

Early Registration Aids Campuses

Students planning to attend summer term at any of the Commonwealth campuses will have fewer problems registering and will assist the University if they fill out early registration cards before leaving campus.

Samuel W. Haggerty, assistant registrar, said the directors of those Commonwealth campuses offering summer term programs would be able to judge course demands if such a procedure were followed.

Completed early registration cards, he said, should be turned in to him at 4 Willard.

EARLY REGISTRATION for summer term at the University Park campus has already closed. Warren R. Haffner, assistant registrar, said more than 2,100 undergraduates and 1,200 graduate students registered for the term.

Only five of the University's campuses are offering courses for the full 10-week term, Robert G. Bernreuter, dean of admissions, and registrar, said. The campuses are University Park, Altoona, Behrend, Ogontz and Wyomissing.

Some of the other campuses in the Commonwealth campus system are offering courses of a remedial nature on a shortened basis, Haggerty said. Information about these courses can be obtained directly from the director of the campus or from Haggerty.

REGISTRATION dates for these courses are available from the commonwealth campus director, he added.

The campuses operating on the term system will follow the calendar published earlier this term. Registration is scheduled for June 19 and classes begin June 20. The last day of classes is August 29.

Summer term students at University Park and Ogontz will register according to an alphabetical schedule, published in the summer term timetable. Students will have to present their permanent identification cards and a valid fee receipt before being permitted to register.

FEES AT University Park may be paid at the bursar's office, 6 Willard, and at Sutherland Hall at Ogontz.

Full-time in-state students will pay $175 for tuition, and full-time out-of-state students, $350, Richard H. Baker, bursar, said. Students carrying fewer than eight credits will be charged $22 per credit if they are Pennsylvanians and $44 if they are not.

Bernreuter said students who know or believe they will be attending summer term at a Commonwealth campus should see their University Park advisor before submitting an early registration card to Haggerty.

BEGINNING THEIR studies with the summer term will be 399 freshmen at University Park and nine freshmen who have been admitted to the Commonwealth campuses, Bernreuter added. A total of 6,000 students are expected in all summer term programs.

MRC Will Request No Code Changes

No changes in the men's dress code will be requested by the Men's Residence Council for the remainder of this term, Terry Bowersox, chairman of the MRC dress code committee, said yesterday.

The committee, which included representatives from three of the five men's residence hall areas, met Wednesday and decided not to ask for any changes because there are only 15 days left in the term, Bowersox said.

Several weeks ago MRC, which is composed of the officers and representatives of the men's living areas on campus, passed a dress code which would have permitted men to wear bermudas to all evening meals.

THE DEAN of men's office, which must approve such changes recommended by MRC, turned down the revised dress code.

Last week the Association of Women Students passed a recommendation, approved by the dean of women's office, allowing women to wear bermudas to Saturday evening meals in addition to the times now allowed. The regulation will go into effect next fall.

John Mikulak, MRC president, said that the modified dress code passed by AWS does not necessarily mean that MRC will follow suit. He said that dress code changes which may be more accommodating for women are not necessarily more accommodating for men.

HOWEVER, MRC may request some changes in the dress code next fall, Mikulak said.

Mikulak also said last night that MRC is definitely in favor of holding a float parade on Homecoming Weekend.

To most students in the residence halls Homecoming Weekend is just another weekend, Mikulak said. Having the float parade then would increase general student interest in Homecoming, promote better public relations and draw more alumni to the University for the weekend, he added.

AWS Senate Sets Voting Dates, Approves New Elections Code

A new elections code was approved Wednesday night by the Association of Women Students.

Changes made in the code include the requirement of a 2.3 All-University average for candidates running for community council positions. The previous average required was 2.5. Elections will be held Oct. 8 and 9.

A centrally located room in each community will be used for tallying elections returns. Previously, votes were counted in the Hetzel Union Building.

SIMMONS and McElwain will have separate councils next year. Each will be composed of seven upperclassmen and five freshmen. On the second day of voting, the number of candidates will be narrowed to these numbers.

Pollock Council will be composed of 16 members rather than 20 which it had this year. The code states that there will be one sorority member, one independent and one freshman from each residence hall, plus four members-at-large.

ON THE FIRST day of balloting, there will be a separate ballot for each residence hall. From these ballots, two Greeks, two independents and two freshmen from each residence hall will appear on the all-area ballot during the second day of voting.

The Greek, independent and freshman tallying the highest number of votes from each residence hall will win. The four women with the next highest number of votes, regardless of their respective residence halls, will be elected members-at-large.

Krumboldt Will Compete In Laurel Queen Contest

Linda Krumboldt, junior in elementary kindergarten education from Upper Darby, has been chosen to represent the University as a princess at the 1962 Laurel Festival to be held in the Pocono Mountains June 7-10.

Miss Krumboldt is one of 25 college coeds who will compete for the title of Laurel Queen. The weekend will include scenic tours, sports events, a Pocono musical revue and conclude with a dance and the coronation of the queen.

Cool, Dry Air Arrives; Pleasant Weather Due

Cooler and drier air overspread Pennsylvania from the west yesterday afternoon bringing a pleasant change to more comfortable weather.

Today should be partly cloudy with abundant sunshine. Temperatures should be pleasantly warm, and a high of 75 is likely.

Clear and chilly weather is indicated for tonight. The low will be near 48 degrees.

Sunny skies and pleasant temperatures are seen for tomorrow.

Oliver Receives AWS Award

A surprise award which almost could not be presented plus a White House correspondent's views on women competing in a man's world marked the Association of Women Student's banquet recently.

Barbara Oliver, president of Atherton Community Council, received a plaque for her outstanding service to AWS. Miss Oliver had planned to leave campus for the weekend but, as Janis Somerville, AWS president, explained, she was persuaded — even tricked — into remaining on campus by friends who knew of the surprise.

Miss Oliver is the only senior now serving on the AWS Senate. Guest speaker for the annual Women's Week Banquet was Dorese Bell, Mutual Broadcasting Company's correspondent at the White House in Washington. Miss Bell told the women students, their parents and members of the dean of women's staff that "to get ahead in a man's world, a girl must gain the respect of her boss and associates."

"She must work doubly hard and doubly well," she added.

When she began her career in journalism, Miss Bell said, she was assigned to cover stories with a "woman's angle."

"There is no such thing now as a woman's story," she said. "Women today are interested in everything."

ICCB to Submit Evaluation Report

The final report of the Inter-College Council Board's evaluation of the term system will be sent to the University Senate Committee on Educational Policies, Warren Long, chairman of the four-term evaluation committee, said yesterday.

"These are the people who are interested in knowing how the students feel about the term system and could make possible changes in the system," Long said.

Included in the report will be comments the students made on the back of the questionnaire form, Long said.

"The final report will also be sent to President Eric A. Walker, administrative officials and the deans of all the colleges," Long said, "in hopes that they will notice the adverse affects the students feel the term system has."

Long said that he will write the final report himself, and added that it should be completed within a week.

Approved Fraternities

All social fraternities are approved for social activities this weekend except Alpha Phi Alpha, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Mu Delta. Zeta Psi is approved for tomorrow night only.
