State Massacres Mounties, 34-6

Penn State's once-beaten football team continued its headlong rush toward a post-season bowl and retention of the Lambert Trophy with a 34-6 pasting of West Virginia in Beaver Stadium Saturday.

Led by the heretofore punchless Reddy Unit, the Lions humbled the Mounties before a roaring crowd estimated at 33,400.

Most of that throng had come expecting to see a tight battle between the two old rivals, but the game was never close despite the 7-0 halftime score.

The Nittanies completely dominated West Virginia, both offensively and defensively, rolling over the mutilated Mounties for 535 yards running and passing.

The Lion win, coupled with Army's 12-7 loss to three-touchdown underdog Oklahoma State, should move the Nittanies back into first place in the Lambert Trophy voting.

THE VICTORY also kept the Nittanies in contention for a rumored New Year's Day date in either the Cotton Bowl or Orange Bowl.

The Lions are now riding a four-game winning streak and bowl talk is beginning to fly, particularly after Saturday's game, possibly the greatest offensive showing in Penn State history.

The Nittanies set a Penn State record with 38 first downs, shattering the old mark of 31 set against Lebanon Valley in 1924.

In addition, Pete Liske continued his brilliant quarterbacking, completing 15 of 21 passes for 196 yards and three touchdowns. The three TD losses moved Liske's season total to nine, tying a Penn State record held by Shorty Miller (1952) and Elwood Petchel (1948).

"Liske has played four good games in a row," Lion coach Rip Engle commented after the game. "He passed well and called practically the whole game again."

The Lions were completely healthy for the first time this season and Engle considered that a major factor in the Nittanies' win.

"THIS WAS the first week this season that we had our full team for a full week of practice," Engle explained.

Engle also praised the Reddy unit, State's second team. The Reddies scored the first touchdown for the Lions and kept the pressure on all afternoon.

"They gave us a tremendous job," Engle said. "They turned in their best effort so far and that was the big difference."

Mountie mentor Gene Corum agreed with Engle.

"Our second team just couldn't hold their second team," Corum said. "It was simply a case of our one good team playing two of theirs."

U.S. Position On Red Planes Remains Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported standing firm yesterday on its insistence that Soviet bombers, as well as missiles, be removed from Cuba.

This word came from the White House after a strategy session lasting nearly two hours between President Kennedy and his top advisers in the Cuban crisis.

The only other word from presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger was that the group had made an across-the-board review of the situation including negotiations under way in the United Nations.

Salinger added that reports were made by U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and John J. McCloy, a special negotiator in the Cuban talks in New York with the Soviets and with U Thant, the acting U.N. secretary-general.

OTHER INFORMANTS forecast tough negotiating ahead, and there even is a growing expectation that some of the elements of the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement for a Cuban settlement may never be fulfilled.

Salinger said specifically that the United States is still standing by its demand for a withdrawal of Soviet bombers from Cuba as well as missiles.

With Sunday's count showing 42 missiles headed back to the Soviet Union aboard Soviet ships, U.S. authorities figure the atomic rocket menace from Cuba has been virtually removed. But the two dozen or more Soviet IL28 bombers believed remaining in Cuba can carry nuclear explosives, too.

In his public exchange with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Kennedy agreed to lift the U.S. blockade around Cuba, and pledge not to invade the island in return for Khrushchev's removal of offensive weapons from Cuba under U.N. supervision. Kennedy has made plain the United States includes the Soviet bombers as offensive weapons to be removed under the deal, but the Russians have been foot-dragging on this. The Havana regime under Fidel Castro has protested their removal.

U.S. AUTHORITIES expressed belief the Russians might try to use the continued presence of the bombers in Cuba as a bargaining lever in the negotiations now under way. The United States, in turn, was expected to continue its blockade until the bombers are taken out.

Removal of the bombers would still leave unfulfilled the U.N. verification of the weapons withdrawal promised by Khrushchev.

Congress May Consider Referendum Amendment

An amendment to permit a referendum on continuation of student government on an All-University level has been proposed as an addition to the Undergraduate Student Government constitution.

ALAN WHITE (town) proposed the amendment because he said there is a need for the approval of the student body on the actions of USG. Currently there is no constitutional provision for this type of referendum.

White submitted the proposed amendment to the USG Rules Committee last week. At deadline time last night, the Rules Committee had not made a decision on whether or not to put the proposed referendum on the agenda for tomorrow's USG meeting.

The amendment provides for a referendum to be called if 30 per cent of the undergraduate student body so desires. A majority of the students voting on the referendum question would then decide the fate of USG.

White said last week he did not foresee an immediate call for a referendum. However, he continued, the students should have the mechanism for expressing their opinion of USG.

THE WORDING of the amendment, as given to The Daily Collegian, is:

"A referendum dealing with the existence of student government on an all-University level may be called by a petition signed by 30 per cent of the undergraduate students."

Gordon Heads Liberal Party, Plans To Build Organization

Liberal party, smallest of the three campus political groups, chose a new chairman Sunday night and embarked on a program aimed at strengthening its organization.

George Gordon, who resigned Nov. 1 from a seat on the Undergraduate Student Government Congress, was elected party chairman. Election of other party officers, which was also scheduled for Sunday, was delayed pending a report from a constitutional revision committee.

After his election, Gordon told the seven party members in attendance that there are several projects to undertake in the coming months to help build the party's strength and position.

Gordon said the party members should make contact with possible supporters in each residence area. Support lies, he said, not only with registered members, but also with non-member supporters.

Members should consider the possibility of a name change for Liberal party, Gordon said. He explained that the party is sometimes confused with liberal movements in the wider sense of national politics.

"We are only liberal as far as we are concerned with student authority," he said.

Cool Weather To Continue

Today's weather should be very similar to yesterday's conditions, except that there may be a bit more cloudiness.

The weather map is characterized by weak and slow-moving weather systems.

A storm off the southeast coast and a fair weather-producing high pressure cell in the central states are the most prominent features.

The storm should move out to sea without affecting the local weather picture. The high cell, which was associated with abnormally warm 60 and 70 degree temperatures yesterday, should gradually spread its influence eastward.

Partly cloudy skies and cool weather are expected to persist through tomorrow. A high of 47 is seen for today, and a high of 50 is forecast for tomorrow.

Tonight's low will be near 30 degrees.

STANDING AT ATTENTION during the Veterans Day ceremonies on Old Main lawn yesterday are a group of ROTC students. A squad of Air Force cadets, Navy midshipmen and Army

Rangers participated in the observance of the national holiday. "Taps" were blown while the Rangers fired a salute in honor of the veterans.

3 Town Men Vie for USG

Town area students vote today to fill an unoccupied area on the Undergraduate Student Government Congress.

Paul K. Pinus, Robert C. Man and Triad, members of the Independent Men's Club, are candidates for the vacant seat.

The election will be held on the ground floor of the Union Building. The polls will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.

The commission will be the ballots for the election. The candidates will be the same as in the election which will be in effect during the congressional elections earlier this term.

Candidates may not campaign within 100 feet of the poll box have their literature posted within 50 feet, Jackson said.
