

Lehigh Wins Wrestling Thriller, 16-14

Haney, Edwards Remain Unbeaten With Shutout Wins

By JIM BUKATA

Lehigh wrestling coach Gerry Leeman had the crying towel out Saturday night even though his wrestlers had just beaten Penn State, 16-14.

"If the referee (Lynn Kling) had given our boys at 191 and heavyweight the pins they deserved, then the match wouldn't have even been close," he complained in the dressing room.

"And I had to throw in four boys that never wrestled a varsity match before. With my regulars I think we could have won at least one or two of them."

EVEN THOUGH Lion coach Charlie Speidel had a regular missing and had to use another in his first match, he refused to make any excuses for the loss.

"Our boys went out and did a good job. Why make excuses about not having your best personnel," he added. "You have to go with the best available material you have."

However, Speidel thought that heavyweight Dick Walker had a predicament in his bout with John Illengwarth, but that the referee "just missed it."

Illengwarth used a last period reversal and 1:26 riding time to edge Walker, 7-6, and give the Engineers the victory.

After a scoreless first period, Walker pulled a reversal and quickly added two more points on a predicament.

ILLENGWARTH reversed the Lion heavyweight, who had been out for practice only three days, to make the score 4-2 at the end of two periods.

The two traded reversals in the final period, with Walker getting his and a 6-4 lead with 1:33 remaining.

Despite the pleas of 6,300 screaming fans for Walker to hold on, Illengwarth pulled a reversal and rode Walker the remainder of the period.

GEORGE EDWARDS has things well under control in his 147-pound bout against Lehigh's Jack Horner. Edwards almost worked this maneuver into a fall on his way to an 11-0 decision. Lehigh beat State, 16-14, Saturday night in Rec Hall.

The Engineers came from way behind to score their second win in three matches. State, now 1-2, held a 9-3 lead, but slowly saw it dissipate when Eastern Champion Kirk Pendleton took the mat in the 157-pound bout.

Pendleton rolled up a 12-0 lead over Chuck Beatty before applying a pancake to pin the Lion in 6:27.

Lehigh forged into the lead for the first time after the 167-pound bout.

Sophomore Harley Ferguson used a second period reversal and a third period predicament to post a 6-2 victory over Marty Strayer.

LEEMAN SAID after the match that this was a "turning point" in the meet.

Mike Gill put the Lions ahead with a thrilling 3-2 win over Gene Dini in the 177-pound class.

Gill used two escapes to tie the match after two periods and rode the Lehigh grappler the entire third period for the win.

Then came the bout that broke the Lions' back. Junior Ed Fleming tied the highly-rated John Burns, and would have had the win if he had not been penalized one point for locking his hands. As it was, he had to settle for a 6-6 draw.

EASTERN CHAMPION Bill Merriam had an easy time with Denny Slattery in their 123-pound bout, despite the fact that he won only 6-4.

The Lehigh wrestler gained the win with the two time points he was awarded. (A new rule in competition among Eastern schools this year gives a wrestler two time points if his riding time exceeds two minutes.)

Bob Haney, Dave Thiel and George Edwards posted shutouts over their opponents.

Haney (3-0) decisioned Clarence Dittlow, 8-0, at 130; Thiel (2-1) duplicated the score with a win over Bob Hess at 137 and Edwards (3-0) crushed Jack Horner, 11-0 at 147 pounds.

TOWARD WORLD BROTHERHOOD

by Joseph Irvin Arnold

A.B. (Centre College), A.M. (Columbia University), Ph.D. (Harvard University), Th.M. (Southern Baptist Theological Seminary)

THIS BOOK DEFENDS SIX THESE:

1. Refusing to examine itself critically or to face searching questions by others, a religious sect retains obviously untrue and harmful — even degrading — items side by side with items that are true, helpful and elevating.
2. Mutual, frank evaluation of points of view by various sects is very much better than silent indiscriminate toleration by each of anything and everything that another calls religion.
3. A great proportion of the resources of each sect, given in the name of religion, is wasteful used up in just keeping alive and in promoting selfcentered sectavian ends rather than in ministering to the religious needs of individuals and communities.
4. Unless Christianity, Judiasm, Islam, Hinduism, Buddhism, and other sects are merged into or replaced by a great World Brotherhood, sectarianism will continue to divide the world, isolate peoples, and stimulate conflict which is deadly dangerous in the atomic-space age.
5. Religious life should and will be integrated in a new World Brotherhood which should and will absorb or replace existing sects.
6. The intelligently religious person, knowing that religious preferences which divide people into sects are the result of indoctrination in childhood rather than of the greater truth, plausibility or superiority of any sect, will not hesitate to change to Brotherhood.

John Dewey wrote the Author: "You have struck a very important note in the problem of world organization and unity. In fact, I think the most important one as well as the most neglected and most needed."
