

Knighted Actress Will Appear In Dramatic Roles in Schwab

By ROCHELLE MICHAELS

One of the few actresses ever to have been knighted by the British monarch will perform two of her most celebrated roles for the last dramatic presentation of this term's Artists Series.

Dame Judith Anderson, frequently called the "greatest living actress" by American critics, will appear in "Medea" and "Lady Macbeth" at 8:30 Friday and Saturday nights in Schwab. William Roerick will portray Jason and Macbeth respectively in the two plays.

TICKETS WILL be distributed to students upon presentation of a matriculation card from 1:30 to 5 p.m. today at the Hetzel Union desk. General admission tickets for non-students are $1.25 and may be purchased from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow through Friday.

The Australian-born actress' title has caused many humorous incidents in this country, where people are not used to hearing anything more elaborate than "mister" or "miss." On one formal occasion, she was introduced as "the Dame, Miss Judith Anderson," creating much embarrassment.

American theatrical producers also insist on using Dame Judith's title on advertising material, a practice severely frowned upon in England.

Dame Judith's performance scheduled for this weekend opens with the famous sleep-walking scene of Shakespeare's "Macbeth." For her portrayal of the dramatic mixture of ambition and murder in a woman, the star has been awarded two television "best actress" Emmies.

"MEDEA" HAS been condensed from the Robinson Jeffers-Euripides classic story of fury and vengeance by omitting the minor characters. It will be presented in two acts, as acts II and III of the evening's program.

The Los Angeles Examiner acclaimed this double performance, saying of Dame Judith: "Her Lady Macbeth was merciless, but also remorseful, and . . . the role of a vengeful Medea has been so vivified by Miss Anderson that other players would scarcely be brash enough to attempt it."

... without a lot of strings attached

One of the big benefits of THE BENEFACTOR, College Life's famous insurance policy, is the way it pays off in case of accidental death:

DOUBLE—if you lose your life in an accident;
TRIPLE—if your death results from an auto accident or as a passenger in a plane or other common carrier.

But the Real Pay-Off

is that THE BENEFACTOR doesn't have a lot of strings attached to it which prevent payment of the extra money.

These Typical Exceptions are Not Found in THE BENEFACTOR

- The taking of poison or inhaling gas—voluntarily or otherwise.
- Engaging in riot or insurrection.
- Committing an assault or felony.
- Infirmity of mind or disease.
- Operating or riding in any kind of aircraft other than as a fare-paying passenger of a commercial airline on a regularly scheduled route.
- Any bacterial infection other than that occurring in consequence of an injury on the exterior of the body affected solely through external, violent and accidental means.

THE BENEFACTOR'S honest-to-goodness accidental death benefit is typical of all its nine big benefits. You get so much more for your money because College Life insures only college men and college men are preferred risks. Get the full BENEFACTOR story from your local College Life representative.*
