

TODAY ON CAMPUS

Prof Snarf Contest

The Prof Snarf Contest conducted by the World University Service will continue until 5 p.m. Friday. Students may cast their vote for their favorite professor by putting money in the jars at the voting stands on the Mall and the ground floor of the HUB.

Panhel Tea

The Panhellenic Council of State College will hold a tea for college-bound senior women from area high schools at 8 p.m. in the Hetzel Union main lounge.

A skit and a talk will be presented during the evening.

Faculty Recreation

Recreation facilities will be at the disposal of women faculty members at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in White Hall. Swimming, badminton, and bowling will be offered.

Lecture

Dr. Allan L. Rodgers, professor of geography, will speak on "Southern Italy: A Case Study of Government Subsidation of Industrial Development in an Underdeveloped Region" at the economics faculty seminar to be held at 12:30 p.m. in the Hetzel Union dining room "A."

Pivot

Pivot, the magazine published each spring by the poetry workshop, goes on sale today in the HUB and on the Mall.

Other Meetings

- Agriculture Student Council, 7 p.m., 217 HUB.
- Arnold Air Society squadron meeting, 7:30 p.m., 104 Wagner.
- Collegian-local ad staff meeting, 7 p.m., 131 Sackett.
- Cwens, 9 p.m., 217 HUB.
- Education Student Council, 6:45 p.m., 214 HUB.
- Froth circulation staff, 6 p.m., 216 HUB.
- IFC, 1 to 5 p.m., 212 HUB.
- Navy recruiting, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., 218 HUB and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., ground floor HUB.
- Office of Student Aid, 8 p.m., 212 HUB.
- Panhel, 6 p.m., 203 HUB.
- Penn State Amateur Radio Club, 7:30 p.m., 219 Electrical Engineering.
- Penn State Figure Skating Club, 8 p.m., 216 HUB.
- Schuhplattlers, 8 p.m., 215 Wagner.
- Slavic Club rehearsal, 2:30 p.m., HUB assembly room.
- State College Panhel reception, 8-9:30 p.m., HUB main lounge.
- Theta Delta Phi, 6:30 p.m., 212 HUB.
- Theta Sigma Phi, 6 p.m., 213 HUB.

2 Cycling Canadians Visit University

By JOHN BEAUGE '62

Would you consider taking a 700-mile round trip on a motor-scooter?

That is exactly what Al Moldon and Alex Seggie, electrical engineering students at the University of Toronto, did last week. They motored to State College, spent three days and then left, arriving in Toronto Sunday evening.

They said the purpose of their trip was two-fold. First, was to see two friends — John Crerar and Bill Robinson — and the other to compare university life here with what they are accustomed to.

THE TWO, wearing their blue jackets with "engineering" on the back, left Toronto a week ago and went as far as Bradford the first day. After spending the night there, they continued here.

While in this area, Al and Alex attended a class, went through various laboratories, toured the nuclear reactor and drove around the surrounding countryside.

On Friday night they had dates and went out to Stone Valley and later to a fraternity party. During their stay they were house guests of Acacia fraternity.

Saturday morning they were up bright and early, packed their few belongings and left for home on their two-seater scooter. Yesterday they began their summer jobs.

AL, A SOPHOMORE, and Alex, a junior, said that their university is run on a two-term basis. The first term begins on Sept. 20 and goes straight through to Dec. 22. There is a vacation until Jan. 2 and not again until the final day of school on May 1.

Each student carries about 30 hours of classes a week, they commented. The periods are one hour long with no Saturday or evening classes. Most of the courses are for two terms instead of one, they explained. There is a two week examination period, included in about 30 members each and a few each term, they added.

Unlike students here, they do not have to worry about an All-University average. Although they receive a grade for each course, these grades go toward a yearly average and do not carry over to the following year.

The enrollment at the University of Toronto is about 16,000, they said. With the class sizes about the same as they are here. There are some fraternities with sororities. The big thing socially up there right now, Al said, was the twist.

IT IS DIFFICULT to compare the two schools, they said, because very few of the Toronto students live on campus because it is located in the downtown area.

Before leaving they did make one comment about Penn State. They both agreed that the coeds were "great."

Former Ed Extension Director Dies

Arthur S. Hurrell, retired professor of vocational teacher education, died at the Centre County hospital Sunday night at the age of 82.

Hurrell had served on the University faculty for 24 years prior to his retirement in 1946. During this time as director of education extension he was responsible for establishing correspondence and extension courses in education.

He graduated in 1904 from Syracuse University with a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. He also received the doctor of pedagogy degree at Syracuse in 1920.

Hurrell was named to the University in 1922 and served as assistant dean of the summer sessions and teacher training extension as well as professor of vocational education.

In 1924 he was named director of the Department of Teacher Training Extension and Vocational Teacher Training and continued in this position until his retirement on June 30, 1946.

College Dean Elected To Executive Committee

Ossian MacKenzie, dean of the College of Business Administration, was elected to the Executive Committee of The American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business at their annual meeting in Chicago, Ill., recently.

The Executive Committee is the policy formulating committee as well as the administrative group in charge of conducting the affairs of the organization between yearly meetings.

4 Students Win Pivot Poetry Prizes

Four students in liberal arts will share the two prizes awarded annually by Pivot poetry magazine for the best poem or group of poems appearing in the magazine.

Co-winners of the Anthony James Grucci Memorial award are Margaret Lacy, junior from Warminster and Johanna Loehr, senior from Chester Springs. They will share a prize of $25.

Georgia Lee McElheney, senior from University Park and Kenneth F. Rosen, senior from Philadelphia, will share the Samuel Barsky Memorial award of $25.

The magazine is composed primarily of work from students in the workshop but any student may contribute selections, Joseph L. Grucci, workshop director, said.

Pivot will be on sale today in the HUB and on the Mall.

LOCAL AD
STAFF MEETING

TONIGHT
7 P.M.

131 Sackett

Compulsory!

May 13th is Mom's special day!

Show her that you remembered with one of our lovely flower arrangements

Local deliveries or around the world via F.T.D.

BILL
McMULLEN
florist

130 East College Avenue
State College, Pennsylvania

PIVOT

Penn State's Nationally Known
Poetry Magazine
NOW ON SALE

25c

"... excellent poems in Pivot."

— Wm. Van O'Conner, author of Sense & Sensibility in Modern Poetry

Some Sigma Pi's this past weekend? NO... A Sigma Pi party circa 1925. See any difference? We don't! — Bill Coleman