

Brayfield Chosen Administrator Of American Psych Association

Arthur H. Brayfield, head of the Department of Psychology, recently resigned to become executive officer of the American Psychological Association, Washington, D.C.

In his new post, Brayfield will be the chief administrative officer of APA, overall professional organization in the field of psychology. He will begin his duties on Sept. 15.

President Eric A. Walker said that he accepted the resignation with regret, but in the knowledge that Brayfield was "ideally endowed to lead APA, and through it, to serve all of American education."

"In addition to his professional and intellectual attainment, Brayfield possesses two qualities that uniquely fit him for leadership:

of the American Psychological Association," Walker said. "I believe he knows the strengths of individual American psychologists better than any other man. And his loyalty to the profession of psychology gives him tremendous drive."

Brayfield came to the University as professor and head of the psychology department in 1958, after seven years in the same capacity at the Kansas State University. He held academic posts earlier at Colorado State University, Long Beach City College, University of Minnesota, the University of California at Berkeley and Columbia University.

He has also served as a visiting professor at the University of California, Montana State University and Colorado State University.

A native of Kansas, Brayfield received his bachelor of science and doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Minnesota. He also studied at Antioch College, Long Beach City College and the University of Southern California.

THIS WEEK ON CAMPUS

Today

Artists' Series Concert

Betty Allen, mezzo soprano, will present a concert at 8:30 p.m. in Schwab. Miss Allen will sing three arias by Henry Purcell, eight zigeunerlieder by Johannes Brahms, five songs by Richard Strauss and Virgil Thompson's four songs on poems by Thomas Campion. The program will also include three spirituals, "Let us Break Bread Together," "Ezekiel saw de Wheel" and "My God is so High."

Tickets for the concert are available at the Hetzel Union desk and will also be available at the door.

Demonstration

Members of the Pennsylvania Order of Rainbow for Girls will give demonstrations in art, music, speech and oral interpretation at 3 p.m. in Schwab.

Drama

"Send Me No Flowers" by Norman Barash and Carroll Moore continues at Mateer Playhouse at Standing Stone. Curtain time is 8:40 p.m.

The whimsical comedy revolves around George Kimball, the typical suburbanite — solid, commuter, citizen and husband — who has the untypical hobby of hypochondria.

The play will run through Saturday. Reservations may be obtained by calling UN 5-7586 or stopping at 204 Schwab between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily except Sunday.

"The Tender Trap" by Max Schulman and Robert Paul Smith continues at Boal Barn Playhouse in Boalsburg. Curtain is 8:30 p.m. The play is a comedy about the problems of an eligible bachelor who believes in safety in numbers. The play will run through Saturday.

Reservations may be obtained by calling AD 7-7887.

Exhibit

An exhibit of paintings by George S. Zoretich, associate professor of art, continues on the first and second floors of the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel. A different exhibition will be featured at the Chapel each month during the fall and spring terms. Paintings on display will cover a wide variety of subjects, not just religious art.

Sunday

Chapel

William G. Mather, research professor of sociology, will be the speaker at the 9 a.m. service in the Eisenhower Chapel. His topic will be "The Unholy City."

Mather received his bachelor's degree from Denison University in 1924, and in 1927 received a bachelor of divinity degree from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N.Y. In 1933, he received a master of science degree in rural sociology from Cornell University, and in 1936 a doctor of philosophy degree in rural sociology from Cornell. He is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honor society for liberal education in the arts and sciences.

Mather has conducted research on the rural church, the smaller religious sects in American life, rural welfare, rural retirement and the sociological factors in rural health.

The summer term choir directed by James W. Beach will sing "O pray for the peace of Jerusalem" by Thomas Tomkins.

Ray Zeigler, 11th term music education major from Spring Mills, will be the organist. He will play "Prelude in D minor," "Our Father, thou in heaven above" and "Fugue in D minor," all by Johann Sebastian Bach.
