

Malik Urges U.S. to Spread Ideology Six Launch Campaigns For Top IFC Positions

To combat Communism, the United States must aim to spread its ideology by infiltrating the universities, governments and trade unions of other countries, Dr. Charles H. Malik, former president of the United Nations General Assembly, said Sunday.

"The art of nibbling,"—limited warfare, so well developed by the Communists, is a tactic that should be employed by the West as well, Malik told a standing-room-only audience in Schwab.

"U.S. money, technology and machines are not sufficient in the Western offensive against the Soviet Union," Malik said. "The U.S. must spread its ideology, too."

THE WEST must meet the Communist offensive on its own grounds, and not be misled by professions of "peaceful coexistence" which Malik called a Soviet weapon of war.

The Communists ultimate aim is to annihilate all non-communist systems and universalize the "revolution of the proletariat."

The expressed doctrine of "peaceful coexistence" has been one of the Communists' most successful stratagems in perpetrating the cold war. It leads to the ultimate objective of world domination, while the Soviet Union is yet too weak to forcefully annihilate the non-Communist political systems of the world, he said.

COEXISTENCE IS impossible in light of the Communist objective, which Khrushchev candidly reiterates to each Western dignitary with his "We will bury you," Malik said.

The West must awake from its lethargy and complacency and take some initiative in salvaging the existence of democratic systems rather than just reacting to every move made by the Communists.

The West must nibble away at Communist strongholds in addition to merely containing the Communist threat, said Malik, who endorsed guerrilla warfare by the West.

MALIK LISTED nine points which he said constitute the unchangeable core of Communism. These included "Radical atheism, moral relativism and materialism, Communist party solidarity and one-party monopoly and the conviction of the inevitable triumph of Communism."

He gave 12 reasons for hope in the free world, based on technical progress and the moral precepts of Christianity.

If anything is to stop Communism, Malik said, it is that which Communism was in reality designed to eradicate—Christianity, not democracy.

Malik's speech kicked-off a 4-day forum, "You and the Communist Challenge," sponsored by the University Christian Association and the Newman Club.

Six candidates made self-nominating speeches last night for the three top offices of Interfraternity Council.

Candidates for president are Emil Sos, Delta Chi; Robert Banks, Phi Gamma Delta; and Gene Sterner, Theta Xi. Those running for vice president are Edward Snyder, Beta Sigma Rho; and Joseph Wells, Theta Chi.

James Burk, Sigma Nu, is running unopposed for secretary-treasurer.

FOLLOWING THE candidates' speeches, Richard Pigossi, present IFC president, told the fraternity presidents that the executive board had decided to have the elections on a drop-down basis. This would mean that the losing candidates in the first two elections would be able to run for the position of secretary-treasurer.

This recommendation resulted in controversy and was unanimously defeated by a vote of the council.

THE CANDIDATES will be campaigning throughout the week and elections will be held next Monday night at the next IFC meeting.

In other business, Pigossi read a letter which he had sent to Ralph R. Ricker, who is in charge of the placement of athletes, requesting an increase from $450 to $600 to each athlete on scholarship living in a fraternity house. Athletes who live in the residence halls receive $750.

New Study Project Planned for Corps

Dr. John Ball of Michigan State University will be the first guest lecturer for the "Projects in Understanding Culture" which have been initiated for the fourth Peace Corps Philippine project now in training here.

The purpose of the new study area, organized by Charles L. Holt, editorial director of the Philippine training project, is to provide a basis for understanding and objectifying the entire training program.

EMPHASIS IN THE course will be placed on an examination of the social structure of the Philippine culture and its historical development, a survey of the major language groups of the Philippines and study of Tagalog, the national language of the islands.

Dr. Ball, who will lecture to the trainees today through Friday, will give a survey of the differences in the world view of an Indo-European and a Malayo-Polynesian, with a consideration of how language is interwoven with the social structure.

Other guest lecturers will be Miss Dorothy Lee, author of the book "Freedom and Culture," April 12, 13; Ward H. Goodenough of the University of Pennsylvania, currently visiting professor of anthropology at Cornell University, April 16, 17; and Isidore Dyen, professor of linguistics at Yale University, April 22, 23.

THE REMAINDER of the course will be spent in study discussion groups in which the volunteers will relate what they have heard to their present and past experiences and training and future goals.

The volunteers are studying to become teacher-aides in English and elementary science in the Philippines.
