

Warner To 'Fire' Bullets Against Nittanies Tonight

By JIM KARL

A team pushing an eight-game winning streak and featuring one of the best little men in the East—that's what will confront Penn State's cagers when they return to action at Rec Hall tonight after a 16-day layoff.

The Lions will shoot for their 10th win against seven losses against Gettysburg, winners of 11 of 14 games and now in the midst of a stiff race for the Mid-Atlantic Conference Championship.

The varsity game is scheduled for 8, with a preliminary contest between the Lion freshmen and DuBois Center starting at 6:30. Coach Snowy Simpson's frosh have won two games and lost the same number.

RON WARNER, a 5-10 senior from York, Pa., has been the big gun in most of Gettysburg's victories this year.

Warner holds most Bullet scoring records, including most points scored (season and career), most field goals (season and career), most fouls (season and career) and highest average per season (season and career).

Warner has yet to hit Gettysburg's single game high (42) but he has scored 33 in one game four times.

HE AVERAGED 23.1 points as a sophomore, 24.9 as a junior and through 13 games this year (not including Lehigh Friday night). He is hitting at a clip of 24.2 points per game, which ranks him among the top 20 scorers in the nation.

Warner gets plenty of help on offense from Bob Parker, a 5-9 senior from Yeadon, Pa. Together the two have accounted for almost two-thirds of Gettysburg's total points.

Lehigh was the latest victim in the Bullets' winning streak, losing 54-51 on its home court Friday. Other teams to fall during the past eight games include Bucknell, Lehigh, Johns Hopkins, Lebanon Valley, LaSalle, Rutgers and Muhlenberg.

THERE'S NO doubt that Gettysburg will be pointing for State. "Penn State is always a big game for Gettysburg," Lion captain Gene Harris said. "They can go to a tournament if they keep winning. We'll have to stop their outside shooting and their fast break if we want to win."

Lion coach John Egli's main worry is Gettysburg's deadly accuracy from outside. "We'll have to keep our hands in their faces," he said. "If we don't bother them they'll make their shots."

The Lions have a height advantage over Gettysburg (Warner, at 5-10, is their leading rebounder) and Egli feels his team must exploit it if they are to win. "If we get a victory, it will come off the boards," he said.

State Hosts Meet Finals

Two important State wrestling events are slated for Penn State in March.

The Eastern Intercollegiate championships will be held here March 9-10, an affair which will attract 16 teams.

On March 24, Recreation Hall will be the scene of the P.L.A.A. semi-finals and finals.

Spring Drills in April

Penn State will begin spring spring football drills March 31, with the final intra-squad scrimmage slated for April 23.

Records Are Identical

For the past two seasons, Penn State's soccer team has turned in identical three win, six loss, and no tie records.

Gymnasts—

Harlacher for second place (256-254).

Phillips had to juggle his free-X lineup when an ankle injury sidelined Bob Giddings, the Middies' number one man in the event.

"The injury to Giddings hurt us," Phillips said, "but we didn't have a real chance to win."

The Nittanies stretched their lead to 23-9 with a sweep on the side horse. Junior Ray Cherry 239 finished third to Weiss 280 and Harlacher's 246.

LARRY YOHN WON the still rings for the Lions, but Navy managed a split in the event as Midshipmen Larry Silver (251) and Jim Sloat (250) edged State's Bud Williams (248).

Navy's Frank Eissing won the long horse vault by an equally slim margin. Eissing topped the Lions' F. P. Storza, 270-269, but Dave Heilbrun finished third and Lew Capetola was fourth to give the Nittanies a 9-7 advantage in the event.

Then Weiss and Seward took over, finishing 1-2 on the parallel bars and horizontal bar.

Penn State's freshman gym team evened its season's record at 1-1, sweeping first places in all six events to topple the Navy Plebes, 59-36.

Jim Culhane was the big scorer for the frosh, notching firsts on the side horse, parallel bars and horizontal bar.
