

TODAY ON CAMPUS

Lectures

Dr. Vernon V. Aspurian, professor of political science, will speak on "Freedom Under the Soviet System" at 7 p.m. in McElwain lounge. The International Relations Club is sponsoring his talk, which is open to the public.

Dr. Milnor Alexander, instructor of political science, will speak on "What's Wrong with Civil Defense?" at 7:30 p.m. in 105 Forestry.

AWS Meeting

Recommendations for Association of Women Students' rules revision will be presented to the AWS Senate at 6:30 p.m. in 212 Hetzel Union Building. Dr. Laurence H. Lattman, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Discipline, will speak to the group on judicial matters. The meeting is open to any interested students.

Glennland Pool

Glennland Pool will be opened for mixed swimming from 7 to

Wharton Interview

The scheduled interview of USG President-elect Dean Wharton on WDFM last night was cancelled because of Awards Night. The program will be broadcast at 9:25 Tuesday night.

Foods Course Scheduled

A special summer course in advanced foods has been arranged by the University for both students and teachers in this field. Scheduled for June 20 to July 10, the course will be taught by Margaret Batjer Jennings, associate professor of foods and nutrition.

New College Diner

Downtown Between the Movies

CAN WE BE FIRST WITH A

MAN ON THE MOON

At this moment, thousands of U.S. engineers are working to put an astronaut on the moon. In this week's Saturday Evening Post, you'll learn when the launching will take place. Why some experts are dead set against it. And why our scientists are confident we can get there before the Russians.

ALSO: Read "Backstage With Andy Williams" and watch his TV Special on NBC, Friday night—9:30-10:30

The Saturday Evening POST MAY 8 ISSUE NOW ON SALE

Hillel Calendar

Friday—May 4

Services 8 p.m.
Speaker: Dr. M. Boreh
Topic: Israeli Independence Day

Saturday—May 5

Services 10 a.m.

Sunday—May 6

Annual Awards
Dinner
6 p.m.

Hillel Foundation
224 Locust Lane

Profs Debate Economic Issues

By PENNY WATSON

The economic policies of the Kennedy administration were the topic of a heated discussion by Dr. Edward C. Budd, Dr. Jacob J. Kaufman and Dr. Philip A. Klein of the Department of Economics at the Contemporary Economic Issues Lecture Series Monday night.

Kaufman said that Kennedy's policies, especially those involving wage price guides and collective bargaining, are examples of "faulty economics." Budd countered by calling Kennedy's proposals "reasonable." Klein agreed with Budd and praised the President for his "sound economic policy."

KAUFMAN SAID that there is no evidence that unions have had any impact on the wage level. There is also lack of evidence that price behavior in the steel industry has contributed to inflation or has set the pattern for all industry, he said.

Early intervention into union-management conflicts is a mistake, because it does not allow negotiations to start moving. Kaufman said. The President's procedures in applying the collective bargaining theory have "serious implications in relation to the democratic processes," he said.

They could result in the destruction of the free collective bargaining process, Kaufman added. In disagreeing with Kaufman, Budd said that Kennedy's programs of standby capital improvements, standby tax authority and strengthening of unemployment compensation are sound proposals for pursuing full employment, price stability and economic growth.

SINCE KENNEDY took office, Budd said, the gross national product has risen 10 per cent, unemployment has been reduced, and prices have risen less in proportion to previous year's increases.

The President's welfare proposals reflect sound economic as well as humanitarian aspects, Klein said. Kennedy shows good elementary economics through his policies by trying to utilize scarce human resources efficiently.

Kaufman and Klein disagreed on Kennedy's use of the term "public interest." Kaufman said the term cannot be defined and is meaningless.

Klein contended that public interest is an important concept, even though it is hard to define. Kennedy is right to intervene in behalf of this interest.

THE DISCUSSION, which dealt with domestic aspects of Kennedy's economics, was the first of two meetings in the series. The second session Monday, will deal with international aspects of Kennedy's economics.

Panhel Rejects Pigossi's Suggestion For IFC Spring Week Sponsorship

The Panhellenic Council decided last night to deny its support to the proposal that the Interfraternity Council assume sponsorship of the 1963 Spring Week.

The proposal, made by Richard Pigossi, past IFC president, to IFC on April 23, stated that since fraternities were the most active participants in Spring Week, sponsorship of the event should be in the hands of IFC rather than student government.

Pamela Chadwick, Panhel president, said that IFC had not yet asked Panhel to take part in the proposed sponsorship, but that she felt Panhel should take a stand on Pigossi's recommendation.

The Council also discussed a recommendation by Emil Sos, IFC president, that the carnival be eliminated and that the float parade be resumed on Friday night of Spring Week. Panhel delayed final action on this proposal until it has been determined if a float parade will be part of the Homecoming activities.

To the girl who wants to serve her country... and herself

Now, when our democratic ideals are being challenged in so many areas of the world, more and more young women are asking what they can do to help. If you, too, are asking this question, we invite you to look into the opportunities available in the Women's Army Corps.

As a WAC officer, you serve your country as an executive, working in a variety of interesting fields, such as communications, personnel, finance and public relations. You have the unique opportunity to travel, make new friends, and be a part of the team of young men and women who are actively meeting the challenges of today.

Mail the coupon below, and we'll send you complete information about the rewarding career available to you as an Army officer in the Women's Army Corps. Special for college juniors: If qualified you can serve 4 summer weeks, all expenses paid, at the WAC Center at Fort McClellan, Alabama. You'll get an exciting sample of WAC life. Send coupon for details!

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY WASHINGTON 25, D.C. CN-3-62
ATTN: AG57

Please send me the booklet "Selected for Success," describing career opportunities in the Women's Army Corps.
 (Check here if you also want information on the 4-week "summer" plan for college juniors.)

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____ STATE _____
COLLEGE OR UNIVERSITY _____
GRADUATION DATE _____