba the dissenting vote unless otherwise indicated, included:

● The most stinging denunciation of Communist intrusion in the Western world ever adopted by any inter-American body, 20-1.

● An endorsement of President Kennedy's $20-billion Alliance for Progress program, 20-1.

● An embargo on arms trade between Cuba and OAS members, 18-1, with Cuba voting no and Brazil, Chile, Ecuador and Bolivia abstaining.

Snow Should Continue; 2 to 4 Inches Expected

The snow that overspread Pennsylvania last night is expected to continue this morning, and an accumulation of 2 to possibly 4 inches is likely by early afternoon.

The snow is being produced by a fast-moving storm system that was in southwestern Canada late Tuesday and in Illinois last night.

Cloudiness running well ahead of the storm moved into the Commonwealth yesterday afternoon and snow advanced rapidly from the northwestern to southeastern sections of the state during the evening.

The storm center was predicted to take an easterly path from Illinois and should reach Delaware this afternoon.

AFTER THE PASSAGE of the storm early this afternoon the snow should diminish to snow flurries. But winds will increase, causing considerable blowing and drifting snow.

A new arctic air mass is following the storm and the mercury is expected to reach zero tonight.

The strong arctic air mass that invaded Pennsylvania with great vigor Tuesday morning weakened considerably yesterday, but not before temperatures across the state fell to very cold levels.

Low temperatures yesterday morning ranged from 10 below zero in northern counties to 10 above in the extreme southeast. A minimum of 3 degrees was registered by the thermometer at the University weather station.

TODAY SHOULD BE cloudy and cold with snow, possibly heavy at times this morning, diminishing to flurries during the afternoon. A high temperature of 25 degrees is expected.

Clearing, breezy and very cold weather is predicted for tonight, and a low of one below zero is likely.

Tomorrow should be mostly sunny with varying amounts of cloudiness during the day. Very cold weather will continue and a high of 20 degrees is expected.

Ad Board Forms Available in Hub

Applications for junior, sophomore and freshman class advisory boards are now available at the Hetzel Union desk and must be returned by 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Juniors with a 2.0 All-University average may apply for the junior class board, Fourth and fifth term students with a 2.2 All-University average may apply for the sophomore class board. Freshmen with a 2.2 All-University average may apply for the freshman class board.

Thomas G. Miller, freshman class president, said yesterday that he also plans to appoint Dean Wharton, Class of '63, past freshman-sophomore class president, and Martin Eicheberger, president of Junior Inter-Fraternity Council, as members of the board in an advisory capacity.

Queen Deadline

Candidates for the Penn State competition of the Pittsburgh Press Roto Queen Contest have only two days left to submit their pictures to the Collegian office in the basement of Sackett. Pictures must be 5x7 or 8x10 inches glossy or mat finish. No pictures will be accepted after 6 p.m. tomorrow.

The Penn State winner will receive a trip to Pittsburgh where she will compete with winners from other colleges for the right to appear on the cover of the Press Roto magazine later this spring.

Coed Returns Tuesday After 2-Day Absence

Lynne Loeffler, sophomore in arts and letters from Kennett Square, was reported missing from Simmons hall Sunday. Local and state police and the girl's parents were notified of her disappearance at the time.

State College police said that the missing report was withdrawn Tuesday, when Miss Loeffler returned to campus. Mrs. Hal Leiper, community coordinator for the McElwain-Simmons residence area, had no comment on the matter when contacted yesterday.
