

Doesn't Want Any Repeat Performance

Egli Hopes Cagers Remember Poor '62 Showing Against Navy

By DEAN BILLYCK Sports Editor

Coach John Egli shouldn't have much trouble getting his cagers up for tomorrow afternoon's game at Navy. The Lion mentor has made it known in no uncertain terms that State gave Navy a win last season at Rec Hall — and he doesn't want any parts of another give-away session this year.

The Lions threw away passes, missed easy shots and nearly fouled themselves out of the game last year as the Middies humiliated State, 79-67.

"THAT WAS undoubtedly our worst game and possibly one of the worst any team that I've coached has ever played," Egli said in reviewing the game. "I don't want any repeat performance this time."

State, who is 11-3, can ill-afford any such shenanigans. The Lions have six games remaining on their regular schedule and if they have any hopes for a post-season tournament bid, they must win at least five of the six contests. A loss to the Midshipmen would all but eliminate the Nittanies from the running.

Neither the NCAA or the NIT have issued any "feeler lists," but State Athletic Director Ernie McCoy feels the Lions have a chance for the NCAA.

"If we roll along at the present pace, we would be in good shape for a bid," McCoy said in his office yesterday.

The silver-headed McCoy should know. He is chairman of the Eastern Regional Selection Committee.

ney, though, it probably must beat West Virginia and Pitt. And this is no easy task.

Last year Navy was a post-season journey team, competing in the NIT, but this season the Middies are having trouble keeping above the .500 mark. Coach Ben Carnevale's quintet is, 7-7, but it has taken wins in the last three games to get even.

Navy has beaten Long Island, 80-54; Gettysburg, 65-63; Utah, 73-58; Bucknell, 67-58; Hofstra, 78-69; Virginia, 78-66; and Manhattan, 80-72. Losses have been to Penn, 54-51; Princeton, 65-54; Temple, 56-55; Marquette, 76-56; Duke, 85-70; Maryland, 67-61; and Georgetown, 83-71.

THE MIDDIES are led by their captain Ron Terwilliger. The senior center is averaging 14.7 points a game with 192 points and is shooting at a .433 clip. "Twig", as his teammates call him, has been the leading Navy scorer for the past two years.

John Krechting and John Mahoney are the other two Middies that are most liable to give State trouble. Krechting has scored 127 points and Mahoney 122. Bob Davenport with 93 markers and Ben Ross with 75 are the other Navy starters.

Penn State baseball coach Chuck Medlar announced that all pitching and catching candidates for the varsity baseball team are to report to Room 241, Rec Hall, Monday at 5:15 p.m.

Good's Diving Sparks TKE Win in IM Swim

By AL MILLER

Fred Good's graceful diving stole the spotlight as Tau Kappa Epsilon, Butternut and Chester scored victories in the intramural swim meets last night at Glennland Pool.

TKE and Butternut had little trouble winning their matches over Triangle, 35-5, and Indiana, 34-5, respectively. The contest between Chester and Venango, however, went down to the final event before Chester's relay team pulled it out, 24-16.

TKE captured all five events in its romp over Triangle. Leading the way was the fine diving of Good, who piled up a total of 25 points with his moves off the board. Good topped all other competition with a back dive layout and an open half-gainer.

IN THE other events, Bob Turing splashed to a first in the freestyle, and Bob Dimock easily earned five points in his backstroke win. Fred Schwartz led in the breaststroke as the two Triangle entries were disqualified for using illegal strokes. The rules state that either a butterfly stroke or open-arm breast movement may be used.

Mike Rosenberg led Butternut with two victories in the backstroke and breaststroke. His time of 39.4 in the backstroke was the fastest time this year. Phil Kelly took a first in the freestyle while Art Goldman won the diving. Completing the sweep, Butternut's relay team of Jim Gold, Paul Kelly, John Kaufman and Larry Simmering raced in ahead of Indiana.

Ken Weiss' freestyle time of 32.2 sparked Chester to its victory over Venango. IM Director Dutch Sykes said that Weiss' time was the second best thus far this season.

Weiss also anchored Chestnut's winning relay team which included Howie Agran, Bob Block and Bob Lacorte. Lacorte captured the diving and Jim Delark splashed home first in the breaststroke for the winners.

Nittanies Rank 17th In Grid Attendance

Penn State ranked 17th in the nation in football attendance at home games during the 1962 season according to figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The Lions drew 211,413 fans in five games for an average of 42,283 per game. This average was up 4,378 from a year earlier when they drew 193,660 in five games.

It was the second straight year in which State led the East in average attendance. Navy was second and Pittsburgh was third.

relay race last night in Glennland Pool. TKE had little trouble winning this event or the meet as it ripped Triangle, 35-5.
