Hungry? Confused? Go to the HUB

To the 10,000 people who use its facilities each day, the Hetzel Union Building provides cafeteria services, meeting and reading rooms as well as general information about the University.

Supplying the answers to the hundreds of questions asked daily is only one of the many services provided by the people behind the HUB desk. During 1960-61, about 85,000 tickets for sports and Artists Series events were distributed at the HUB desk.

THE DESK STAFF also handles lost and found items, records, ping pong balls, booklets, brochures, invitations, announcements, metropolitan daily newspapers and copies of The Daily Collegian.

Any student may select records from the collection at the HUB or bring his own records and listen to them in one of the record booths on the first floor. Informal ping pong rounds as well as scheduled tournaments are held on the ground floor. Students also gather informally in the study lounges and Lion's Den.

The Book Exchange, a non-profit, student-operated agency, sells all supplies needed for the classroom as well as the Freshman dink and handbook in its quarters on the ground floor of the HUB.

Since 1956, the BX has been affiliated with the Used Book Agency, which enables students to buy and sell used books.

At the beginning of each term, the UBA posts a list of the names and prices of books needed for each course. Any student may place on sale a book listed by UBA. No student may charge more than 80 per cent of the book's list price. The UBA charges the buyer and seller of each book a handling fee of 10 cents.

THE HUB HAS many facilities for meetings, study, dining and recreation. Within the period of Sept. 19 to June 1, 1961, 167 student groups held 1,450 meetings there between 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. with an attendance of about 60,000 students.

Although University students began to think about a student union in 1910 it wasn't until 1951 that they voted to pay a special fee of $10 each per semester to finance a campus center. When the alumni and administration added their contributions to the fund, the project was assured. Started in 1953, the HUB was opened in February, 1955. It was named after Ralph Dorn Hetzel, president of the University from 1926 to 1947.

THINK...how a phone can help you in your college life!

Whether you're living in a fraternity house or apartment, a phone in your room pays off in many ways. With it you can . . .

- Save time handling matters concerning your studies—e.g., determine the whereabouts of a hard-to-get-hold-of book
- Quickly contact your friends to make plans for extra-curricular activities
- Keep in touch with folks back home—and they in turn will find it so convenient to reach you
- Make it easy for anyone to contact you directly

To arrange for your personal telephone service, visit our Business Office at 116 E. College Ave. or call AD 7-4911.

ATTENTION ROOMMATES: Your names can also be listed under the telephone number in your room. Make it easier for students and others to reach you. The charge is low.
