

Lion Booters Seek Second Win Against Gettysburg Tomorrow

By IRA MILLER

Penn State's soccer team goes after its second win in eight games when it meets Gettysburg here tomorrow afternoon.

The Bullets, who have also been struggling through a losing season, should present a bright sight for the Nittany booters.

Gettysburg had a 4-7 record going into Wednesday's game with Muhlenberg and has beaten State only once in twelve previous meetings.

That one, however, was a 2-1 victory last season in the team's first meeting in several years.

Coach Lou Hammann's Bullets will present one of the youngest lineups the Lions have seen all season. There is only one senior in the Gettysburg lineup.

THE BULLETS will probably line up with Bill Huber, a sophomore, in the goal, Howard Gerken and Scott Sturges at the fullback spots and Bill Burfeind, Bill McEwan and Roger Hackstaff at the halfback spots. Sturges is the only senior in Gettysburg's starting lineup.

On the forward line, Gettysburg will have John Colestock and Jere Estes at the wings, and Dick Taylor, Bill Schinnerer and Don Thompson inside.

The Bullets won four of their first seven games this season, but in the next four were assaulted for 24 goals while dropping them all.

They hold victories over Lycoming (3-2), Wilkes (2-0), Johns Hopkins (4-1) and LaSalle (5-3). Losses have come at the hands of Lehigh (4-2), Temple (3-0), Bucknell (7-1), Navy (9-1), St. Joseph's (6-3), Elizabethtown (8-0) and Franklin and Marshall (1-0).

Meanwhile, coach Ken Hoster's Nittany Lions have been struggling through an even more disastrous season. State holds just a lone 3-0 win over Bucknell to go with six setbacks. The Lions have been beaten by West Chester (3-1), Colgate (5-2), Maryland (4-2), Navy (3-0), Temple (3-2) and Army (3-1).

GEORGE BERZKALNS

The Nittanics have been suffering misfortunes of one sort or another since the start of the season and this week has been no exception. Big center forward George Berzkalns is still sidelined from injuries received in an automobile accident last week.

JOHN KATONA will return to the starting lineup at center tomorrow, replacing Andy Honker, who replaced Berzkalns last week. Aside from that switch, the Lions will use the same lineup that started against Army.

Jay Robbins will again be in the nets with Bill Manke and Mickey Mastil at the fullback spots and Ray Dacey, Dieter Heinze and Harry Kline at the halfbacks. Captain Jay Stormer, Ted Jones, Katona, Val Djurdjevic and Al Jacobsen will man the forward line.

JOHN KATONA

In last year's Lion-Gettysburg game, State's lone goal was a fourth-quarter penalty kick by Ed Hinojosa. The Bullets scored both their goals earlier.

Hinojosa is one of the four starters the Lions have lost by various means this year. Hinojosa and Al Schattschneider quit the team, Tom Flanagan dropped out of school and Berzkalns was shelved by injury.

The Nittanics' final game is slated for a week from tomorrow at Pitt, but the contest may have to be moved up to an earlier date next week. The undefeated Panthers meet Maryland Monday at College Park and the winner will represent the East in the NCAA playoffs at St. Louis next weekend. If Pitt beats the Terps, the Lion-Panther game will probably be played Wednesday.

Reed Admits Attempts to Throw Five Bowling Green Cage Games

NEW YORK (AP) — Dennis William (Billy) Reed, a former basketball star for Bowling Green (Ohio) University, testified yesterday that Jack Molinas, former Columbia and pro basketball player, propositioned him to fix the points on five college games. He said two of the attempted dumps didn't work out.

Reed, a tall, slender New Yorker who said he had a full athletic scholarship at Bowling Green from 1958 to 1962, made the admissions in the trial of Molinas in the Criminal Part of Supreme Court. The case is being tried before Justice Joseph Sarafite and a jury.

Molinas is accused specifically of bribing Reed to fix three games in the 1959 and 1960 seasons. He also is charged with conspiring to fix 25 games involving 22 players from 12 colleges, and with subornation of perjury.

Earlier the scheduled sentencing of Aaron Wagman, another prosecution witness and admitted briber of college basketball players, on a guilty plea to bribery was postponed until Dec. 6 by Judge Sarafite. He could receive a five-to-10-year jail term.

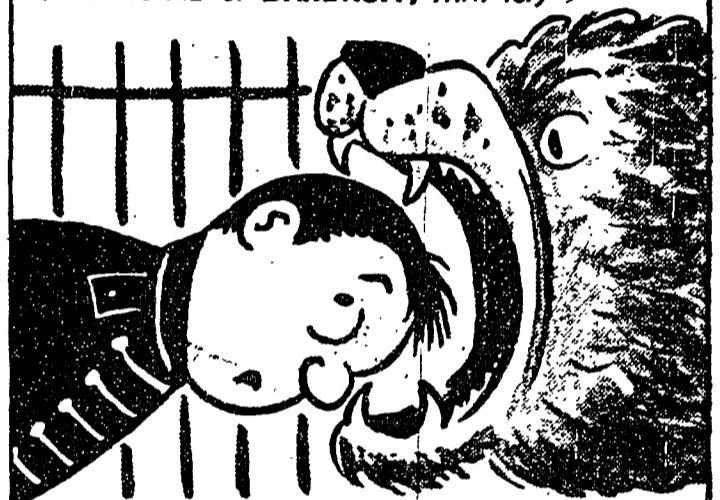

The 25-year-old Reed said he first met Molinas in August 1959 at a playground in the Riverdale section of New York. Later, he testified, Molinas "asked me if I would like to earn a little spending money by controlling the points in the basketball game the next day."

That was the Bowling Green-Michigan State game, Dec. 3, 1959, won by Michigan State by 29 points, 96-67. Reed said Molinas offered him $500 to control the points so that Bowling Green lost by 14 points or more.

Reed said he missed foul shots and threw the ball away "on purpose, watching the scoreboard all the while."

He said Molinas offered him $1,000 each to "work" two other games in December 1959. Both "contracts" were fulfilled, Reed said.
