Many engineering and scientific graduates have that as an objective — achieving it is a reality at UAC's Corporate Systems Center.

CSC was formed to bring together under one management the vast technical resources of United Aircraft (one of the nation's forty largest corporations) and its world-famous divisions. A young, relatively small organization, CSC is engaged in all phases of systems work in areas such as stellar inertial guidance, mobile ballistic missiles, weather technology, bio-science systems, orbital rendezvous and satellite navigation and control.

Rapid expansion in programs provides exceptional advancement potential for capable graduates. CSC's "small company" environment coupled with the stability and benefits of a major corporation provide an ideal climate for professional growth.

In the heart of picturesque New England, we are located almost exactly midway between Boston and New York City — only brief parkway hours from each.

Investigate CSC career advantages during our visit. If you are unable to see our placement representative during interviews on your campus, write to Mr. R. A. Fuller, Box 1047, Broadstreet Station, Manchester, Connecticut — an equal opportunity employer.

Opportunities for Chemists, Physicists, Biologists, Mathematicians, Civil, Aeronautical, Mechanical, Electrical and Chemical Engineers, Metallurgists, Meteorologists, Oceanographers, Geophysicists and others.
