

Macmillan Hits DeGaulle For Dominating Europe

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan accused President Charles de Gaulle last night of setting out to dominate Europe and of trying to set the clock back.

"They seem to think that Europe can live alone without friends and without allies," the prime minister told Britons in a television address.

HIS SPEECH capped a day of repercussions here and abroad on France's veto of British membership in the European Common Market. Macmillan said France's action plunges the six-nation community into serious crisis, but he expressed confidence obstacles eventually will be overcome by "the need to unite ourselves."

"France, or at least the present government of France," said Macmillan, "is looking backwards, not forwards."

IN HIS ADDRESS, seen and heard also in France, Germany, Denmark, Belgium, Sweden and Italy, an unsmiling Macmillan declared that: "What happened at Brussels yesterday was bad—bad for us, bad for Europe and bad for the whole free world.

"A great opportunity has been missed. What we and our friends were trying to do at Brussels was something very creative and attractive and dramatic."

"We must cooperate with the rest of the world," he said, "with the United States in an equal and honorable partnership, and that is why we in Britain are determined to stand by the Atlantic alliance."

WITHOUT REFERRING to De Gaulle by name, Macmillan warned of the consequences to Europe of disunity. The two world wars, he said, "have generally been brought about by the attempts of one nation, or sometimes of one man, to dominate the whole of Europe; to create a kind of sham United Europe, not by agreement or by partnership of cooperation, but by power."

McNamara Sees Arms Need

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said yesterday the United States must build a flexible force of strategic weapons that can absorb the first blow in a nuclear war and hit back at Soviet military bases or cities.

"By building into our forces a flexible capacity, we at least eliminate the prospect that we could strike back in only one way, namely, against the Soviet target system including their cities," McNamara told the House Armed Services Committee.

"SUCH A PROSPECT would give the Soviet Union no incentive to withhold attack against our cities in a first strike," he said. "We want to give them a better alternative. Whether they would accept it in the crisis of a global nuclear war, no one can say."

As things stand now, McNamara said, U.S. strategic power is sufficient to take the first blow "and still destroy the Soviet Union."

And he added an increasing share of the nation's retaliatory forces will be intercontinental ballistic missiles in dispersed and hardened sites—"all with a very high probability of survival under nuclear attack."

He also commented that the Soviet Union now has about 17,000 military men in Cuba. The Russians have put up about 12 surface-to-air missile sites and sent in about 40 MIG-21 jet fighters since last July, he said. More than 60 Soviet fighters already were there.

HE TOLD NEWSMEN "without question" the Soviet Union has taken all its offensive weapons out of Cuba.

For U.S. defense, McNamara called for urgent development of a new antimissile missile called the Nike-X.

Scranton Rejects Amendment

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton said yesterday he will not encourage passage of a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow him to succeed himself.

The governor expressed surprise that House Republicans had introduced the proposed amendment to knock out the present restriction of a single four-year term for chief executives.

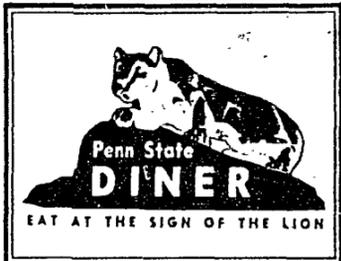

"If this is an effort to try and help me, may I say to you that I'm in my first month of my first year of being governor of the state of Pennsylvania and find plenty to do right here without thinking about 1966," Scranton said.

Asked at a news conference whether he would hinder or encourage passage of the proposal, Scranton said:

"I would certainly not do anything to encourage it, if it is meant for me personally."

Scranton said he felt proposals for a constitutional convention to rewrite the state's 88-year-old basic law stand a better chance now than ever.

WANTED:

ONE USED MARRIAGE ANALYSIS BOOK —MARRIED, NOW; CAN'T AFFORD NEW TEXT — NEED ADJUSTMENT BADLY!

Ten gorgeous babydolls from Alpha Xi Delta sorority and ten town Independent Men are making an adjustment, not in their marriage, but in their educational development by participating in the Student-Faculty Discussion held last night 7:00-8:30 in the Alpha Xi Delta suite. The topic of their discussion was The Psychology of Language. The students discussed how the wording of language influences how you react and what you read. The guest from the faculty was Professor Hanson with whom those participating had the opportunity to become acquainted on an informal level.

This is only one of the number of discussions scheduled by TIM council to be conducted this term. The purpose of these discussions are primarily to bring some of the distinguished personalities represented on this campus by members in our faculty before the students on an easy-chair level. On February 20th, Dr. Kopp from the German Department will come before ten girls from Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and ten men from town to enter into a discussion on East Berlin with a movie portraying life on the east side of the Berlin Wall. There are still a few vacancies open to interested town men. Those interested in actively participating in this discussion or other Student-Faculty discussions which are scheduled in the future should sign the sheet at the HUB desk or call Bob Hauck at AD 8-2096.

Those students who participated in the discussion last night at Alpha Xi Delta sorority in Simmons with Professor Hanson were:

Betsy O'Hara	Rodger Riggs
Bee DeBolt	Richard Stein
Lois Yeakel	Bill Welsh
Carol Rupp	Mike Sobol
Karen Ward	Ron Huslin
Barbara Fortunet	Sam Metz
Ann DiFelice	Jim Simonetti
Elaine Spreckelson	Larry Richman
Diane Lamb	Robert Stewart
Ronna Bean	Edward Stone
	Lynn Brant

THANK YOU, PROFESSOR HANSON
