FIVE CENTS

QUESTIONED BY DEPUTIES—An aide to George Lincoln Rockwell, head of the American Nazi party, listens intently as he is questioned by sheriff's deputies Sunday in Lewisburg. Another follower, in the rear at the far left, looks on. Moments later the two were taken to the Union County Court House to await their rides out of town.

U.S. Nazi Leader Jeered By Crowd in Lewisburg

LEWISBURG — George Lincoln Rockwell, head of the American Nazi party, moved into this small central Pennsylvania town Sunday afternoon, delivered a 15 minute speech and left.

Although his speech was barely audible and interrupted frequently with jeers and boos, Rockwell said later that his trip from his headquarters in Arlington, Va. was a success.

HIS AUDIENCE was made up mostly of Bucknell University and Lewisburg high school students. There were a few curious adult onlookers.

He was forced to deliver his speech from a street near the university because his previous requests to use the Bucknell Campus, the U.S. Federal Building and the Union County Court House had been turned down.

Following his talk, he and most of the eight aides who accompanied him got into their cars and left town. The followers who missed the cars walked into the center of town where police and special deputies herded them into a paddywagon and took them to the court house to wait for rides.

IN SPEAKING, Rockwell ignored a plea by borough council to stay away. He had sent a reply to the council stating that he was not worried about not having police protection. He said he would scatter his followers throughout the crowd and they would make a citizen's arrest of anyone who tried to incite a riot.

It was rumored that about 200 of his followers would be in attendance but only eight appeared. As a precautionary measure the five-man Lewisburg police force was augmented by a force from Sunbury, special sheriff's deputies and state police both in uniform and plainclothes, and all carrying billy clubs.

The only police action needed was to keep traffic flowing through the streets of the town. For well over an hour most of the main streets were clogged. Street corners were filled with persons waiting to see if Rockwell would come back.

THE ORIGINAL INVITATION for the party chief to speak had been issued by the Bucknell Student Forum for Jan. 30. After many protests from veterans and other groups, the University canceled the invitation.

Snow Flurries Due As Cold Weather Returns to Area

The abnormally warm weather of Sunday and yesterday morning was terminated abruptly late yesterday afternoon as arctic air arrived in Central Pennsylvania.

Much colder weather was expected last night and temperatures today are forecast to average more than 30 degrees below those of yesterday.

Today should be mostly cloudy, windy and much colder with snow flurries. A high of 27 is expected.

Tonight should be partly cloudy and colder with a few snow flurries. A low of 15 is likely.

Partly cloudy and cold weather is indicated for tomorrow, and the high will be near 28 degrees.

Peace Nears For Algeria

PARIS (AP) — Scorning rightist plotters against his rule, President Charles de Gaulle declared yesterday he hopes to make peace with the Algerian nationalist rebels soon. He promised to release details before long for ending the 7½-year war of rebellion.

In cold terms, he told the "subversive and criminal" rightists he would use his emergency powers to crush them if they try to stand in the way of letting Algeria emerge as an independent nation.

Shortly before he spoke over radio and television, security officials announced they had dealt the Secret Army Organization a blow by arresting seven leaders of the underground's operational headquarters in Paris. They said the seven had plans to overthrow the government in a campaign to keep Algeria a part of France.

Earlier in the day, the rightists had tried to block relays of the president's message by bombing a TV tower in Lille and by kidnapping seven technicians from the TV-radio station at the turbulent city of Oran, a rightist stronghold in Algeria. Then, during De Gaulle's speech, a pirate radio station virtually drowned out the chief of state.

ALGIERS, ORAN, Constantine and Bone were held in strong military check.

De Gaulle, 71, declared nothing would prevent him from reaching his objective in Algeria. He gave no hint that a formal agreement with the rebel Algerian regime in Tunis had been reached, as repeatedly rumored in recent days.

