USG To Hear Rules Study Bill

By JOAN HARTMAN and MEL AXILBUND

The Undergraduate Student Government may undertake an evaluation of Senate rules and regulations if Congress passes a bill on tonight's agenda proposing such a move.

The meeting will be held at 8 in 203 Hetzel Union Building.

Harry Grace (town) has proposed that such an evaluation be made by a committee consisting of at least one congressman from the fraternity, town and women's and men's residence areas. The committee would not have to be limited to just a congressman from these four areas, Grace said last night.

THE IDEA for a student review of the regulations, Grace said, evolved from discussions with President Eric A. Walker, Robert G. Bernreuter, special assistant to the President for student affairs and Laurence H. Lattman, chairman of the Senate Committee on Student Affairs.

Grace said that Walker told him that he is willing to give students and student government all the control they can possibly be given on student affairs. Grace added that Walker also said that anything which concerns the University is the President's concern and anything which concerns the student is their's.

The bill also calls for the committee to make, at the end of its evaluation, recommendations on changes it considers necessary.

Excluded from the agenda prepared by the Rules Committee is an amendment to the USG constitution which establishes a procedure for approval of student government on an all-university level.

Alan White (town), who submitted the draft amendment to the committee last week, said last night the committee decided not to put it on the agenda because of questions about the wording of the amendment.

KATHERINE JOHNSON (South), Rules Committee chairman, would neither confirm nor deny this last night.

White said he would again try to have the amendment brought up next week.

In addition to Grace's bill, eight others have been placed on tonight's agenda. There are also four reports scheduled to be given and fourteen appointments slated for consideration.

RICHARD TRIGILIO receives 37 votes

Trigilio Wins TIM Seat On Congress

Richard Trigilio (8th-secondary education-Erie) was elected to a seat on the Undergraduate Student Government Congress yesterday.

Trigilio, who is also a member of the Town Independent Men's Council, was elected with 37 votes. A total of 91 town area students voted in the special election.

Bert Kapinus (10th-business administration-Boston, Pa.) and Robert Osman (8th-business administration-Marblehead, Mass.) received 28 and 26 votes respectively. There were no write-in votes cast.

Assuming each of the six town congressmen represents a full 500 students, the area has a population of 3,000. Based on this figure, Trigilio captured about 1.2 per cent of the votes which could have been cast in the election. The 91 votes which were cast represent 3 per cent of the town population.

Future Jr. Prom Termed "Unlikely"

The probability of another Junior Prom is very unlikely, Guy Jackson, Junior Prom Committee Chairman, said last night.

In a report to the Junior Class Advisory Board, Jackson cited the loss of class money in financing the prom and the lack of attendance as major reasons for abandoning the idea of a Junior Prom.

A report will be made to next year's advisory board recommending that the existing type of Junior Prom be discontinued, he said.

"This year's prom cost the Junior class approximately $1,000, because of the 500 tickets required for the class to break even, only 230 were sold."

Red Offer Includes Guantanamo Base

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union and Cuba yesterday countered U.S. demands with new proposals that reportedly injected the Guantanamo naval base into U.S.-Soviet negotiations on the Cuban crisis.

The formula apparently stemmed from the talks Soviet first Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan has been holding with Prime Minister Fidel Castro in Havana.

The proposals were offered as word came from Geneva that the International Committee of the Red Cross had abandoned plans to arrange inspection of Cuba-bound shipping.

HAVANA (AP) — Security officials claimed yesterday they had captured the leader of a band of heavily armed, U.S.-trained saboteurs who landed in Cuba the weekend before President Kennedy clamped his arms embargo on the island.

An attempt to sabotage the big copper mines of Matahambre was smashed, the official report said, even though the invaders succeeded in planting demolition charges. The charges were discovered before they went off.

Miguel Angel Orozco Crespo who reportedly once served as an army lieutenant under former President Fulgencio Batista, was identified as leader of the band. He was described as "principal chief of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency."

was continuance of the U.S. naval blockade of Cuba for an undetermined period.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov and Cuban Ambassador Carlos Lechuga laid the new proposals before Acting Secretary-General U Thant in a private meeting of an hour and 15 minutes.

LATER KUZNETSOV called on U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson at the U.S. mission to the United Nations. Kuznetsov requested the meeting in order to present the proposals to Stevenson, special advisor John J. McCloy, and U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost.

