

Ex-Lion Star Plum Traded to Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions of the National Football League traded quarterback Jim Ninowski, halfback Howard "Hopalong" Cassady and lineman Bill Glass to the Cleveland Browns yesterday for quarterback Milt Plum, halfback Tom Watkins and linebacker Dave Lloyd.

Plum, the league's leading passer the last two seasons, answers the Lions' need for a top-flight quarterback. Glass, a defensive end, was the big man in the trade for the Browns, who have needed help in their defensive line.

NINOWSKI, former Michigan State star, is returning to the Browns after two seasons with the Lions. He was Detroit's No. 1 quarterback most of last season when the Lions finished second in the Western Division. Cassady is a six-year veteran of the NFL and was a two-time All-America halfback at Ohio State.

Glass played his college ball at Baylor and completed four seasons with the Lions.

Plum is a five-year veteran in the NFL and a Penn State graduate.

WATKINS PLAYED at Iowa State and last year was his first in the NFL.

Lloyd played at Georgia and came to the Browns as a linebacker in 1959.

Although Plum recently criticized Cleveland Coach Paul Brown for his system of calling all the plays from the bench, a Brown's spokesman said this was not a factor in trading Plum and that the deal had been under negotiation since January.

Records Indicate East Powerful in Football

Who says eastern football is weak? Three eastern teams batted 1,000 in 1961 bowl appearances, Penn State whipping Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl, Syracuse beating Miami in the Liberty Bowl, and Villanova topping Wichita in the Sun Bowl. And look at what Penn State and Syracuse have done against non-eastern opponents. Between them, the Nittany Lions and Orangemen have run up a five-year record of 20-6-1 against intersectional competition, in regular season games and in bowl games.

Penn State has won three of its last four games against Big Ten teams, beating Ohio State and Illinois twice, while losing to Illinois, 10-8.

Lion Cagers To Play In First Alpine Classic

Penn State will play in the first Alpine Holiday Classic Basketball Tournament next Dec. 28-29 at Charleston, W.Va.

The other teams in the tournament will be Miami of Ohio, Marshall, and Morris Harvey.

It will be the fifth straight holiday tournament for the Nittany Lions, who played this season in the ECAC Quaker City Tourney.

Lion G-Men Open Quest For Fourth Straight Title

Penn State's four-man gymnastics team opens defense of the Lions' national championship in Albuquerque, N.M., today, and the undermanned Nittanians face their most serious challenge in several years.

State has won the NCAA team crown for three years in a row but the expense of traveling all the way to New Mexico for this year's competition has cut the team to captain Greg Weiss, Tommy Seward, Bud Williams and Larry Yohn.

On those four rest the possibility of a fourth straight NCAA champion for the Lions.

All the members of the team must do well if the Nittanians are going to retain their title, but the bulk of the scoring falls squarely on the shoulders of defending all-around champion Weiss.

Coach Gene Wettstone has called Weiss "the best college gymnast in America today" and that claim will get a stern test in the University of New Mexico's Johnson Gymnasium today and tomorrow.

Weiss edged Olympian Fred Orlofsky by .32 of a point to win the title last year. But Orlofsky is back for another shot at the Nittany star this year.

Orlofsky heads a strong Southern Illinois team that may be favored to unseat the Lions. Michigan State and Southern Cal are also contenders for the team title.

Yohn and Williams will both compete on the still rings for the Nittanians. Seward will join Weiss in the all-around competition.
