

Fresh Advisory Board To Sponsor Car Wash

The Freshman Class Advisory Board will sponsor a carwash from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday on the parking lot next to Forestry on Shortlidge Road, Thomas Miller, president of the board, announced at a recent meeting.

Proceeds from the car wash will be put into the Class of 1965's gift fund. The proceeds from this project and interest accumulated from the fund will be used to establish a book scholarship fund, Miller said.

Approximately 80 more people are needed to help with the car wash, Miller said. Interested freshmen may sign up at the Hetzel Union desk, he said.

MILLER SAID the book scholarship fund would be set up so that 20 students of the Class of 1965 will receive $25 to buy books for the term.

The first scholarships will be awarded at the beginning of the fall term of next year. They will be given through the Office of Student Aid, 218 Willard. A committee will be set up by that office and will include one member of the Class of 1965.

APPLICATIONS WILL soon be available at the Office of Student Aid, and interviews for applicants will be held near the end of this term, Miller said.

Miller said that this is the first time money has been solicited for the class gift fund other than from class members at registration.

He added that he would like to interest succeeding freshman classes in starting book scholarship funds of their own.

In other business, Michael Stoll, co-chairman of the publications committee, proposed the publication of a freshman directory. The directory would include a picture of every freshman as well as his address, phone number, curriculum and high school activities, Stoll said.

WITH THE APPROVAL of the board, Stoll and his co-chairman, Barbara Kip, will investigate the possibilities of fall publication of this directory for the class of 1966.

Miller also announced the appointment of Terry Chambers, arts and letters major from Erie, Joseph Castiglia, business administration major from Passaic, N.J., and Roderick Patten, agriculture major from Manhasset, N.Y., as regular members of the board to fill vacancies.

Correction

Yesterday's Collegian incorrectly identified two University party candidates. Katherine Johnson, junior in arts and letters from Bradford, was nominated for secretary-treasurer and Ralph Wise, sophomore in business administration from Altoona, for junior class president.

Control Board To Check DU For Violations

Delta Upsilon fraternity was placed under strict observation until the end of the spring term by the Interfraternity Council Board of Control Monday night, Thomas DeRocco, board chairman, said yesterday.

The penalty of strict observation means that the fraternity will be checked each weekend by the Board of Control, DeRocco said.

THE ACTION stemmed from an incident that occurred March 31 when an underage coed was served alcoholic beverages by a member of the fraternity. After the girl was taken back to her residence hall, she became ill, DeRocco said.

The fraternity was brought before the board for an infraction of Rule 3 of the IFC Social Code. The interpretation of the rule, DeRocco said, states that "a fraternity is held responsible for any improper conduct by any member or guest, both inside and outside the fraternity, at any function or gathering of the fraternity."

"ONE INDIVIDUAL took the action, and the board felt that the whole fraternity should not be punished," DeRocco said.

Pattee Will Display Winning Book Sets

As a culmination to observance of National Library Week, the winners of the Student Book Collection Contest will be announced and awards presented Friday, Wendell MacRae, assistant to the curator at Pattee Library said recently.

Only 10 qualified students entered the contest, MacRae said. The low number of entries was probably due to the late announcement of the contest and the fact that no similar contest has been held here since 1937, he said. Students did not have sufficient time to prepare a good collection, he added.

THE PROGRAM was reactivated this year in an effort both to rejuvenate interest in reading and collecting books and to give students at the University a chance to win the Amy Loveman Award. Beginning in 1962 this award of $1,000, set up by the Saturday Review, the Book-of-the-Month Club and the Women's National Book Association, will be presented to the qualified senior judged to have the best personal library.

Seniors from colleges and universities throughout the United States who have won local contests are eligible for the award.

THE WINNING ENTRIES in the local contest will be displayed in Pattee Library sometime this week or next if the collections are available in their entirety, MacRae said.

Commenting on the general public use of the Pattee Library, Ralph McComb, university librarian, said that research and development programs have used the library facilities more extensively in recent years. High school students also have been utilizing the library much more than in past years, he added.

ALTHOUGH AN OVERALL increase in public use of the library has been noted, McComb said that this may be due to population increases as well as a wide-spread readership increase.

Both the Centre County Bellefonte Library and the Bella S. Schlow Memorial Library in State College have reported circulation increases.
