WDFM Fund Drive Reaches $8,000

By NORMAN WILLIAMS

The WDFM Transmitter Fund drive, begun three weeks ago, came to a smashing climax yesterday with more than $8,000 collected, most of it from undergraduate students.

Kenneth Hershberger, WDFM station manager, said he was "overwhelmed" when he heard the $8,000 mark had been reached.

At 5 p.m. yesterday, when the drive came to its official end for the term, receipts of more than $1,300 for the day had been brought to The Daily Collegian office, central point for collection of funds during the campaign.

Added to the $6,600 collected previously and receipts from the Junk Machine Jammy last night, the total went well over $8,000.

Contributions will continue to be collected by The Daily Collegian through January, and may be mailed to Box 261, State College. At least one fund-raising project for the campaign will be held in January.

Gift Possibility

Cost of the new transmitter is $15,000. Hershberger said he hopes the Class of 1965, which will select its class gift at winter registration, will appropriate money to the transmitter fund to reach the goal.

The transmitter drive began Nov. 4, and has since received wide-spread support from student, faculty, and campus organizations. Even before the drive had begun the Interfraternity Council, Liberal Arts Student Council, and Omicron Delta Kappa honor society had pledged donations, and the three campus political parties offered their support.

The same day University President Eric A. Walker endorsed the campaign with a $100 personal donation to the Fund. The following day the Undergraduate Student Government appropriated $1,000.

A week later more organizations were contributing, including Town Independent Men and Men's Residence Councils. The total amount donated at the end of the first week was $2,267.56.

Queen Contest

The "Miss WDFM Contest" began, and the transmitter drive deadline for the fall term was set at Nov. 25 when the campaign entered its second week. The Penn State Jazz Club announced it was sponsoring a benefit concert to aid the cause.

Block "S", the Hetzel Union Special Events Committee, the Penn State Outing Club and the Penn State Sports Car Club, which held a special rally, the proceeds of which were given to the Fund, all added to the donations. Delta Chi Fraternity announced it would hold a pie-eating contest Jan. 10 to provide a contribution.

West Halls Radio (WHR), initially started to rebroadcast WDFM to West Halls residents, issued its dime-a-request challenge to residents Nov. 15.

The challenge was more than answered, and a very tired WHR crew, ended the "request-a-thon" six days later netting over $300 for the campaign.

The West Halls Men's Residence Council also donated $100.

As the drive entered its third week, the fund's total had reached $5,026.22. On Nov. 19, WDFM held an open house for all who wished to see the station during operation. WDFM queen contestants were announced the same day and voting began. Each of the nine contestants was to receive one vote for each ten-cent donation on her behalf. The contest ended yesterday.

West Queen Candidate Cops Top Contest Honors

The West residence area candidate in the "Miss WDFM Contest" took top honors last night as Laura Maria Rizio was officially crowned the campus radio station queen.

The ceremony, under direction of Kenneth Hershberger, station manager, was a highlight of the Junk Machine Jammy, co-sponsored by the Hetzel Union Social and Special Events Committees in the HUB ballroom.

Miss Rizio (10th-political science-Philadelphia) is a member of the Spanish Club, Association of Women Students social committee, Liberal Arts Student Council, and is a Camera Club model. She is a resident of McKee.

The Junk Machine Jammy was designed to further the WDFM cause, along with a "Dimes for WDFM" dance scheduled for this evening in the East area.

Greek organizations also contributed. Delta Phi fraternity took top honors in the fraternity competition, donating more than $90. Winners of the sorority and residence area contests will be announced later.

There were a host of other contributors. Downtown merchants, alumni and numerous social, service, and educational organizations aided the drive. Individual contributions accounted for a large portion of the total. Names of those contributing one dollar or more were printed in The Daily Collegian, sponsor of the drive.

Miss WDFM Crowned

LAURA RIZIO, representing West Halls, is crowned Miss WDFM by Kenneth Hershberger, radio station manager, at the climax of this term's transmitter fund drive in the HUB ballroom last night. Approximately $8,000 was collected in the drive for a $15,000 transmitter.

Originality Highlights Donations

By KATHY CASE

Unusual fervor and originality were combined by Association of Women Students members in various residence hall projects to raise a total of $493.55 for the WDFM Transmitter Fund.

ETV Plans Network Programs

When WPSX-TV, the University's educational television station, begins broadcasting early in 1965, a portion of its programming will come from a non-profit corporation called the Eastern Educational Network (EEN).

Based in Boston, Mass., the network is a group of northeastern educational television stations which have joined together to improve the quality of member programming.

The network now includes stations in the District of Columbia, New York, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, and Maine. Programs are distributed to these and other affiliated stations by video-tape and micro-wave interconnection.

WPSX-TV will receive programming from EEN on video-tape and members in the network will permit rebroadcast of programs distributed by the corporation.

WPSX-TV, in turn, may offer EEN members outstanding programs which have originated in the University Park studios.

Programming produced locally will be supplemented both by EEN offerings and by those received from another WPSX-TV affiliation—the National Educational Television (NET) Network.

