State G-Men Can Win 100th for Wettstone

By JOE GRATA

FITTING TRIBUTE: Gymnastics boss Gene Wettstone has been at Penn State since 1939. He'd begun to mold his present-day dynasty a few years before any member of this year's team was even born.

Now — nine EIGL and seven NCAA titles, 49 Easterns and 19 National individual champions, five Olympians and 24 years later — the slim, bespectacled coach can look back on a lifetime record of 99 wins, 30 losses and six ties.

Saturday the Nittany gymnasts can pay deserving tribute to Wettstone and his illustrious career with the most cherished of milestones — win No. 100. And if State can sneak past the strong Syracuse performers (5-0), it will probably capture another EIGL crown.

Hardly anyone was aware of Wettstone and his performers in the early 1940s. But gymnastics has evolved to almost unprecedented popularity here. When a capacity crowd packs Rec Hall, Wettstone beams with pride and joy.

Wettstone is hailed as a master-mind and super-showman everywhere he goes. "Mr. Gymnastics" does his own recruiting; he's his own public relations agent, counselor and ambassador of goodwill.

Wettstone has already given graciously and unselfishly to Penn State, to gymnastics and to his boys. Now comes the chance for gymnastics and the Lion performers to pay tribute to Wettstone.

JUST FOR FUN: If you're a non-skier and plan to take up the sport, you'll have valuable use for ski terms. Unless, of course, you already think that you know such gobbledygook as langlauf, sitzmarks, christi, schuss, ruades, etc.

A beginning term — fall — you'll need in your ski vocabulary is one you'll probably learn best through experience. "A fall," as described by one usually reliable source, is "an instance of involuntary contact of the skier with the snow." (There's one in every crowd.)

And the gaping depression you've left in the snow where you fell is known as a sitzmark or bathtub; above all (especially for the sake of Ritenour) don't be a basher — one who flies down the slope with a prayer as his only means of stopping.

Here's more advice. If you're a cracker (one who learns slow but never gives up alive), consult a canones (an expert skier); only to ease your curiosity, langlauf is a cross-country skier; a christi is a fast turn with the skis parallel; schuss is a fast ski run, and ruades are christies with the rear of the skis lifted slightly off the ground.

If someone says he likes your herringbone, don't feel flattered. It's the pattern left in the snow when climbing with the skis turned out.

ODDS 'N ENDS: "If we had won, it would have been a mockery to everything for which football stands."

That's the observation made by Penn State backfield coach Joe Paterno at a recent high school football banquet when he was trying to explain the Lions' 17-7 loss to Florida in the Gator Bowl.

"We weren't ready for the game and Florida was," Paterno said. "The blame belongs to the coaches, not the players. We didn't provide strong leadership in preparing for the game."

Jim Tarman, State sports publicist, brought "Old Ironsides" back to Mt. Nittany last week. The trophy was presented in Pittsburgh at a dinner-banquet sponsored by the city's Chamber of Commerce . . . Dick Pencek, former Lion lacrosse boss now serving Uncle Sam, will be an assistant lacrosse coach at the U.S. Military Academy in West Point this spring. (Who sez the Army doesn't employ sound strategy?)

Look for a new addition this spring to the facilities at Stone Valley, the University's 6,000-acre recreation site. The administration is buying three sailboats for the lake.

Plans for the near future call for a fundamental course in sailing techniques to be offered through the physical education department. The senior class could give the University's struggling recreation program a much-needed boost if it elects to invest its class gift (about $8,000) in the Stone Valley project with a large pavilion.
