

Financial Aid

Student Loans Available

University students who need financial aid to meet expenses of winter and spring terms may apply for National Defense Student Loans.

The Office of Student Aid still has funds available for these loans. In the past funds were completely exhausted by the time Fall Term began.

Because of the delayed passage of the congressional bill fostering these loans, the amount of money to be distributed has increased.

National Defense Student Loans are available to all full-time students engaged in study for an associate, baccalaureate or graduate degree.

Students wishing to obtain these loans should apply now in order to meet the deadline for payment of winter term bills.

Fee bills for winter term will be mailed Nov. 20, and deadline for payment will be Dec. 11.

Judging will be based on cleverness, originality, adherence to theme, poise and walk.

Faisal Leads Arab Coup

from the associated press

Crown Prince Faisal, reform-minded Bedouin warrior who opposes lavish royal spending, was proclaimed king of oil-rich Saudi Arabia in a move yesterday that summarily dethroned his brother, ailing King Saud.

Faisal, 60, has been virtual ruler of the desert Arab kingdom since Saud failed in an attempt to oust him as prime minister in a power struggle in February.

Sauds removal as absolute monarch had been expected in the Middle East for several days. There are reports that the 62-year-old monarch, whose spending of American oil royalties threatened the nation's financial stability, had become gravely ill.

The shakeup in the Saudi monarchy, established in 1926 by the "lion of the desert," King Ibn Saud, was broadcast by Radio Mecca. The decision to dethrone Saud and proclaim Faisal king was approved by the Saudi cabinet and advisory council meeting under the deputy prime minister, the radio said.

Mortar Raid Concerns U.S.

U.S. military sources grudgingly gave the Communist Viet Cong an A-plus grade yesterday for the daring mortar raid against American planes and personnel at the Bien Hoa base on Sunday.

A force of about two Vietnamese battalions sent in pursuit of the raiders returned empty handed. It appeared that despite the base's overwhelming ground strength and a counter-attack by air, the Viet Cong pulled off the mission Sunday without a casualty.

Inside the base, 18 miles northeast of Saigon, the mortar shells killed four U.S. Army men and wounded 31 other Americans. Two Vietnamese air force men were killed and two wounded.

U.S. military sources said the attack could be repeated at a dozen or more bases in South Viet Nam where Red guerrillas dominate much of the countryside.

Embassy Finds Hidden Mikes

Hidden microphones were discovered in the U.S. Embassy building in Warsaw, Poland, last month and the United States protested the violation of embassy immunity, the State Department announced Monday.

The microphones, press officer Robert J. McCloskey told a news conference, were installed during the early stages of construction.

They were discovered Oct. 7 and John M. Cabot, the American ambassador, immediately lodged what McCloskey described as an initial protest with the Polish foreign minister.

The Polish authorities "have denied any responsibility and knowledge" of the bugging system, McCloskey said.

In May this year, more than 40 secret microphones were found in the U.S. embassy in Moscow. There, the microphones were imbedded deep in the walls of the top three floors of the 10-story embassy building.

Officials stressed Monday that the investigation in Warsaw has not been concluded and therefore they were unable to say how many microphones were found, but they said the nature of the devices was similar to those found in Moscow last May.

In summary, Harris said: "All we can do is to prevent the problem in the best fashion we know—if we do not get any cooperation, we have to do this through the law."

In other business, IFC heard John R. Thompson, editor of The Daily Collegian explain a campaign being instituted today by the newspaper to raise funds for a new transmitter for campus radio station WDFM.

"This is a very serious problem," Thompson said, "and a subject of vital concern. Thompson explained that he is appealing to fraternities because of their campus status and because they "can lead the way and set the tone" for the student body.

He expressed the hope that the IFC would pass a resolution urging fraternity participation in the campaign and that the individual fraternity presidents would present the matter to their own houses.

In answer to Thompson's appeal, the IFC unanimously passed a resolution, initiated by President David Savitz. "Resolved, that the Interfraternity Council fully supports the WDFM fund-raising campaign and will take measures to contribute and take measures to have each individual fraternity contribute to this campaign."

... without a lot of strings attached

One of the big benefits of THE BENEFACTOR, College Life's famous insurance policy, is the way it pays off in case of accidental death:

- DOUBLE—if you lose your life in an accident; TRIPLE—if your death results from an auto accident or as a passenger in a plane or other common carrier.

But the Real Pay-Off is that THE BENEFACTOR doesn't have a lot of strings attached to it which prevent payment of the extra money.

These Typical Exceptions are Not Found in THE BENEFACTOR

- The taking of poison or inhaling gas—voluntarily or otherwise. Engaging in riot or insurrection. Committing an assault or felony. Infirmary of mind or disease. Operating or riding in any kind of aircraft other than as a fare-paying passenger of a commercial airline on a regularly scheduled route. Any bacterial infection other than that occurring in consequence of an injury on the exterior of the body affected solely through external, violent and accidental means.

THE BENEFACTOR'S honest-to-goodness accidental death benefit is typical of all its nine big benefits. You get so much more for your money because College Life insures only college men and college men are preferred risks. Get the full BENEFACTOR story from your local College Life representative.*
