400 'Advocates' to Tour Campus

More than 400 Penn State Advocates will be visiting the University today for a program designed to inform them of some of the projects underway on campus.

The group, which includes persons from 65 of the 67 counties, consists of men and women who have worked with the University in various ways, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, executive assistant to the President, said yesterday. Included in the group are members of the advisory boards for the various commonwealth campuses and agricultural extension representatives, he said.

The advocates' schedule includes tours of the campus, a noon luncheon in the Hetzel Union Building and a trip to various laboratories through the medium of closed circuit television. The latter program will be viewed in Schwab.

Commonwealth Campuses

Behrends Donated Estate for Campus

By DOROTHY DRASHER

(This is the sixth in a series of articles concerning the University's 13 Commonwealth Campuses. Today's article features the Behrend Campus in Erie.)

The spacious 419-acre summer estate of the founders of the multi-million dollar Hammermill Paper Co. now serves the University and 300 undergraduate students as the Behrend Commonwealth Campus.

In 1948, Mary Behrend and her husband the late Ernst Behrend, founder of the paper company, gave the estate to the University. THE SEVEN buildings located on the grounds include a 25-room mansion, a large barn, a riding club stable, a swimming pool, several multi-car garages, a bathhouse and a building equipped for indoor recreational activities.

The 25-room mansion houses administrative offices, a bookstore, dispensary, lounge and cafeteria large enough to accommodate many of the students. The second floor is used as a women's residence hall.

AFTER THE ESTATE was given to the University $50,000 was invested to convert some of the other buildings for student and faculty use.

One of the multi-car garages was converted into small faculty apartments and the other into science laboratories. The riding club stable became the library and the large barn was converted into six general classrooms and physics and biology laboratories.

In 1953, a $200,000 gymnasium auditorium was added to the campus with funds solicited from Erie residents.

About 70 per cent of the Behrend students commute each day to the campus since the estate is located seven miles southeast of downtown Erie.

With these facilities and another large classroom now in the planning stages, the Behrend campus will be able to double its enrollment while it continues to be one of the most attractive campuses in the commonwealth system. T. Reed Ferguson, director of the campus from 1948 until 1954, said recently.

THE FIRST FIVE Commonwealth campuses were acquired in the late '30's and no others were established until 1948 when Behrend, McKeesport, Wilkes-Barre and York joined the system.

Cooler Weather Due In Area Today, Tonight

Cooler and drier air from the midwest is expected to overspread the Commonwealth today. Much cooler weather is indicated for tonight.

The attempts by hot, humid air to invade the state yesterday were semi-successful. Temperatures reached the high 80's in western sections of Pennsylvania, but most areas reported readings in the low 80's.

Today should be partly cloudy, windy and cooler, and a high of 72 is expected.

Clear and chilly weather is indicated for tonight. The low will be near 50 degrees.

Tomorrow should be sunny and pleasantly mild.
