

Mental Patient Captured After Killing Psychiatrist

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A mental patient killed a psychiatrist and wounded a policeman at a Veterans' Administration hospital yesterday, then held off some 60 officers for nearly two hours before being felled by tear gas.

Captured unconscious was William Pola, 27, of nearby Wilmerding, a former Marine corporal who was a voluntary patient at the sprawling Leech Farm Hospital in the past.

DR. DANIEL THAW, 61, was found fatally shot in an office adjoining the one where Pola was captured.

Patrolman Horace McDaniel was hit in the leg by a ricocheting bullet just after police arrived at the hospital. Police found two pistols—a .38 automatic and a .45 automatic—near Pola when they finally unlocked the door to the two offices on the first floor. It was not barricaded.

Pola had done most of the shooting in the gun battle with police. He was not hit.

POLA STEADFASTLY ignored pleas by a nurse to surrender. Standing a few feet away from the office and around a corner, Mrs. Alta Houser pleaded:

"Bill, don't just sit there biting your lip. Just open the door, kick the gun out and get rid of it. Please, Bill, come out now. I'm out here waiting for you. They don't want to have to shoot you. We can help you once you're out, but we can't do anything while you're in there."

Hospital officials said Pola had been discharged from the hospital against medical advice last April 19. That was the latest of several stays he had made there since being discharged from the Marine Corps early in 1955.

Pola's half-sister, Mrs. Jane Filler of Wilmerding, said Pola had gone for an appointment at the V.A.'s regional office in downtown Pittsburgh.

"I REALLY DON'T know how he wound up at the hospital," she said. "He was in good spirits Thursday. He bought two safety belts for his car Thursday. He said that's what every car needs."

Dr. Thaw had worked with Pola in the past. On the hospital staff since 1959, he was chief of acute and intensive treatment services. The hospital said Pola has suffered from schizophrenia, or a split personality.

Report Quotes Estes as Planning Freeman Visit on Allotment Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department report dated last fall quotes Billie Sol Estes, Texas financier indicted for fraud, as saying that if department officials tried to change the rules on cotton allotments in the middle of the game he would take the matter direct to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and, if necessary, to President Kennedy.

ESTES WAS described in the report as saying he had depended on his attorney, John P. Dennison, and his associates to insure that his operations in connection with transfers of cotton allotments were entirely within the law.

"He (Estes) knew," the report said, "that they had studied the regulations and had made contact with county and state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, ASCS, officials before any of the transfers were effected."

"He knew none of the details of these transactions, since he did not have sense enough to handle details and left the transactions entirely up to them. HE WAS SATISFIED that they had followed the advice of the ASCS officials and he knew that if these officials ever intended to try to change the rules retroactively in the middle of the game he would take the matter direct to the secretary and the President if necessary."

A copy of the report was shown yesterday to The Associated Press. The 140-page report previously had been kept under a confidential classification, but copies had been turned over to the Justice Department and to congressional committees investigating the Estes case.

THE JUSTICE Department, in turn made a copy available to a Texas grand jury investigating the death last June 3 of Henry H. Marshall, program specialist for the Texas ASCS office. Marshall had been found shot five times with a rifle.

The report is dated Oct. 27, 1961. The date is given as the occasion when Estes threatened to go to Freeman and Kennedy.

Red Border Guards Wound Girl

BERLIN (AP)—East German border guards shot and wounded a teen-age West Berlin girl on the border last night, West police reported.

Another girl with her was dragged through the barbed wire man barricade into East Germany, police added.

Both girls approached the wire believing an East German friend was trying to escape, the wounded girl told police.

Police said the girls are 17 years old. They were identified only as Ursula and Karin.

American Military Police were rushed to the spot in the borough of Lichterfelde in the American sector. West police said the two girls went to the barbed wire in darkness.

When they arrived East German border guards called out to them.

"Come up to the wire," the guards were quoted. "Your friend is waiting for you."

At this point the barbed wire is some yards back from the actual demarcation line. So when the girls went up to the wire they were on Communist territory.

The invitation apparently was a trap.

Israelis Uphold Eichmann Execution

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—"No punishment could have been adequate for this great destroyer, but his evil has been punished and justice has been done."

Thus commented yesterday the Tel Aviv paper Yediot Ahronot on the end of Adolf Eichmann—President Izhak Ben-Zvi's rejection of a clemency appeal, the quick transfer of the prisoner from Jerusalem to prison, his last unrepentant words, the springing of the trap, the scattering of his ashes over the Mediterranean.

BY WORD OF MOUTH and editorial, Israelis uphold the midnight execution. The general attitude seemed to be collective relief, as the nation quieted for the traditional Sabbath observance; that the grim and bloody Eichmann case was at last over.

There was satisfaction, too, that the man held responsible for a major part in persecution of the Jews, at least had met punishment from the people who were his chief victims.

A man-in-the-street opinion was expressed by a Jerusalem taxi driver who said: "I'm glad it is over. Eichmann had to be executed or his trial would have made no sense."

On streets, in coffee shops and restaurants, Israeli heard Israel radio station KOL declare: "There's no atonement for millions of victims, but justice has been done."

Eichmann's end had been expected. Only the swift sequence after the denial of mercy was a surprise.

It was news even to the people of the immigrant town of Ramleh near the prison. They did not know of the midnight execution until newspaper trucks from Tel Aviv began arriving at 6 a.m.

Speedily, the Israeli government announced that Eichmann's body had been cremated, according to his will. A launch transferred the ashes to a police boat and they were scattered at sea.

"A similar procedure was followed with the remains of the Nazi war criminals executed by order of the Nuremberg International Tribunal," said the communiqué.

Profit-Taking Slows Recovery

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit-taking interrupted the stock market's recovery yesterday, sending it into a mild decline.

It was an anti-climatic session after the wild falls and rises of earlier in the week.

Traders who bought stocks as prices slumped Monday and Tuesday morning sold fairly heavily during the morning.

The market mounted a moderate recovery during the early afternoon which cut losses and produced some gains. Then the selling picked up and the decline resumed.

LOSSES RANGED from a few cents to $1 or more with the high-priced, volatile issues suffering more severely.

The various stock averages declined moderately but there was virtually an even split between gainers and losers over-all.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped only .10 to 225.40. As a result the average wound up the week slightly ahead of the 224.60 at which it closed last Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 2.31 to 611.05, just short of the 611.88 where it stood a week ago.

The Standard & Poor's 500-stock average was off .25 to 59.38. It closed at 59.47 last Friday.

Presidents' Stenographer Fired by White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jack Romagna, who has taken down the words of four presidents, was fired yesterday as official White House reporter.

Romagna, whose fountain pen raced across notebook pages with shorthand symbols, gave way to mechanized stenographic devices.
