

University Suspends 2 Frosh

By DOROTHY DRASHER

Two 1st term students were suspended from the University by the Senate Subcommittee on Discipline, Daniel R. Leasure, assistant dean of men, said yesterday.

A freshman in liberal arts was suspended until the end of the Spring term 1963 for drinking as a minor and disorderly and disrespectful behavior, Leasure said.

THE STUDENT "in an obviously intoxicated condition" started an argument and threatened to fight with another student at the North Halls record hop Saturday night, Leasure said.

A counselor called to the scene escorted the intoxicated student to the coordinator's office, but the student was "clamoring and ranting" and so uncooperative that the Campus Patrol was called, Leasure said.

The student had refused to identify himself in the coordinator's office and continued to do so throughout the night which he spent in a special room in the Ritenour health center, which is reserved for "temporarily emotionally upset" people, Leasure said.

A campus patrolman was with the student during the night, and at 9 the next morning the student had calmed down considerably and identified himself, Leasure added.

The student's case was heard by the student tribunal in his area which recommended that he be suspended. The recommendation was approved by the discipline subcommittee.

The other freshman, who was suspended until the end of this term, had shoplifted a 39 cent item from Woolworth's in State College Monday, Leasure said.

HE SAID that the student was caught by the manager of the store.

At the office of a local justice of the peace the student pleaded guilty to the charges of shoplifting and paid a fine of $10 and court costs of $11.50. The case was then turned over to the University for action.

In a third case, handled by the subcommittee this week, a 4th term student was placed on disciplinary probation until the end of the spring term, 1963, for malicious behavior, Leasure said. The student had shoved a ball of lint, saturated with lighter fluid and set afire, under the door of another student as a prank in a residence hall October 4.

Cool Air Expected

Cooler and drier air spread over the northeastern states last evening. Weather conditions more typical of autumn should replace the summer-like temperatures of recent days.

Partly cloudy skies and cool temperatures are forecast for State College today. Afternoon readings should be in the lower 60's.

Cooler weather is expected locally tonight, with a low temperature of 46 degrees.

Increasing and thickening cloudiness is indicated for tomorrow as a storm moves toward Pennsylvania from the mid-west. Showers may begin late in the day or early evening. A high of 63 is expected tomorrow.
