Candidates Discuss Political Party Role—

Marjorie Levy (East): "Political parties are ideally good . . . but should not be used in this election because they are not well enough organized."

Paula Narbut (Simmons-McElwain): "If people work individually, they do not have a chain to link them together."

Gretchen Taubenberger (Ather-ton): "Political parties should not be used in Congressional elections because they tend to block issues in Congress."
