

—Collegian Photo by Tom Browne

RAMBLING ROCKET—Penn State's All-American left half-back Roger Kochman takes off on a 12-yard run in the third quarter of the Lions' 20-6 victory over the Air Force in Beaver Stadium Saturday. Kochman scored two touchdowns and was the leading rusher and pass receiver in the game.

Nittanies Stop Fired-Up Falcon Onslaught, 20-6

By JOHN MORRIS
Sports Editor

For awhile last Saturday it looked like the Penn State football team was a bunch of avid newspaper readers.

Perhaps the Lions had read all week how they were one of the best teams in the country after they squashed Navy, 41-7.

Or maybe they read the fact that Penn State football teams had won the second game of the season only three times during Rip

NEW YORK (AP)—Penn State was a unanimous choice as the East's top college football team yesterday in the first balloting for the Lambert Trophy.

Army, was second followed by Pittsburgh, Boston College, Princeton, Syracuse, Holy Cross, Navy, Dartmouth and Villanova in order.

Engle's 12-year tenure as head coach of the Nittanies.

At any rate, for 30 minutes Engle's Lions stumbled and fumbled around in front of 45,200 people in Beaver Stadium Saturday, looking very little like a team that is supposed to be the fourth best squad in the country.

Only a severe case of fumblyitis contracted by Ben Martin's eager Falcons kept the 1962 Nittanies from adding to the second-game loss string.

THE LIONS managed a 7-6 lead at the end of the first half, mainly on the strength of three Air Force fumbles.

The Lions came back in the second half for two long drives featuring sensational touchdown passes from Pete Liske to Roger Kochman.

The final score was 20-6 and the Nittanies retained their fourth place ranking, but not without a great deal of help from Dame Fortune in that nightmarish first half.

State kicked off to the fired-up Falcons, who immediately started pushing toward the Nittany goal against a ponderous State forward wall.

Sparked by jitter-bugging Terry Isaacson, Air Force moved the ball to the Penn State 40-yard line before Darryl Bloodworth fumbled the ball into Lion center Jim Williams' hands.

The Lions started a drive of their own from there. But with fourth down and inches on the Air Force 19, the Falcons stopped Kochman at the line of scrimmage.

On the very next play Isaacson fumbled to give the Nittanies another chance.

THIS TIME the Lions took advantage of the Falcons' generosity, scoring in three plays from the 20.

Kochman slithered for 12 yards, but Liske was off on a pass to Dick Anderson. Then Junior Poywell added the extra point and the Lions led, 7-0.

Air Force marched down the field again, but the Lions held on their own 35. They managed to keep the ball for only three

(Continued on page seven)

Meredith Enrolled, Army Stands Guard

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Battle-ready troops continued to pour into Oxford yesterday as James H. Meredith, a Negro, finally enrolled and went to class at the all-white University of Mississippi.

Meredith, 29, a veteran of the Korean War, registered in a 55-minute routine session with Registrar Robert Ellis, failed to find his first class and drove off with an escort.

Infantrymen ringed the university campus, where Sunday night's gas fumes blanketed the central area.

MEREDITH SEEMED outwardly calm, paid his $230 cash for tuition, and asked about class routine.

A Justice Department spokesman said marshals will live with him and escort him to class "as long as he is in any danger."

As Meredith left the registrar's office, smiling, he said he was at Ole Miss for purely academic reasons, would attend classes only and would not participate in extra-curricular activities.

At the same time Army gunfire and tear gas smashed riots in downtown Oxford, and troops arrested former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

Walker, who Sunday night led a charge of students against federal marshals on the Ole Miss campus, where two men were killed in nine hours of rioting, waived a preliminary hearing on charges of trying to obstruct justice. U.S. Commissioner Omar Craig held him on $100,000 bond.

The controversial Texan, who led federal forces in the 1957 Little Rock desegregation crisis, but changed sides because he said he was wrong, also showed up in renewed skirmishing in the college town yesterday. Troops took him into custody at a roadblock.

IN MID-AFTERNOON, a caravan of 92 vehicles, carrying mostly military police, rolled into Oxford. Units of the crack 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions landed at the Oxford Airport.

At Columbus, fresh troops of the 1st Airborne Battle Group of the 328th Infantry disembarked after flying from Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Gov. Ross Barnett, who once voted to go to jail rather than see Ole Miss integrated, called for an end to violence. Law and order must prevail "even though our state has been invaded by federal forces," Barnett said in a broadcast from Jackson yesterday afternoon.

He told Mississippians not to leave their hometowns. To out-of-staters who had rushed to Oxford, Barnett said, "Please go home; and I say this with great emphasis."

In addition to two dead in the night-long campus rioting, 20 were injured. In Washington, the Justice Department reported no one had been killed or hurt from gunfire from the weapons of federal troops.

On the campus and in Oxford, military police and infantrymen—with rifles and bayonets—arrested 178 persons, about one-third students. Some lived as much as 500 miles away.

AFTER MEREDITH'S enrollment many students were seen leaving the campus with packed suitcases.

In New Orleans, Jack Greenburg, attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told the New Orleans States-Item that a second Negro, a girl, is in the process of applying for entrance into the University of Mississippi.

