

Penn State Cricket Team Shows Lack of Practice

Special to The Summer Collegian

The Penn State cricket eleven traveled to Ithaca, N.Y. for a game against Cornell to open the season last Saturday.

Although defeated rather soundly, it was due more to uninspired batting and sheer ineptitude in the field rather than any brilliance on the opposition's part. It seems clear that the concentration on bowling and batting during the practice periods and the resultant neglect of fielding practice, has been unsound.

Cornell batted first on a very slow true wicket that gave no encouragement to the bowlers. State suffered two early blows. Viswanathan failed to hold a not too difficult catch in the first over, and a run-out was missed by the inability to relay the ball speedily enough to the wicket-keeper a few balls later.

Michael Leahy

The biggest set-back, however, occurred when, after only 15 minutes, Hamilton, State's opening bowler and brightest batsman, was forced to leave the field. It was later found that he was suffering from food poisoning incurred during the morning's journey from State College.

State finally broke through thanks to some fine off-spin bowling by Harsha, who was the only man to extract any life from the pitch. Of the other bowlers, Viswanathan tried but erratically; Denny was off-form and only Quazi succeeded in getting wickets in addition to Harsha. Cornell declared after scoring 168 runs.

State's batting began soundly. Mehta and Leahy, the captain, began slowly and even confidently until, after about 15 minutes, Leahy was given a leg-before-wicket (obstructing the ball which in the opinion of the umpire would have hit the wicket).

The batting from then on crumbled into the dust. Mehta continued a stout resistance for over an hour, playing defensively and to the captain's instructions, but scored only 17 runs.

Jap Swim Team Improving Rapidly

TOKYO (AP) — What's the word of Japanese swimmers? Improving tremendously, says Dr. Harold W. Henning, chairman of the U.S. Olympic Men's Swimming Committee. And, he adds, watch out in 1964.

The Naperville, Ill., doctor said yesterday he would be surprised if the 15 Japanese athletes leaving Saturday for Cleveland and the United States Swimming Championships would make much of a showing there.

"But they have narrowed the gap which separated them from our swimmers in the past two years. And a year from now, I expect to see even better results from them," Henning explained. "They'll be ready by 1964 when the Olympics are held here."

Henning brought a team of 13 of America's best swimmers here for the Japan National Outdoor Championships. They won just about everything in the 3-day meet and also dominated an exhibition Tuesday.

Henning pointed out the Japanese, especially the men, when they lost this time were losing by touches and split seconds and not by several seconds as in recent U.S.-Japan meets.

He also noted Shinsuke Kaneto beat out Ron O'Brien, former Ohio State diver, in the high dive.

Moore Signs With Clay

SAN DIEGO, — Archie Moore confirmed yesterday that he had signed for a heavyweight bout with Cassius Clay and said he expected to win with a "lip-buttoneer punch."

"Once I perfect this punch," Moore said, "you'll hear a wail coming from the corner of Cassius Clay."

The bout is scheduled to be held in Louisville, Ky., at a date yet to be set.

Blood Disorder Sidelines Davis

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Half-back Ernie Davis of Syracuse is not expected to play pro football this season with the Cleveland Browns because of a blood disorder requiring extended treatment and rest, the club's president, Art Modell, said last night. Modell issued a statement after discussing Davis' condition with doctors who have been attending the All-America in Evanston Hospital since Monday.

Davis, 1961 Heisman Trophy winner, was working out with the college All-Stars and was to have played with them against the Green Bay Packers, National Football League champions, in Soldier Field tomorrow night. Modell said the disorder was not contagious or infectious and no danger to the rest of the All-Star squad was involved.

"At this moment it appears almost certain that Ernie will not be able to play for the Browns this season," Modell said.

"The Doctors at Evanston Hospital are still completing tests but have diagnosed his condition as a blood disorder requiring extended treatment and rest. The long-range future depends on his response to those treatments."

Summer Softball Teams Engage in Tight Races

With the Summer Recreation softball schedule over half completed, The P.E. Grads and Red Birds continue to lead league "A" with eight wins against one defeat. Phi Kappa Theta, with a record of seven wins and two setbacks, is in second place.

The race in league "B" is extremely tight as only a single game separates the first six teams. The Gooches currently occupy the top spot with a seven win two loss record. The DARS Fuel Tech., Misfits, U-Club, and M.C. Squares follow with six and three marks.

The All-University golf tournament continues with play in the second round.

A further element of determined resistance was that of J. G. Aston, who after an exhausting afternoon in the outfield, held up the Cornell bowlers for a valuable 20 minutes with effective, if not always elegant, defense.

Dunbar stayed a little, stylishly missing. Viswanathan was dismissed first ball, the bat dropping from his hands like a broken limb. Vaughan, Denny and Bates showed sounder technique in lasting until their second ball. The inning finally closed for 43 runs, Cornell winning the match by 125 runs.

All players should attend a net-practice Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Air Depot pitch. For further details, contact Michael Leahy at AD 8-9071.

On Aug. 11, State will host Cornell in a return fixture. State must pull themselves together a little bit more before this encounter. The captain must be prepared to be even more harsh than at present for the players must snap out of that inertia in the field which 10 minutes in the sun seems to induce.

Team members include M.P.T. Leahy (capt. and wkt/kpr), K.S. Viswanathan, D. Vaughan, P. Denny, C. Gates, D. Hamilton, J. G. Aston, P. K. Mehta, K. S. Harsha, Quazi and A. Dunbar.
