

36 Selected for 'Who's Who'

Thirty-six seniors have been selected for "Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges" by the administrative coordinating committee.

In announcing the names, Undergraduate Student Government President Dean Wharton said the committee used the La Vie personality list in addition to names suggested by the committee.

THE SENIORS were then chosen on the basis of the committee's judgment of their contributions to the University, Wharton said.

The committee selected the following seniors:

Morris Baker, USG vice president; Alan Bober, Spectrum editor; James Burke, Interfraternity Council secretary; Randolph Carter, senior class president;

Pamela Chadwick, Panhellenic Council president.

Mary Sue Hersey, AWS judicial chairman; Nancy Hughes, Chimes president; Katherine Johnson, USG Rules Committee chairman; Paul Krow, Block "S" Club president; Lillian Leis, orientation co-chairman; Margo Lewis, USG secretary; Peter Lockhart, IFC Public Relations chairman.

John Mikulak, Men's Residence Council president; Ann Palmer, The Daily Collegian editor; Arthur Pergam, Town Independent Men's Council president; Robert Polishook, Spring Week chairman.

LOIS RISING, South Halls AWS president; David Robinson; All-American football end; Melvyn Schulman, Book Exchange chairman; Janis Somerville, AWS president; Emil Sos, IFC president.

Susan Starbird, Mortar Board president; John Torris, Varsity S Club president; Fred Waelchli, IFC Board of Control chairman; Wharton; Allison Woodall, USG National Student Association coordinating committee chairman; and Marjorie Zelko, Panhel rush chairman.

IFC Wins 1962 National Award As Tops Among Large Colleges

The Interfraternity Council was recently named the 1962 winner of the National Interfraternity Conference award for the outstanding fraternity system among large universities.

The award was won in competition with universities and colleges in the United States and Canada having 30 or more fraternities.

No runner-up was named in the Penn State class.

A spokesman for the committee, evaluating the University Interfraternity Council system, said that "no other university in the class merited a runner-up status to Penn State."

The Council was cited for assuming increased responsibility in campus activities, for its fraternity publications, for growth in fraternity membership, and for its service to the University and community.

Fraternity membership at the University increased during the last year to an all-time high of 2,850 members in 54 fraternities.

The Council's booklet to parents, "Fraternities and Your Son at Penn State," its pre-college orientation program for new students and their parents and rushing counseling, were cited as outstanding examples of public relations work.

"Fraternities and Your Son at Penn State," explains fraternities to parents of male students entering the University. More than 200 fraternity organizations in schools throughout the country have requested the booklet.
