

Senate Group Will Study Student Judicial Systems

The Senate Committee on Student Affairs at its meeting yesterday set up a temporary sub-committee to review the various student judicial systems.

The announcement was made by Laurence H. Lattman, chairman of the student affairs committee, following the meeting.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE membership will consist of Dorothy J. Lipp, dean of women; Frank J. Simes, dean of men; Dennis Fojanini, student body president; Janis Somerville, president of the Association of Women Students; and Lattman.

The sub-committee will be pleased to receive any reports from student organizations interested in the judicial systems, he said. All reports should be submitted to Lattman before March 20.

Sub-Committee Extends Delta Upsilon Penalty

The Senate Sub-Committee on Group Discipline yesterday upheld the decision to remove Delta Upsilon fraternity's drinking privileges, but changed the length of time to the beginning of spring term classes.

The fraternity had its privilege to serve alcoholic beverages removed until the end of the winter term by the IFC Board of Control last week because of an incident in which an underage coed admitted she was drinking at the fraternity house.

commenting on the new sub-committee at the USG Congress meeting last night, said, "It's a loaded committee. I don't know whether we are going to get anywhere."

AWS PRESIDENT Janis Somerville, the other student member of the committee, said that the committee has no specific goals.

"As I understand it, the sub-committee has been set up simply to see what is presently happening in the various judicial systems," she said.

The committee will only be able to work on a study-group basis. It will report its findings to the student affairs committee, Miss Somerville said.

DISCUSSION OF the judicial system has received much attention in the last few months when the present USG Constitution was being drafted. In the initial draft that went to the Senate Committee on Student Affairs and the Sub-Committee on Organizational Control the judicial section gave the USG Supreme Court authority to declare unconstitutional any action taken by a student organization which has violated the USG Constitution.

This clause was objected to by the committees and upon its deletion and other minor changes, the constitution was passed.

The Senate Committee on Student Affairs has been studying the judicial systems in an attempt to simplify and perhaps improve the existing systems, Lattman said.

Players Set Tryouts for 'Once Upon a Mattress'

Tryouts for the Penn State Players' production of "Once Upon a Mattress" will be held from 7:30 to 11 p.m. Sunday and Monday.

The chorus will try out in 1003 Carnegie, the dancing chorus in 3 Carnegie and the speaking parts on the stage of the Little Theatre in Old Main.

The musical-comedy, satire on the fairy tale of "The Princess and the Pea," will run May 10, 11 and 12 in Schwab. On May 14 the play will be presented in the Lewistown High School auditorium in Lewistown.

Princess bruised by a Pea!

There was once a Princess who went on a journey far from her own land. She believed in "traveling light," so she left her crown at home. As a result, some people doubted that she was a Real Princess. One night, to test her, her hostess put her to bed on seven feather mattresses . . . but, without telling Her Royal Highness, she tucked a single uncooked pea between the two bottom mattresses. The next morning, when asked how she had slept, the Princess complained, "I didn't close my eyes all night. There must have been a rock in the bed, because I am black and blue all over."

And that, according to the old story, is how everyone discovered that she was a Real Princess, because (also according to that old story) only a true blue-blood could have such sensitive skin.

To leave the land of once-upon-a-time and return to today's world of facts, exactly what is a "sensitive skin?" Do you have to be a Princess to be "sensitive?" Must you develop a rash or a sniffle or a sneeze or a wheeze to fall into that category? Emphatically, no. The truth is that, in this respect, every woman is "special." EVERY WOMAN HAS SENSITIVE SKIN.

Whether it takes a bee to irritate you . . . or only a pea . . . whether you drive a tractor . . . or are driven in a limousine accompanied by a royal chauffeur and footman . . . whether the heaviest load you ever carry is a bushel basket of peaches . . . or a box of paper clips . . . whether you are four foot eleven and slim as a pin . . . or five-ten and built along Venus-lines . . . the very fact that you are a living, breathing woman means that your skin is a sensitive organ.

Your skin is much more than just a carry-all for bones and muscles. It protects and cushions your inner organs, it helps cast off impurities, it has a built-in thermostat that regulates body temperature. Moreover, it contains a rich nerve supply that makes you a busy receiving center for "touch-sensations" from the outside world.

Your skin mirrors your emotions, too. It blushes when you are embarrassed or deeply stirred, turns white when you are angry, becomes "prickly" if something shocks or scares you. Ill health, a change in diet, temperature or climate are all registered in this delicate, responsive organ.

Just as a fine violin needs tuning, care and protection, so your skin, as sensitive as a musical instrument, must have "tuning, care and protection." You would not entrust a Stradivarius violin to the maker of mass-produced factory fiddles. How equally unwise to entrust the only skin you'll ever have to ordinary treatment products and cosmetics. Instead, you can enjoy, without extra cost, the "specialist" care of the finest beauty line in the world . . . AR-EX Cosmetics.

AR-EX Cosmetics were designed originally for women who found ordinary cosmetics irritating to their skin. For years, physicians have been recommending and prescribing AR-EX in case after case where regular beauty preparations were injuring once-lovely complexions.

To meet the strictest standards, over fifty ingredients commonly used in beauty preparations have been omitted from the AR-EX line. The oils and aromatics used in compounding the perfume for AR-EX cosmetics and creams have been severely restricted to eliminate possible irritants and allergy-encouraging substances. Certain colors have been barred even though they have been certified in accordance with the Pure Food and Drug Law because they have not met the requirements of independent AR-EX laboratory tests.

Today, as continuous research unveils more and more proof that EVERY WOMAN HAS A SENSITIVE SKIN, AR-EX Products have come to the fore as the safest and most professionally-acceptable cosmetics available.

AR-EX Cosmetics are Hypo-Allergenic. This means that they are safe for use by women who are allergic to regular cosmetics. They are the result of almost a quarter century of research and study, and are as free of all known irritants and allergens as it is humanly possible to make them.

Moreover, they are available Unscented as well as Scented, for the benefit of women whose eyes and nasal passages are irritated by certain perfumes or scented cosmetics . . . as well as for the benefit of the woman who prefers not to mingle the scent of cosmetics with the fragrance of her favorite cologne and perfume.

Once the scientists, the doctors and the laboratory technicians were satisfied with the basic AR-EX formulas, beauty editors and fashion experts were called in as color and style consultants. Shades were tested and selected until, today, the AR-EX line-up of cosmetic shades is complete . . . and completely beautiful. At the AR-EX cosmetic counter you will find the face powder shade that is a skin-sister to your own complexion. Accent cosmetics . . . lipstick, rouge, nail polish . . . are keyed to this year's fashion trends, and next. No matter what shades are in your wardrobe of today and tomorrow, AR-EX has designed the perfect cosmetic companion for it.

AR-EX costs no more . . . but gives you so much more . . . in beauty and in "specialist" care. AR-EX prevents skin problems before they start. AR-EX is beauty insurance for every skin, from top to toe.
