

FOURTH OF JULY PARADE—The State College High School band was one of many musical groups in the hour-long parade last night which is sponsored annually by the State College Volunteer Fire Co. New cars, old cars, fire fighting equipment and floats all "made the scene" on College and Beaver Avenues.

Heath Provides Classical Interlude

Andrew Heath, recently returned from an around-the-world concert tour, provided the University with a classical music interlude for a summer evening as he performed for the Artists' Series Friday night in Schwab.

Heath's piano concert included works by Hindemith, Beethoven, Clementi, Chopin, Debussy and Martinu. For two encores, Heath played short compositions by Debussy and Poulenc.

Commenting after the concert on his recent world tour, the young American musician said he enjoyed playing in Taiwan (Formosa) because the people there were "so enthusiastic, so starved for good music."

THE TOUR, part of the Department of State's cultural exchange program, took Heath principally to the Far East, as well as to Italy and Lebanon.

Heath said that before playing in Japan, he had been somewhat scared of appearing before a Japanese audience because these people are so silent. He soon found that they made a very rapt audience, one with which it was easy to establish rapport.

Hamel Named as Research Assistant

Lester S. Hamel, retired brigadier general in the U.S. Marine Corps who received his bachelor and master's degrees from the University following his retirement, has been named research assistant and assistant director of Student Affairs Research in the Office of Student Affairs.

In his new position, he will be responsible for general administration, for planning, coordinating and supervising programs and for liaison with other agencies in the Office of Student Affairs.

Heath said he felt there was a renewed interest in good music and in good jazz, "which is very important." He added that while piano music saw an ebb in popularity a few years ago, the flux between it and chamber music is becoming more stabilized today.

Heath said he enjoys playing on university campuses as he still feels a part of the college group, having graduated about 10 years ago. He attended Harvard and received his master's degree from Yale School of Music.

DURING HIS CONCERT, Heath made only one program comment. Before playing his second selection, "My Lady Carey's Dompe" by an anonymous composer, he explained that a dompe is a mournful song. This lament, he added, is a type of "16th century blues."

"When we say we are 'down in the dumps,'" Heath said, "we use the same word."

Deibler, Nicoson Get Posts As Collegian, WDFM Aides

The Daily Collegian and campus radio station WDFM have both recently appointed staff assistants.

WILLIAM E. DEIBLER has been named executive secretary of Collegian, Inc., publisher of The Daily Collegian and its summer term counterpart, The Summer Collegian. Deibler's duties will include advising the news and business staffs of the newspaper.

A 1959 graduate of the University, he has been editor of The Daily Messenger in Homestead since 1960. The Messenger is a daily newspaper serving five suburban Pittsburgh communities.

While a student at the University, Deibler was a general assignment reporter and assistant to the city editor of the Centre Daily Times.

RONALD R. NICOSON, instructor in speech and doctoral candidate at the University, has been appointed assistant general manager to work with the WDFM staff.

Nicoson received his bachelor of arts degree in speech from Alma College in 1954 and his master of arts degree in communications from Michigan State University in 1955.

His experience includes work as news editor for WWTW in Cadillac, Mich., and three years as film script writer and instructor for the U.S. Army.

Nicoson is also coach of the men's debate team.

Commonwealth Campuses

Enrollment May Double by 1970

UNIVERSITY PARK—Projected enrollment expansion at the University's 13 Commonwealth campuses for 1970 shows doubling and tripling of the number of students at most campuses, officials said recently.

For the Altoona campus, the predicted increase will be from the present 416 to 800. Behrend's enrollment will probably jump from 287 to 800.

Other expected increases are DuBois, 149 to 400; Hazleton, 250 to 500; McKeesport, 380 to 1,100; Mont Alto, 107 to 300; New Kensington, 99 to 1,000; Ogontz, 961 to 1,500; Pottsville, 232 to 500; Scranton, 117 to 700; Wyomissing, 177 to 500; and York, 158 to 400.

By 1970 the University is also planning to establish several new centers, including one at Harrisburg with an expected enrollment of 500.

DUBOIS—A community fund-raising drive is now in progress to provide money to build additional classrooms on the DuBois campus.

Eighty per cent of the goal of $600,000 has been reached. The campaign will be continued until the goal is reached, officials said.

MCKEESPORT—The new student union building at the McKeesport campus was recently dedicated. The new building has been used by students during the past year.

A survey taken on this campus recently showed that 13 per cent of the students had made the dean's list in their academic work under the four-term system as opposed to only 7 per cent of the students achieving this distinction under the semester system.

OGONTZ—The student-run bookstore at the Ogontz campus began operating a used book selling service for the students for the first time at the end of the spring term.

WYOMISSING—The Keystone society, a Commonwealth campus service recognition society, was chartered recently at the Wyomissing campus and new members initiated.

A series of literary contests will be held in the fall term at this campus. Topics will be selected by the sponsors of the contest, staff members of the campus' weekly student news publication.

YORK—In a recent survey to get faculty opinions on the four-term system and its operation, 57 per cent of those faculty members questioned at the York campus had "no preference" for either the term system or the semester system. About 65 per cent of the seniors on the campus said they preferred the semester system.

In the case of the seniors, reasons most often given for wanting to return to the semester system were that a sixteen-week period provides students with the time necessary to absorb the subject matter. Another reason given was that class periods were also shorter than under the current ten-week term.

Ad Federation Elects Davis to Hall of Fame

Donald W. Davis, professor of journalism and head of the department of advertising in the School of Journalism until his death on June 29, 1959, was recently named as the 27th member of the Advertising Hall of Fame.

He is one of the few teachers of advertising to have been so honored by the federation.
