

THIS WEEKEND ON CAMPUS

WRA Activities

The Women's Recreation Association table tennis tournament will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow in the White Hall gymnasium. Singles and doubles events have been scheduled according to sorority and residence hall areas.

Swimming will be the only activity open to women students from 2 to 5 p.m. today in White Hall. Other facilities will be in use due to the table tennis tournament.

Twelve members of the Women's Recreation Association will participate in the National Women's Intercollegiate Campus Bowling Tournament today and tomorrow in White Hall.

The tournament is sponsored annually by the Association of College Unions. The Associated Student Activities is sponsoring the University's entrants.

Lectures

The University Lecture Series will sponsor a talk by Luther H. Hodges, Secretary of Commerce, at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab. A reception will be held immediately after the lecture in the Hetzel Union lounge.

Robert D. Reifsnider, associate professor of theatre arts, will discuss the current Broadway season on "Folio 15," a television series on Channel 10, 9 a.m., Monday.

Films

"Operation Amsterday" will be shown from 7 to 12 p.m. today and tomorrow in the HUB assembly room.

The McKee AWS community council will sponsor a free movie at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in the McKee recreation room. The movie, "Nightmare in Red," is about the Bolshevik uprising in 1905.

Charity Jam Session

Pi Lambda Phi fraternity and Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority will hold a jam session for the benefit of the American Red Cross today from 9 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at Pi Lambda Phi.

The jam session, open to couples only, will be informal, and admission is one can of food per person. The food will be distributed to needy families by the Home Service Division of the Red Cross.

Brotherhood Banquet

Dr. Benjamin Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., will speak at the annual Brotherhood Banquet sponsored by the Committee on Inter-religious Affairs, at 6 p.m. Monday in the HUB ballroom.

Mays will discuss "Brotherhood Across Race and Culture." Tickets may be obtained at the HUB desk for $2.50.

Prof to Talk on Reading

Dr. George E. Murphy, professor of education and director of the Reading Clinic, will be the principal speaker at a special meeting on reading to be held at Jersey City State College, Jersey City, N.J., on March 21.

The theme for the meeting will be: "Reading and the Schools: Some Unsolved Problems."

German, American Education Compared

Education in Germany is more competitive and selective than it is in the United States, but one can argue indefinitely about which is better suited to its country's needs.

Such is the opinion of Mrs. Helen Schoettle, legation counsellor, for the Germany embassy in Washington, D.C. who spoke this week to students participating in the 1962 Study Abroad program.

Mrs. Schoettle, graduate of the University of Cologne where some of the students participating in the program will study, explained her country's educational system to increase students' understanding of the country in which they will be studying.

IN GERMANY, after four years of compulsory elementary education, a student's school decides if he should pursue an academic or vocational education, she said. Students may also attend an intermediate school which prepares them for a semi-professional career.

The academic or secondary schools prepare students for a possible college education. In order to be admitted to college, she said, applicants must pass a comprehensive examination at the end of 10 years of secondary education. A student may repeat this exam once if he fails it the first time, Mrs. Schoettle said.

Once a student has passed the exam, he may enter any German university. After he has enrolled, she said, there are no required sequences of subjects—the student has complete freedom in choosing his curriculum.

CLASS ATTENDANCE policy is unlike that of the United States, Mrs. Schoettle said. German students register to "hear" a class and take periodic comprehensive exams. Mid-terms and finals are known here do not exist, she said.

Weisman Writes Article

Dr. Winston Weisman, professor of art and architectural history, contributed an article on skyscrapers to the supplementary volume of James Truslow Adams' Dictionary of American History. In the article, Weisman traces the evolution of the tall building from its beginnings in the mid-19th century to the present time.
