

Nittanies Invade Army

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

VOL. 63, No. 18 UNIVERSITY PARK, PA., SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 13, 1962 FIVE CENTS

I CAME, I SAW, I CONQUERED: An unidentified coed steals the hat of an unsuspecting Sigma Chi during their annual Derby Day.

It's open season for coeds on all Sigma Chi's with derbies on their heads.

—Collegian Photo by Don Coleman

Lions in Crucial Contest Against Dietzel's Cadets

By JOHN MORRIS
Sports Editor

WEST POINT, N.Y., Oct. 12 —Penn State has its sights set on making a clean sweep of this country's future military leaders, taking dead aim on a victory over Army when the two teams clash in Michie Stadium tomorrow afternoon.

The Lions, third-ranked team in the latest national standings, have already defeated Navy and Air Force and a win today would make State the first team in history to defeat all three of the service academies in one season.

The biggest crowd to ever attend a game at the Military Academy will be on hand tomorrow. Michie Stadium's 31,000 seats have been sold out for over a month.

Rip Engle's Nittanies are hungry for a victory that would enhance their national ranking as well as avenge the 10-6 defeat Army administered to the Lions in Beaver Stadium last year.

THE LIONS reign as one touch-down favorites in the regionally televised (CBS—2 p.m.) game, but Engle fears the favorite's role in this contest.

"I know of few teams that respond to an underdog role the way Army does," Engle warns, "and this is especially true at West Point. It's always tough to win at Michie Stadium."

Making the job even tougher this year is the fact that this is Army's homecoming and the Cadets' spirit always reaches feverish proportions when playing in front of the old grads.

The Lions must also guard against the possibility of history repeating itself.

LAST SEASON about this time an underdog Army team upset the Nittanies after a loss to Michigan. This year the script is much the same. Michigan handed the Cadets their first loss of the season last week, 17-7.

"Army will be sky-high for us," Penn State line coach Tor Torette said today, "and their loss to Michigan will make them that much madder. It will be our toughest game so far this season—by far."

Torette scouted Army in all three of its games this season, watching Paul Dietzel's crew manhandle Wake Forest (40-14), and upset Syracuse (9-2) before losing to Michigan.

The Nittanies should be in their best condition since the season opener for this Eastern battle.

Only quarterback Don Caum is expected to sit this one out. Caum

(Continued on page six)

Froth Printing Stopped

By MEL AXILBUND
(See Related Editorial)

University action has led to the suspension of printing of the next issue of the Penn State Froth, campus humor magazine, Andrea Buscanics, Froth co-editor, said last night.

Miss Buscanics said Commercial Printing Inc., State College, had informed her of the suspension after the company was told by George L. Donovan, coordinator of student activities, that the purchase order for the printing had been frozen.

MISS BUSCANICS, Edwin Urie, Froth co-editors, and Robert M. Pockrass, Froth literary adviser, have been requested to appear Monday afternoon at a meeting of the subcommittee on student organizations, it was also learned yesterday.

A reliable source told The Daily Collegian that the subcommittee would consider whether or not the magazine was guilty of conduct "prejudicial to the good name of the University."

If so, according to the Guide to University Regulations Concerning Student Affairs and Conduct, disciplinary action is possible. Such action may include the suspension or expulsion of individuals found to have been involved in such conduct or the suspension or revocation of the charter of the organization involved.

The subcommittee on student organizations was formed earlier this year after the University Senate transferred the chartering of student organizations to the administration, with the Senate and its Committee on Student Affairs remaining as the policy-making and disciplinary body.

The University regulations guide says officers of organizations in question will be heard by "a committee" after review of obtainable evidence. If recognition of the organization is withdrawn, the reasons will be publicly stated by the committee chairman. Appeal from the decision of the committee may be made to President Eric A. Walker.

Dorothy J. Lipp, dean of women and member of the subcommittee, refused to comment when contacted last night.

NEITHER THE Dean of Men, Frank J. Simes, Donovan or Robert G. Bernreuter, special assistant to the President for Student Affairs and chairman of the committee of which the subcommittee is a part, were in town or available for comment on the report.

Miss Buscanics and Pockrass, however, agreed that when they were requested to appear before the subcommittee Donovan said the meeting was called to discuss complaints against the magazine.

Homecoming Finalists Chosen

Five Homecoming Queen finalists were chosen last night from 100 applicants who were interviewed by the panel of judges.