University Merges Arts, Architecture

The establishment of a College of Arts and Architecture, composed of the Department of Art, Architecture, Music, Theatre Arts and a newly-created Department of Landscape Architecture, was approved by the University's Board of Trustees Friday.

The new college will become operational at the beginning of the winter term. Jules Heller, professor of art and director of the School of the Arts in the College of the Liberal Arts, will be dean of the college.

JOHN R. RACKLEY, vice president for resident instruction, said that the new college was approved after a series of evaluations of the inter-relationships and development of these curriculums.

Administrative details, such as the degrees to be offered and the location of personnel offices, will be worked out within the next three months prior to the activation of the new college, Rackley said.

The School of the Arts, which now comprises the Department of Art, Music and Theatre Arts, will be discontinued in January when the new college assumes its functions.

With the establishment of the College of Arts and Architecture, landscape architecture will be elevated to departmental standing. It is presently a curriculum in the Department of Horticulture in the College of Agriculture.

Wayne H. Wilson, professor of landscape architecture and director of the program for the past five years, will head the department.

The Department of Architeture will be moved to the new college from the College of Engineering and Architecture, which will be redesignated as the College of Engineering.

Also effective in January will be the establishment of a Department of Architectural Engineering in the College of Engineering. This department will conduct research and instruction in structural performance and function.

GIFFORD H. ALBRIGHT, associate professor of architectural engineering, will head the department, formerly a curriculum in the Department of Architecture.

The College of Arts and Architecture makes the 10th undergraduate college at the University. It is the first to be established since the College of Business Administration was organized in 1953.

In addition to training professional personnel, the new college will offer cultural courses to students in other curriculums.

Fair Weather Expected

The stagnant air mass that covers the Commonwealth is expected to show little movement during the next few days.

Today should be partly sunny and pleasantly warm, and a high of 73 degrees is expected.

Partly cloudy to occasionally overcast skies are seen for tonight and tomorrow. Tonight's minimum will be about 50 and a high of 68 is forecast for tomorrow.

Senate Will Debate ROTC

By MEL AXILBUND

The University Senate is scheduled to consider the question of approving voluntary participation in the Reserve Officers Training Corps program for students in the College of the Liberal Arts this afternoon.

The ROTC question comes to the Senate floor after a series of delays, the latest occurring at the July Senate meeting, when the ROTC proposal was tabled.

JOSEPH G. RAYBACK, chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Instruction, said yesterday that his committee will recommend to the Senate that the proposal of the Liberal Arts Planning Committee, which initiated the ROTC bill, be denied because that group has failed to show sufficient cause for change in the ROTC program.

An opposing view was expressed by Warren Smith, chairman of the liberal arts group which wrote the report answering the Senate request to "show cause."

He said his group had presented evidence showing:

- ROTC is not an essential part of the liberal arts curriculum.

- Well oriented voluntary programs produce better military officers than compulsory ones.

- The general trend since the conclusion of the Korean conflict has been away from compulsory ROTC.

As a part of today's debate, Rayback said he intends to inform the Senate of proposed revisions in the ROTC programs of both Army and Air Force.

These proposals are now, according to the best available information, before the Bureau of the Budget for study.

The major features of the Army-Air Force proposals, as reported in Army Times, include:

- The establishment of two-year

ROTC programs for institutions wishing to adopt them. However, since the services may also continue existing programs at institutions which want them, at least for an interim period, both the new two-year and the existing four-year programs would not be allowed to co-exist at one institution.

- The two-year program would operate at the junior and senior year levels with the participating students receiving either scholarships (with an obligation to serve four years active duty and to accept regular commissions if offered) or increase subsistence allowances and summer camp pay (increases are also proposed for juniors and seniors in institutions offering the four year program). The obligations of non-scholarship students would extend to their acceptance of reserve commissions and service on active duty for less than four years.

By ROCHELLE MICHAELS
and WINNIE BOYLE

As prospective USG Congressional candidates walk the halls of their living areas and freshman and sophomore class presidential hopefuls don their usual electioneering attire, soliciting signatures for official Elections Commission petitions begins.

Petitions are available upon request at the Hetzel Union desk. SIGNED PETITIONS are due at 10 a.m. Thursday at the HUB desk. A meeting of all candidates, party chairmen and the Elections Commission will be held Friday to discuss the newly-adopted Elections Code and campaign procedures.

Campaigning will begin at 8 a.m. Monday and continue until 5 p.m. Oct. 17. Voting will be Oct. 15, 16 and 17. The hours and places of balloting will be announced later.

All candidates except freshmen must have an all-University average and a previous term average of at least 2.0.

Congressional candidates may spend $8 and presidential candidates may spend $10 on their campaigns. This money must be deposited in the Associated Student Activities office, 202 HUB.

Candidates may then obtain a purchase order from the ASA office for the approximate cost of the material they plan to use. These materials must be registered on the purchase order.

Itemized expense accounts must be turned in at the ASA office at the conclusion of the campaign. Receipts and copies of all publicity material must be included with the account.

THE RECEIPTS will then be matched against the materials listed on the purchase order.

Any campaign activity other than organization and preparation before the official time set, petitions without a sufficient number of legitimate signatures and spending over the allotted budget will be considered grounds for disqualification.

Collegian Seeks Cartoonist

Persons interested in cartooning for the Daily Collegian should inquire at the Collegian office in the basement of Sackett after 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.