

Frosh Gridders Crush Army

Special to the Collegian
Penn State's freshman football team gained a little bit of revenge for the varsity's earlier defeat at Army when they crushed the Army Plebes, 15-0, yesterday at West Point.

State dominated play throughout the game as they made several thrusts at the Army goal while holding the Plebes' offense to a standstill.

State's first score came in the first quarter when halfback Bob Shiffler galloped 20 yards for the score.

THE NITTANIES then decided to go for two points on the extra point attempt, and the move turned out to be a wise one. Ellery Seitz angled over from his right end position to take the 3-yard pass from quarterback Dick Gingrich for the score.

State threatened twice in the second quarter, but the Army line was able to rise to the occasion both times.

THE FIRST half ended with Penn State leading 8-0.

In the third quarter State was knocking on the Army door again, but each time the drive was stalled. Twice the Army line held and the third time State center, Jack Boye, was short with a field goal attempt from the 15-yard line.

State's final score came with five minutes remaining in the game.

Left halfback Bob Riggle took a handoff from Gingrich and danced over from the five for the score. Boye then split the uprights with his placement attempt to conclude the Penn State scoring.

The entire 31 man Penn State squad saw action as coach Earl Bruce substituted freely in the waning moments of the game.

BRUCE PRAISED halfback Shiffler, Bill Huber, and fullback Dick Barrett for their offensive play, but he singled out the play of quarterback Gingrich as being particularly outstanding.

"The smart play-calling of Gingrich was instrumental in our victory," he said.

The victory gives the frosh a 1-1 record for the season, having lost a close 14-6 decision to Syracuse earlier in the year. For Army it was the second loss against two victories. The Plebes defeated Buffalo and Colgate and lost to Syracuse and Penn State.

*Assignment: build the "grease gun"
into our cars*

We went to the mountain to make 1963 Ford-built cars go 30,000 to 100,000 miles between major chassis lubrications

Quite a task faced Ford Motor Company engineers when they set out to eliminate the traditional trip to the grease rack every 1,000 miles.

Like Mohammed, they went to the mountain—Bartlett Mountain on the Continental Divide in Colorado. More molybdenite is mined there than in the rest of the world combined. And from molybdenite ore comes the amazing "moly" grease that helps extend the chassis lubrication intervals for Ford-built cars. This grease sticks tenaciously to metal, stands up under extreme pressures and resists moisture, pounding and squeezing. It is slicker than skates on ice!

New, improved seals were developed. Bushings, bearings and washers of many materials were investigated. Slippery synthetics, like nylon and teflon, were used a number of new ways.

The search for means to extend chassis lubrication also led to New Orleans—where experimental suspension ball joints tested in taxicabs in regular service went two years without relubrication.

It took time. And ingenuity. But the effort paid off when Ford-built cars were the first to build in chassis lubrication good for 30,000 miles or two years—whichever came first.

Another assignment completed—another "Ford First" and another example of how Ford Motor Company provides engineering leadership for the American Road.