The finalists are Shirley Benjamin (4th - math - Conyngham), Vicki Caplan (7th - speech therapy - Pittsburgh), Margo Lewis (10th - elementary education - Philadelphia), Eileen Segal (4th - elementary education - Harrisburg), and Jacquelyn Trone, (10th - home economics - York).

THE CONTESTANTS were judged on academic achievement, activities, beauty and poise, Robert Polishook, Homecoming chairman, said.

The finalists will appear before the football team at 8:30 p.m.

Monday at the Nittany Lion Inn where team members will select the queen.

The queen will be crowned Friday evening on the steps of Old Main, at the pep rally sponsored by the Block "S" Club.

THE ALUMNI luncheon will be held in honor of the queen and her court on Homecoming Day, Oct. 20, in the Hetzel Union Building. At this time, the queen will be presented with a trophy provided by the Alumni Association.

The queen and her court will sit in the Block "S" section at the football game and share the spotlight with the 1912 football team during halftime, Polishook said.

Balotting Begins Monday to Elect USG Congress, 2 Class Presidents

By ROCHELLE MICHAELS

The climax of hours of poster-making and talking to prospective constituents will come Monday when students begin voting for Undergraduate Student Government congressmen and freshmen and sophomore class presidents.

THE POLLS will open at 9:30 a.m. Monday and continue at intermittent hours until 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Elections Commission will begin counting ballots at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Locations and hours of the polls are as follows: Pollock, Waring, Warnock, Redifer, Simmons, McElwain, Atherton and East dining halls; 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Students eating in these areas may vote in their own dining halls.

Polls for students living in town and fraternity areas will be provided at the foot of the Mall and on the Hetzel Union ground floor.

These polls will operate from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. every day of elections.

Another HUB poll, which will be open for the same hours, will be alongside this one and may be used by any student living on campus.

Independent men living off campus but eating in a University dining hall may vote in the dining area to which they are assigned.

FLOATING POLLS will be driven through the town area from 6:30 to 8:00 p.m. Tuesday so men living off campus might have a more convenient place to vote. The routes of the polls will be announced Monday.

Before votes are counted Wednesday night, Elections Commission chairman George Jackson will meet with all the candidates and hear any complaints they may have. Campaign expense lists are due at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

CLASS PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES: Running for the top freshman and sophomore positions are seated from the left: Ron Sinoway, Perry Itkin and Walter Wiewiora; and standing: Richard Davis, Bruce Miller, Leonard Pasquini, Sandy Gellis, Paul F. Gray, Robert Lockhart and Martin Munitz.

Candidates View Class' Future

By JOAN HARTMAN

The candidates for freshmen and sophomore class presidents voiced their opinions last night on the part their respective classes should take in student activities.

The five candidates for sophomore class president were asked whether they thought that there should be a seat on the Undergraduate Student Congress for the sophomore class president and what they would do if they did receive such a seat.

Sandy Gellis: "If the class presidents are not going to be on the USG Congress, they and their advisory board chairmen should form a council similar to the hat society council. If they do receive a seat, their job would be the same as a regular congressman."

Paul F. Gray: "I think that class representation would be the perfect supplement for USG, as it stands now. I would also like to create more individual contact between the students and the USG and the class advisory board.

Robert Lockhart: "If the president of the sophomore class does not sit on USG, that office should not exist. There are two purposes for a class officer—to serve the University and to serve his class. He cannot accomplish this without the support of USG."

Bruce Miller: "The USG should give the seats back to the class president, or there should be an organization of class presidents."

Martin Munitz: "The class president represents more people than a congressman and so should have his seat on Congress reinstated. Also, any suggestions or ideas that need more backing than from the advisory board should be brought before USG by the class president."

The five freshmen candidates were queried on the programs they planned, if elected.

Richard Davis: "There should be more weekend activities for freshmen and more recreation facilities provided for them."

Perry Itkin: "There should be students, as well as persons from the dean of men's office, to coordinate activities between the residence hall areas."

Ronald Sinoway: "The class advisory board should be chosen by interest, ability and residence hall area. I also would like to sponsor a Freshman Weekend with a dance on Saturday night and a day at Whipple's Dam on Sunday."

Walter Wiewiora: "Obviously, the first thing is to organize the freshman class. I would like to make the class into a working body and to interest more people in the student organizations at the University."