FIVE CENTS

Campus Parties Obtain 2 Congress Seats Each In Special USG Elections

Two candidates from each of the three campus political parties were elected to the Undergraduate Student Government Congress in the special election yesterday.

Paul D. Miller, nominated by Campus Party, defeated David Tanner, an independent candidate, 93 to 80, for the Nittany area seat. Roger Smith (2nd-engineering-Saylorsburg) received 27 write-in votes. Two other candidates each received one vote apiece.

In the town area, Whiton Paine, nominated by Liberal Party, received 31 votes to defeat John Blish, endorsed by University Party, who received 19 votes. Blish also was docked five per cent of his votes for failure to submit his expense account. The Campus Party candidate, Daniel Smichnick, received six votes.

Lawrence Linder, endorsed by University Party, and Thomas Lavey, nominated by Campus Party, won the two seats in North Halls. Linder received 113 votes, but was docked five per cent because he failed to turn in his expense account. Lavey captured 102 votes, and the third candidate, William Keller also nominated by Campus Party, received 80 votes.

Gregory Young, endorsed by University Party, and David Kopp, nominated by Liberal Party, captured the two congressional seats from the West Halls area. Young received 101 votes, and Kopp received 68. William Kakareka, an independent candidate, was third with 60 votes.

THE TWO Campus Party nominees, Ronald Ence and James Anzalone, received 32 and 27 votes respectively. One candidate had two write-in votes.

Elections Commission Chairman George Jackson said last night that he was surprised at the number that turned out for

Six hundred and four students voted in the election. About 35.8 per cent, or 202 men voted in the Nittany area. In North Halls, about 22.3 per cent, or 169 students, cast ballots. West Halls area had 14.4 per cent, or 177 men, vote in the election. In the town area, only 1.74 per cent, or 56 residents, turned out to cast their votes.

Results of Talks Remain Unknown

WASHINGTON (AP)—East-West negotiators met for nearly four hours yesterday at the start of a new round of talks on a nuclear-weapons test ban. No results were announced.

A Soviet delegate, Nikolai Federenko, told newsmen only that the talks would be resumed today.

U.S., British and Soviet representatives are participating in the talks.

Britain's ambassador, Sir David Ormsby Gore, likewise declined comment after the 3-hour, 50-minute secret session at the State Department. He said the negotiators had agreed not to comment.

WILLIAM C. FOSTER, U.S. disarmament chief, represented the United States. It was reported that President Kennedy himself had wanted the conversations conducted in a nonpublic fashion in order to provide best chances for success in reaching agreement in the long-outstanding East-West issue.

Presidential science adviser Jerome B. Wiesner said in advance of the meeting that he believed the two sides were "within shooting distance" of an agreement to outlaw atomic weapons tests. Wiesner made that prediction in a Voice of America radio interview.

Wiesner said the real issue now is the gap between the yearly number of inspections which Khrushchev offered—two or three—and the U.S. demand, which has been 8 or 10.

OTHER U.S. authorities mixed reservations with any optimism. They noted a wide range of other issues remain to be solved in the East-West negotiations which have been going on in one form or another since 1958.

State Department press officer Lincoln White touched on one of the issues when he was asked about Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's statement Monday that France must be included in a test-ban pact.

White noted that the treaty proposed by the United States calls on the signatories "to cooperate in encouraging other states to participate."

But he said the U.S. focus now is on seeking agreement among the atomic Big Three—the United States, Soviet Union, and Britain.

The State Department spokesman said the United States certainly "would try to bring in France," now vigorously pursuing independent atomic development, if an agreement is reached. And "by the same token we would undertake to urge" that the Russians bring in their Red Chinese colleagues, he said.

U.S. authorities suggested that Gromyko was fortifying the Soviet bargaining and propaganda position by restating Moscow's insistence on such participation. Gromyko did not mention Red China, which is also reported to be working on an atomic force.

U.S. officials noted that under the American proposal, no nation signing the treaty would remain bound by the ban if any other country—in or out of the treaty—set off a nuclear explosion.

English Department Stymies New Froth

By WINNIE BOYLE and ROCHELLE MICHAELS

The refusal of the Department of English to participate in forming a new campus humor magazine was the "unexpected delay" which prevented a decision on the publication's constitution yesterday.

George L. Donovan, chairman of the Committee on Organizations, said the committee had been unable to reach a final decision on whether or not to recommend chartering Froth.

