

Booters Nip Pitt

By IRA MILLER

Jay Stormer's goal with four minutes left in Saturday's game carried Penn State's soccer team to a stunning 2-1 upset over Pitt in the season's final game for both teams.

Stormer's goal came on a 40-yard shot which sailed over the head of Pitt goalie Tom Staab. It gave the Lions their second straight win and third straight 3-6 season. The Lion captain was set up on a pass from George Berzkains.

The Panthers (7-2-2) took the lead at the 14:00 mark of the second quarter on a goal by Sam Donatelli. George Shumpeno took a corner kick which State goalie Jay Robbins caught and then dropped. Donatelli was on the spot to kick in the loose ball.

JOHN KATONA scored the first Lion goal after 18 minutes of the third period. He outmaneuvered Staab after taking possession of Val Djurdjevic's deflected shot.

The Lions' second half performance was their best of the year, coach Ken Hosterman said.

"The first half was a little loose but we really made an effort to come back. I was especially pleased the way we rallied from behind. Pitt had a good ball club, but I think we had a better one Saturday," he said.

"Our defense was real good. Pitt didn't get a good scoring opportunity all day. Their goal was just the result of a mistake." Lion goalie Stu Ross, who had seen exactly 8 minutes and 10 seconds of varsity playing time before Saturday, played the entire second half and slammed the door on the Panthers.

Alpha Sig's Wapen Cops IM Fraternity Net Title

On Sunday while many Penn Staters were still celebrating the Lions victory over Pitt, the 1962 intramural fraternity tennis championship was coming to a close. The winner was Alpha Sigma Phi's Mitch Wapen, who defeated Alpha Epsilon Pi's Joel Shapiro, 5-7, 8-6, 6-3.

This was the sixth match for Wapen during the six-week long tournament, and Shapiro, a transfer student from Tulane, proved to be the toughest opponent for Alpha Sig's netman.

Hosterman praised the play of his three seniors, Stormer, Djurdjevic and fullback Roy Johnson. Johnson played the last three periods Saturday and, in Hosterman's words, "came through marvelously in the second half."

The Lions also got another good performance from their steady halfback line of Ray Dacey, Dieter Heinze and Harry Kline. All three will be back next season. Katona, a sophomore center, continued his late-season splurge with his third goal in two games.

"Everyone played together for a change and they worked well," Hosterman said. "It's too bad the season has to end now."

That the defenses controlled the game is shown by the fact that the goalies stopped a total of just 14 shots. Staab had seven saves, as did Robbins, and Ross. Robbins turned aside four shots in the first half and Ross three in the second.

The Nittanians outshot Pitt, 18-12, but the Panthers had seven corner kicks to State's three.

Globetrotters Face Gulls In Nittany Valley Debut

By ED CARPENTER

The most amazing organization the sportsworld has ever known and Uncle Sam's finest "Ambassadors of Good Will" are but two of the many phrases used to describe the Harlem Globetrotters.

That is the group of basketball magicians who will be appearing at Rec Hall at 7:30 tonight, their initial visit to the Nittany Valley, to play the Atlantic City Sea Gulls.

Now in their 36th year of consecutive play, the Globetrotters have become one of the most traveled sports teams in history.

OWNER-COACH Abe Saperstein has led his aggregation to 80 countries on all six continents. Included among the countries was a highly successful trip to Soviet Russia in 1959. During their stay the Trotters played before 10 sell-out crowds at the Lenin Sports Palace.

It's certainly a far cry from the team's humble beginning 36 years ago. It started on January 7, 1927, when the Globetrotters, composed of six players, wandered into Hinchley, Ill., to play their first game, against a local team. The outcome of that game is secondary. What is important is that from that game there was born an institution.

Since that first game the Trotters have amassed a rather enviable record of 7,412 victories against only 310 losses. Even more incredible is the fact that during the winter season of 1961-62, these "Magicians of the Court" won 167 games without suffering a setback.

FEATURED AMONG this zany basketball group is a high-pitched 6-2, 180-pounder, named Meadowlark Lemon. Now in his seventh season as a member of Saperstein's crew, this former Wilmington, N.C., native, is billed as "the No. 1 comedian of the sports world as chief funmaker for the Globetrotters." Rumor has it that Lemon was been working on some new stunts, so if you plan to be at Rec Hall tonight, be prepared to laugh.

Charles Harrison, better known as "Tex," is the man who usually comes up with the big basket that gives the Globetrotters the victory. So valuable are his basketball, as well as showman, assets that Saperstein named him to his all-time all-star Trotter team.

The Globetrotters are known for their long line of unbelievable dribblers, and among the best is 6-3, 177-pound, Murphy Simmons.

Gator Bowl Show Tonight

"Penn State in the Gator Bowl" will be presented on tonight's Campus Sports Parade radio program. The show is broadcast on WDFM and WMAJ radio at 7:40 p.m. on Tuesdays.