The general described his Algerian objectives as an effort "to bring about peace within the shortest time, and to help Algeria to take its destiny in hand and to quickly create a provisional executive body."

France, he promised, was ready to recognize "without any restriction what will certainly come from a self-determination vote—that is a sovereign and independent Algerian state."

HE NEVER ONCE referred by name to former Gen. Raoul Salan and the Secret Army which defies him. But there was a flash of anger in his eye when he spoke of the subversive elements "it is necessary to reduce and punish."

"The nation unanimously despises and condemns these people, their plots and their terrorism," he said. "Their fate could only be the concern and is only the concern of the security forces, the police and justice."

Spring Registration Dates Changed

Spring term registration will begin Tuesday, March 27, and continue through Wednesday, March 28. Classes will begin at 8 a.m. Thursday March 29, it was announced yesterday.

REGISTRATION was originally scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, March 26 and 27 and classes were to begin on Wednesday, March 28.

The change was made so that students will have a day to see their advisers without making weekend appointments necessary.

It was shown in the pre-registration period before the winter term that one day is necessary for students to consult with their advisers, make transfers between academic programs, adjust their schedules for the immediate term and prepare for pre-registration for the following term.

RESIDENCE HALLS will open Sunday, March 25 and dining halls will begin serving meals that night.

Walker Questions 'Cost' Comparison

The Presidents Office, in a letter to J. Dean Polen, chairman of the House-Senate Appropriations committee, yesterday questioned the validity of cost figures attributed to the University at a budget hearing held Jan. 16.

The letter was sent in answer to a request by the committee for supplementary information on overhead costs at the University.

At the hearing, attended by President Eric A. Walker, figures were presented to show the University's "costs" to be higher than those of other universities comparable in size.

THE LETTER from Walker claimed that figures on administrative costs and total cost of instruction per student can not be compared to the costs of other universities.

It said that the services rendered by the institutions involved vary so widely in nature and scope that they cannot be reduced to a common denominator.

The letter also said that the use of different accounting procedures and operation methods makes valid institutional comparisons impossible.

Thirdly, the letter said a comparison of the total budget figures termed "expenditures per full-time student" can have no statistical meaning either as a measure of relative instruction costs or of relative efficiency.

THE UNIVERSITY denied that the average cost of instruction per student for the fiscal year 1960-61 was $3,384.87 as alleged in the hearing.

It gave as a corrected average cost per student for instruction a total of $1,218 for the same period of 13 months.

As its final point, the letter stated that the University's administration expense during the period 1950 to 1960 had been reduced percentage-wise despite a growing volume of new services and programs.

It said that at present, administration expense represents only 2.4 per cent of all University expenditures.

Officials, Families Hurt in Accident

By MEL AXILBUND

Seven members of the families of two University officials were admitted to Centre County Hospital Sunday following a two-car collision at the intersection of McCormick and S. Pugh Streets.

State College police said one car, driven by J. Paul Mueller was travelling north on Pugh St. when it collided with the second car, driven by Charles Hosler, head of the Department of Meteorology, which was travelling south on Pugh. The Mueller car was about to make a turn onto McCormick Ave. when the accident occurred, police said.

THE INJURED in the Mueller car were Otto Mueller, director of housing and food service, who was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises but was not admitted and his son, who had been driving. The younger Mueller was admitted with chest injuries and released yesterday.

Injured in the Hosler car were Hosler, with severe face and head cuts, Mrs. Hosler, with a fractured rib and face cuts and Peter Hosler, with possible fractured skull and face cuts.

Also in the Hosler car were Sharon, Lynn and David Hosler, all of whom received minor cuts and bruises.

YESTERDAY, all of the injured were released from the hospital except Peter Hosler, who was described as being in fair condition, Mrs. Hosler, fair condition and Charles Hosler, good condition.

The accident, which was nearly a head-on collision, police said, occurred just before services ended at many local churches, and minor traffic congestion was encountered in the vicinity.