The three U.S. representatives conferred Monday in Washington with President Kennedy. The United States was reported holding firm to its demands that the Soviet Union pull its jet bombers out of Cuba and abide by promises to permit verification of the dismantling of Soviet missile bases.

Reliable sources said there was nothing especially new in the Soviet-Cuban formula and it seemed certain the United States would reject it.

The informants described the proposals as based on the five demands made earlier by Castro. These included withdrawal of the United States from Guantanamo, end to the U.S. arms blockade, and adoption of measures by the United States to prevent hostile activity against Cuba by exile groups.

Thanksgiving Bus Plans Cancelled As Company Changes Agreement

The plans of the Transportation Committee to operate reduced rate bus service to four major cities for the Thanksgiving vacation have fallen through.

The project was called off after consultation with representatives of Greyhound Bus Lines yesterday, David Wasson, chairman of the Undergraduate Student Government committee, said last night.

In a telephone conversation with H. W. Harvey, Pittsburgh district sales manager for the company, Wasson was informed that the company could not grant the terms earlier agreed upon.

Wasson said Harvey had agreed verbally that for each bus with a minimum of 25 persons going to a single destination, a charge of about 2.5 cents per mile would be in effect. The students would have been able to return on any Greyhound bus.

Plans to run busses to the football game with the University of Pittsburgh, Nov. 24, have not been cancelled, Wasson said, but the bus company has changed its earlier agreement for this trip also.

Originally, the company said students could return to the University on any scheduled bus. Now, students will have to return immediately after the game.

Wasson said he was told the company would try to meet the agreed arrangements at a later date, but that a company policy change is involved.

Deans Act To Halt Telephone Misuse

Action will be taken against students who misuse pay telephones in residence halls, Dean of Women Dorothy J. Lipp and Dean of Men Frank J. Simes said yesterday.

MALE RESIDENTS who owe charges for long-distance calls will be required to pay their bills to The Bell Telephone Co. before November 23, Simes said.

After that date, the company will submit to the dean of men's office a list of those students who still owe bills. The staff will then contact each of the students individually, Simes explained.

Women residents discovered misusing residence hall phones will be disciplined through the Association of Women Students' judicial system.

The Dean of Women's office has not taken action against women students who owe charges for long-distance calls, Dean Lipp said. The problem is being discussed in staff meetings, she added.

The company officials will eventually remove the pay telephones from the residence halls if the bills are not paid, Simes said. The company's proposed action would only apply to pay telephone booths and not to the toll-free wall telephones in the residence halls.

He said the problem has arisen because many students make long distance calls from residence hall pay telephones and walk away without paying full toll charges.

THESE STUDENTS have also ignored subsequent bills from the telephone company, Simes added.

Concerning action to be taken by his office, Simes said that under normal conditions the University cannot serve as a collection agency for non-campus organizations.

"Special consideration must be given to Bell Telephone, however, since they offer a service to resident students," he explained.

In cases where the validity of the charges is questionable, Simes urged students to contact the company's local office at 116 E. College Ave.

Construction To Begin Soon On Pollock, East Dormitories

By TONY FOGGIO

Construction on the four new residence halls in the Pollock and East Halls areas will begin as soon as the contractors establish field offices and organize the work, Walter H. Wiegand, director of physical plant, said yesterday.

He said the architects, contractors and representatives from his office met last week for the first construction conference.

THE TWO new East Halls residence halls will be built east of the dining hall, and the two in the Pollock area will be built south of the Pollock dining area. Wiegand said the tentative site of the new academic services building, which will house eight administrative divisions of the University, will be somewhere south of Wagner.

The units using the building will be moved from their present scattered locations in central campus to east campus because they do not require easy access by students, he said.

THE DIVISIONS which will occupy the new building include the controller, admissions, registrar, housing assignment, purchasing, general services, correspondence instruction and the Institute of Public Safety.

Wiegand said the building's architects, Thalheimer and Wietz of Philadelphia, also designed Chambers, the horticulture buildings near Tyson and the electrical engineering extension.

The first meeting with the architects will be held Nov. 26 to determine a design timetable, he said.

Candidate Test Tonight

Candidates for the editorial staff of The Daily Collegian will meet at 8:30 tonight in 124 Sackett. At this time the final test for promotion to the Board of Intermediate Reporters will be given.

BLOODMOBILE: Edward Seidman (9th-psychology-Philadelphia) gives blood in the Hetzel Union card room. Today is the last day the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be stationed in the HUB. Students over 21 and those under 21 with parental releases may still sign up to donate.
