

Nittany Nine Meets Penn In Quest of Fourth Victory

By JOHN MORRIS
Sports Co-Editor

Penn State's well-traveled baseball team will attempt to extend its winning streak on road to three games when the Lions meet Penn on Murphy Field in Philadelphia this afternoon.

The Nittanians (3-1) have won both their road contests so far, beating Lehigh, 7-3, and Army, 8-4. The Lions toppled Gettysburg, 6-1, in the season opener on Beaver Field, but fell to Ithaca, 14-5, at home last week. Road games with Rutgers and Villanova were rained out.

STATE COACH Joe Bedenk will send Marlin Biesecker to the hill today. The lanky righthander got credit for the Nittanians' win over Lehigh and boasts a 2.07 earned run average for 13 innings of pitching.

Bedenk made some changes in the batting order for the Army game, and the veteran coach will probably go with the same winning combinations against the Quakers.

"I don't know whether the changes had anything to do with the win," Bedenk said, "but we'll leave it that way and see what happens."

Bedenk's revised lineup finds shortstop Johnny Phillips batting in the clean-up spot, Dick Anderson batting fifth and catcher Don Jonas hitting in the sixth slot. The moves paid off against Army as Anderson had two hits including a home run, and Jonas delivered a run-scoring single in the Lions' five-run first inning!

PHILLIPS IS the team's leading hitter to date, batting a luster .462 with six hits and four RBIs.

"We have some big boys who can deliver the long ball," Bedenk said before the team left for Philadelphia yesterday. "We'll be all right when they start hitting."

Centerfielder Dick Pae is one Lion who is having trouble getting untracked this year. The speedy senior led the Nittanians in hitting with a .323 average in 1961, but is swinging at only a .222 clip so far this season.

"Pae has been hitting the ball in our last couple of games," Bedenk said, "but he has been hitting the ball right at somebody."

THIRD BASEMAN Light has also been having trouble at the plate, but Bedenk expressed confidence that the sophomore would find the range. Light has all the equipment—a strong arm, speed and quick hands—but he's only hitting .125 for the Lions' first four games. He has been hitting in the third spot in the order all season.

Penn coach Jack McCloskey will probably go with Marty Padersky this afternoon for the Quakers (2-3).

Penn started off the season with two wins, but the Quakers have day.

Swahn Impressive In Lion Golf Wins

By JOE GRATA

If Penn State golf coach Joe Boyle had to name his most impressive performers so far this year, captain Bob Swahn would have to be near the top of the list.

The small-statured senior, whose powerful wrists provide the spark for his low scoring games, chalked up the quickest win Saturday against Colgate when the Lions won their second straight meet. He had the victory wrapped up after the twelfth hole as Stu Benedict fell victim by a 7 and 6 margin.

SWAHN won his opening match against Georgetown by a 4 to 3 score. Sophomore Jim Tabor sports the Lion's only other 2-0 record, winning by scores of 4-3 and 4-2.

"For the past two years Swahn has been sort of an off and on player," Boyle said yesterday. "He has been much more steady this year, and as a result his scores and games have been improved and more consistent."

Swahn is one of four returning lettermen from last year's team which turned in an 8-4 record.

"We have a pretty good team," Swahn said, "and I feel we have a very strong and promising group of sophomores. Probably our biggest match this year is against Maryland. Last year we lost to them (23½ to 3½), but we will have a slight advantage this season because we'll meet them on our own course."

BOYLE WAS also optimistic on State's chances. He said that the linkmen have a good opportunity to match the 1958 mark of ten wins and no losses.

"I know what the players are capable of doing," Boyle said, "but because of this weather, it has been difficult for the boys to play up to their potential. The scores which were recorded Saturday, though, were excellent."

The win over Colgate stretched the all-time Penn State record to 14-6-1 against the Big Red. Saturday, the Lions will play host to Penn.

Browns Sign Cox

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns announced the signing of rookie Fred Cox, a place-kicking star from the University of Pittsburgh.

The Browns selected the stocky 23-year-old halfback in the eighth round of the National Football League draft a year ago when he still had a year of college eligibility remaining.

Cox led Pitt in scoring last season with 43 points, including six field goals. He played both offense and defense for the Panthers and handled the punting as well as the place-kicking. He is 5-11 and weighs 198 pounds.

Bucs Win 6th Straight

CHICAGO (AP)—The unbeaten National League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for six runs in the last two innings yesterday in handing the winless Chicago Cubs their seventh successive defeat, 10-6.

It was the sixth straight triumph for the Pirates.