In a prepared statement, the committee said: "In view of this development, this committee has asked the Undergraduate Student Government Committee, which originally drafted the proposed constitution, to restructure it in order to provide an acceptable alternative."

Andrea Buscanics, co-editor of the former Penn. State Froth, stated when she submitted the proposed constitution that she had obtained the "full co-operation" of both the Department of English and the School of Journalism.

The constitution specified that the heads of both departments, or their representatives, would sit on the magazine's Board of Directors and that a member of each department serve as advisers.

USG president Dean Wharton said last night that this development came as a surprise to him, and that the committee would meet tomorrow to consider possible alternatives.

HE SAID that he had discussed the matter with his coordinating committee last night and they had come up with several recommendations.

There is some question as to whether an individual member of the English Department could serve as an advisor to the magazine, even though the English Department as a whole does not wish to be associated with it, Donovan said.

There is little possibility of simply deleting the additional advisor from the constitution, he said, because the committee considered this to be a major change from the former Froth's structure.

Sams Hits 'Censorship' For Froth

A student humor magazine should operate without any faculty participation at all, Henry W. Sams, head of the department of English, said last night in explaining why he declined to act as an adviser or member of a board of directors for the proposed Froth.

"We don't like the role of censor," Sams said referring to his department. "I prefer a spontaneous magazine expressing student sense and sense of humor."

The proposed constitution for Froth now before the Committee on Student Organizations, chaired by George L. Donovan, requires that Sams or his representative serve on the board of directors and a member of his department serve as adviser.

EXPLAINING HIS position, Sams said: "I want the magazine to come forth as a medium of student expression. It should be frankly and fully a student publication in which the students take the initiative and responsibility. "We were asked to function solely in the role of a stuffed shirt. This is an artificial relationship with what should be a student publication."

"If I stepped in as a convenient step-father at this moment, I don't think it would help to resolve the situation at all."

Congress To Meet

USG May Ask Discipline Post

A request for an additional voting student member on the Senate Subcommittee on Discipline will be voted upon at 7:30 tonight by the Undergraduate Student Government Congress.

Fred Good (fraternity), sponsor of the bill, said last night that if a male student is being tried, the chairman of the tribunal which originally tried the case should be the additional committee member. If the case involves a coed, then the other member should be the chairman of Women's Central Judicial.

AT THE PRESENT time, there is only one student voting member on the subcommittee. If it is a case involving a male student, the USG President is the student member, and if it is a case involving a coed, the president of the Association of Women Students is the student member.

A bill, co-sponsored by Thomas Musumeci (Pollock-Lyons) and USG President Dean Wharton, calls for the establishment of a committee to measure the effects of the term system.

The committee, if established, will study student education, morale and other facets of college life. Special consideration will be made of the final exam periods and vacation periods. The committee will then make recommendations to Congress and carry out actions deemed necessary.

The third bill on the congressional agenda proposes that USG condemn the actions of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, because of the committee's gross lack of regard for the rights of American citizens.

THE BILL, sponsored by Jon Geiger (fraternity), also asks that a letter be written to Herman Schneebeli, representative from Pennsylvania's 20th Congressional District.

The lone appointment this week is George Gordon, former town area congressman, as chairman of the National and International Affairs Awareness Committee.

Congress will also be asked to give its approval for the USG Secretary-Treasurer to serve on the Froth Board of Directors. Last week Congress approved the USG President to serve on the board;

'Greek System As A Whole' Selected for Contest's Theme

Displays featuring "the Greek system as a whole" will be appearing in the windows of State College merchants between Feb. 7 and 9 as the prelude to the 1963 edition of Greek Week, Feb. 10-17.

Dorothy Samuels and Harold Ishler, Greek Week committee-men in charge of the window display and poster contests, have mailed copies of the contest rules to participating fraternities and sororities.

Greek houses and suites were told to contact merchants on S. Allen Street between College and Beaver Avenues and those on College Avenue between Allen and Garner Streets. Most of them will consent to window displays, the co-chairmen said.

Greeks entering the poster contest are to use the same theme, although last year's theme, "Greeks Light the Way," can also be included, they said.

The co-chairmen have limited posters to 20 inches by 25 inches although they may be of any shape. Contest rules stipulate that the posters must be two-dimensional, with no projections from the drawings. Perspective drawing is permitted.

The posters are to be judged on originality, appeal, simplicity, relationship, excellence of design and lettering, and other bases, including "strict adherence to the rules."
