Dean Proposes to Slash Nominees Ask Argentine Army General Nuclear Detection Posts State Agencies Feuds for Top Position

States offered yesterday to slash by more than half the number of detection posts for enforcing a nuclear test ban treaty-a plan already snubbed by the Soviet

Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. delegate, told the 17-nation disarmament conference he will formally present the entire compromise plan next week. He ignored statements by the Russians on Mon-day, and amplified yesterday opposing the new proposals.

DEAN TOLD the delegates the new Western plan proposed "to reduce the number of control posts to something like 80. That means a reduction of more than half.

The Soviet Union has backed out on agreements they made several years ago with the United States and Britain that a worldwide system of 180 detection stations would be sufficient to police a test ban treaty.
