

Serum's Use Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Public Health Service recommended last night that a temporary halt be called in the adult use of type three oral polio vaccine. Vaccine for type three polio virus was licensed for use last March. It is one of the three types now being used in mass immunization programs.

The health service said the decision is advisory in nature, and it will be up to local health officials to decide whether to continue programs.

THE DECISION was announced in Washington after a day-long meeting of polio experts. The experts met after Canadian authorities recommended against further mass use of the oral vaccine pending further study of its effects. The Canadians had acted after receiving reports of four cases of paralytic polio among four million persons who had received the Sabin live-virus vaccine.

Surgeon General Luther Terry said the U.S. committee studied in detail 16 cases of polio that had occurred in persons who received the three types of Sabin oral polio vaccine.

"The committee believes there is sufficient evidence to indicate at least some of these cases have been caused by the vaccine," he said.

TERRY SAID, however, the risk to children is exceedingly slight or practically non-existent. He said the committee would recommend the continuation of mass community immunization programs for pre-school and school age children, and the continued use of types one and two vaccine in persons of all ages.

The committee recommended also that type three still be used for adults in polio epidemic areas. THE DEVELOPER of the vaccine, Dr. Albert Sabin, said the Canadian government was ill-advised in its actions.

"What should be done is to intensify its use," Sabin said. He said that what happened in Canada is no different from what has happened in the United States and other countries during outbreaks of the disease.

"What happens is that people already infected are given the vaccine and this affords no protection," he added.

SABIN SAID that oral polio vaccine has been given safely to more than 200 million people without a single case of polio being attributable to the vaccine.

He contended that delays in immunization leave us wide open to outbreaks of polio which, he said, could reach epidemic proportions.

Spy Activity Found in U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Robert Kennedy reported that a three-year investigation has uncovered illegal intelligence activities by two Russian U.N. employees. One Russian left the country before the U.S. submitted its evidence of intelligence action to the U.N. secretariat.

The other Russian was presumably expelled after the evidence was presented on July 26. Expulsion is the usual procedure in such cases involving U.N. employees.

Kennedy said the actions of the two were uncovered with the aid of a young New York lawyer who is a Republican candidate for the New York State Assembly. He was identified as Richard Fink of Howard Beach, N.Y.

The two Russians have been identified as 31-year-old Yuri Mishukov and 38-year-old Yuri Zaitsev.

There is no indication the U.S. plans further legal action.

Congress Nears Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is gathering steam in its drive to adjourn by the end of the month and return home for the fall election campaigns.

Three of President Kennedy's top proposals were moved further along yesterday but one calling for federal aid to traffic-clogged cities appears doomed. Moving ahead were the U.N. bond issue, trade expansion and standby authority to call up reserves.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said that if the lawmakers get their work done they can call it quits on Sept. 29. No adjournment date was mentioned in the House, which cleared a major hurdle with passage of the U.N. bond issue bill on a 263 to 134 roll call vote.

The Senate Finance Committee approved the President's proposal for authority to slash or wipe out some tariffs reciprocally with other nations.

The House Armed Services Committee gave unanimous approval to the President's request for a standby authority to call up 150,000 reservists. However, House Speaker John McCormack said the reserve bill won't reach the House floor until Sept. 24—one week later than expected.

Strike Negotiations Reported 'Sticky'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hopes are dimming for a weekend settlement of the telegraphers' strike against the Chicago and North Western Railway. Negotiators talked for three and a half hours in Washington yesterday morning, but reported no progress when they recessed.

The talks continued in the afternoon, but federal mediator Francis O'Neill told newsmen some sticky points have not been resolved. O'Neill was optimistic Thursday, but yesterday he said he was less hopeful of getting an early agreement. He declared he still considers the meeting a make-or-break session.

The strike already is 17 days old and has idled more than 15,000 employees. The main issue is a union demand that the railroad get union consent before laying off any more telegraphers.

Gromyko Urges U.N. Act
NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko arrived in New York yesterday on a Soviet plane and urged that effective steps against the threat of war be taken at the United Nations General Assembly which opens next week.

Drug Report Released

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A panel of experts appointed by President Kennedy rejected today the idea of lengthy confinement for drug addicts. Instead, it recommended stronger attention to rehabilitation.

The White House released a progress report by the panel which also said:

"There is increasing evidence—particularly among teen-agers—of the so-called spree use of a number of different drugs in rotation.

"There is an evident decrease in abuse of such drugs as heroin at the present time but an increase in the abuse of such non-narcotic drugs as barbituates."

THE PANEL also said the drug habit is only rarely initiated by the drug pusher with economic motive in mind, but instead spreads from user to user.

The report said that the most critical component of treatment and rehabilitation of drug addicts is not confinement. Rather it appears to be a long, strictly supervised, highly controlled parole period, with legal and practical measures to assure that the parolee remains drug free.

The general recommendation, the report said, is for the post-addict to remain about five months in a drug-free environment after withdrawal from physical dependence on drugs.

The report said the great majority of addicts are discharged from a hospital or prison after withdrawal with little supervision or help without resources to sustain them until they find a job and without agencies working to assist them to become established as productive members of society.

The report adds however, that under firm supervision an encouraging number are able to stay off drugs and work for an appreciable period of time.

Searchers Fail To Find Victim

BUTLERVILLE, Ind. (AP) — The search continued yesterday for the body of the third crewman killed in the explosion of an Air Force jet bomber in flight late Friday. Two other bodies were recovered from the wreckage, but they were not identified.

The two crewmen were found strapped in the burning fuselage of the 10-million-dollar plane. The nose of the bomber plunged into an unoccupied log cabin.

A four-foot slice of metal hit only yards away from an infirmary at Muscatuck State School, where 2,000 children live. Several chunks of metal fell into yards at Butlerville, but no houses were hit.

What caused the plane to crash is not known. One witness said the whole sky erupted in smoke when the plane blew up. Another reported hearing two large booms in the air, followed by a long rumble.

The bomber was on a training flight from Farmington, Mo. to Cleveland.
