Frosh Lose Spirit In Heavy Rainfall

By DONNAN BEESON

Upperclassmen were left stranded in the rain yesterday with no freshmen and, consequently, no attitude checks, nor cheers, nor marriage ceremonies to attend. The freshmen were apparently inside staying dry.

At the meeting of the Customs Board last night, one violator presented a short history of Customs since its beginning before the turn of the century. One of the tricks at that time, the frosh reported, was for upperclassmen to urge the frosh to attempt to ride a mule.

Today is Dress-up Day for freshmen. Men are to wear sport jackets and ties. Women are to wear skirts. No bermuda shorts, dungarees or kilts may be worn. Attitude Checks may be made, to which the reply should be, "Beat Air Force!"

These mules were trained to throw anyone who mounted from the left side, so as each frosh climbed on the animal from the left (following upperclassmen's advice), he ended up lower than he began.

Another frosh told the board that he was not wearing his dink and namecard because he was playing tennis and the equipment impeded his play. He was acquitted.

AWS to Hold Elections

Women students will elect 80 representatives to seven community councils in the Association of Women Students elections Oct. 5 and 10.

Applications are still available for these positions at the Hetzel Union desk and must be turned in there by Wednesday. The names of all applicants will be placed on the ballot for the primary election next Friday.

WOMEN IN the West Halls area will elect a council of five upperclass women and three freshmen. Upperclass women may vote for freshmen and vice versa. The same procedure will be followed in East Halls area where a council of seven upperclass women and four freshmen will be elected.

Simmons and McElwain women will elect separate councils of seven upperclassmen and five freshmen for each area. Atherton residents will choose eight upperclass women and three freshmen.

Pollock area will have the largest council with one Greek, one independent and one freshman from each residence hall, plus four members at large from the area.

WOMEN FROM each Pollock residence hall will have a separate ballot to choose two Greeks, two independents and two freshmen in the primaries. Candidates chosen from each residence hall will run against one another in the final all-area election.

The elections commission will then choose the freshman, Greek and independent from each hall with most votes to serve on the council.

Glee Club to Present Choral Program on TV

The Men's Glee Club will present a 30-minute program at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow on channel 8, Lancaster. The program was videotaped last year by the 1961-62 club for statewide distribution.

Robert Froberg, soloist, and the Hy-Lo's, a novelty ensemble, are featured during the program.

The four candidates with the next highest number of votes will be named representatives-at-large. These representatives may be either freshmen, Greeks or independents from any of the area residence halls.

SOUTH HALLS residents will elect a council of 10 members with one representative from each residence hall plus two freshmen and two upperclassmen at large.

Voters will select three candidates from each residence hall in the primary election. Following the final election, the coed with the highest number of votes from each residence hall will be chosen to serve on the council. From the remaining 12 women, the two freshmen and two upperclass women with the most votes will be named members at large.

The number of representatives and the appointment for each area was determined by the elections commission co-chairmen from reports turned in by each area council last year.

6-Piece Combo, Female Quartette Will Perform With Ray Charles

Recreation Building will be relieved of its usual athletic activities and transformed into a concert hall at 8 p.m. Sunday when jazz artist Ray Charles will present a concert sponsored by the Jazz Club.

Today is the final day for club members to purchase their tickets in the basement of the Hetzel Union Building. The price of the tickets is $1.25.

GENERAL ADMISSION tickets are being sold at the HUB desk for $1.75. Tickets may also be purchased at the door the evening of the concert.

Aside from his dedication to jazz, Charles has several hobbies which, in view of his total blindness, seem peculiar. He is an excellent dominoes player and also is an avid card player.

Charles is also very fond of spiritual music and has a wealth of knowledge of the subject.

"I attract my soul, from this music," he says.

As an illustration of a handicapped person's determination, Charles says, "I guess I'm just an example of the fact that there's something for everybody to do if they just want to."

CHARLES WILL bring his entire organization, which includes a six-piece combo and a female quartette, with him. This is his second appearance at the University in two years.

When he first began his jazz career, Charles said his trio sounded more or less like that of Nat "King" Cole. Cole is said to have had the first influence on Charles' musical career.

"I knew I had to change if I was going to get anywhere. I knew I had to develop a style of my own," Charles says.

It is this distinctive style which Charles will bring to Rec Building Sunday night.

Bronze Bust of Chemist Presented to University

The bronze bust of George Gilbert Pond, chemist and dean of the School of Natural Sciences, has been placed in the foyer of Osmond Laboratory at the University.

The bust is the work of the Philadelphia sculptor, Allen Harris, and was presented to the University by the Penn State Pioneers, an organization of alumni who have been graduated from the University fifty or more years ago.