Through EEN, WPSX-TV will be able to offer its viewers in school and adult instructional programming; symphonies from Boston, New York, and Washington and other educational, informative, and entertaining programs from all over the nation.

Musicians Set Varied Recital

Pianist Alan Mandel and violinist Nancy Mandel will present a recital at 8:30 p.m. Monday in Arts I recital hall.

The program will include Mozart's "Sonata in A major, K. 305"; Beethoven's "Sonata in D Major, Op. 12, No. 1"; Brahms' "Sonata No. 1 in G major, Op. 78"; and Hindemith's "Sonata in E."

Miss Mandel is an alumna of Sarah Lawrence College and has received two diplomas from the Internationale Sommer Akademie des Mozarteums, in Salzburg, Austria.

She has studied under Dorothy DeLay of the Juilliard School of Music and Andre Gertler of the Conservatoire Royal de Musique de Bruxelles.

Mandel, instructor of music, gave his first public concert at the age of 13. He attended Juilliard School of Music and studied in Europe for two years under a Fulbright Scholarship. Mandel has given concerts in Europe and the United States.

For Commonwealth Campus Students

Keystone To Offer Organization Day

Organization Day, an orientation program for transfer students from a Commonwealth campus or University center, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 7 in 105 White Hall.

Sponsored by the local Chapter of the Keystone Society, a group of Commonwealth campus alumni, the program is designed to familiarize transfer students

926 Receive Fall Degrees

A total of 926 degrees will be awarded at fall term commencement exercises.

The ceremony will be at 10:30 a.m. Dec. 12, in the new south wing of Recreation Building.

Following a policy established several years ago, there will be no formal procession. Each student receiving a degree will be entitled to two guest tickets for the ceremony. The number was established because of the limited space available for indoor graduation.

Students may pick up their tickets when they receive their caps and gowns at the Athletic Store.

Candidates must be in their seats at 10:15 a.m.

Leadership Workshop Scheduled

Approximately 14 campus organizations will be represented next weekend at the University's third annual leadership development program being conducted by the National Training Laboratories.

The program, under sponsorship of the Educational Affairs Commission of the Undergraduate Student Government, is aimed at preparing freshmen, sophomores and juniors who plan active participation in campus organizations.

Episcopalian To Lecture

The Rev. Robert F. McGregor, rector of Grace Church in Providence, R.I., will speak at University chapel services at 10:55 a.m. Sunday in Schwab.

Rev. McGregor, born and educated in Illinois, is a member of the Department of Christian Education of the National Council of Episcopal Churches and a member of the General Committee on Church and Economic Life of the National Council of Churches.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from Oberlin College in 1938 and his bachelor of sacred theology degree from the General Theological Seminary.

Before assuming his present post last year, McGregor was dean of Trinity Cathedral in Newark, N.J. He was rector of St. Stephens Church in Oak Ridge, Tenn., from 1949-1956 and served the two following organizations as follows: Association of Women Students, Cathedral, Washington, D.C.

From 1941-1945 he was a priest in charge of churches in Ohio and then served six years as rector of Christ Church, Oberlin, Ohio, and chaplain to Episcopal students at Oberlin College.

The Chapel Choir, directed by Mrs. Willa Taylor, will sing the Benjamin Britten anthem, "Jubilate Deo," and University organist Leonard Rayer will play four Advent chorale preludes from the Bach "Organbuchlein."

Delta Zeta and Alpha Gamma Delta sorority will each send two representatives. The president of Delta Chi fraternity will also attend.

Today's issue of The Daily Collegian marks the end of publication for the fall term. Publication will resume Jan. 5.

Soviets Cite Aggression

from the associated press

The Soviet Union called the U.S., Belgian and British action in the Congo an act of gross aggression and demanded the immediate withdrawal of all foreign troops. The Soviet statement yesterday rejected the Western assertion that Belgian paratroopers were carried to Stanleyville in U.S. planes to rescue hostages threatened by the Congolese rebels. The United States rejected the Soviet charges. The State Department said in Washington the mission was carried out on humanitarian grounds "to protect the lives of innocent citizens threatened with execution and other forms of torture."

British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan rejected the protest and said he would forward it to London. He expressed "doubt that his government would respect the Soviet arguments." It was also learned that Dr. Paul Carlson, the American missionary threatened repeatedly with execution by Congolese rebels, finally died yesterday in a blaze of panic gunfire touched off by the approach of Belgian paratroopers.

Martial Law Imposed

Premier Tran Van Huong imposed martial law in Saigon last night after a day of student rioting against his young regime that left 100 or more persons injured. Defying martial law, a crowd of youths clashed with police after nightfall and a grenade blast injured seven policemen. Police said intelligence reports had indicated Red infiltrators would try to take advantage of the disorders to throw grenades and lay blame on the troops. The day's disorders were possibly the worst this year.

British Pound Endangered

A massive international effort to sustain the British pound was mounted last night. Eleven nations put up 3 billion in credits for the beleaguered Bank of England. The emergency draft was ordered by the bank and Britain's new Labor government within five days after speculators began attacks on the pound, which is the world's No. 2 reserve currency after the U.S. dollar. Frightened money dealers began selling and speculators began trading short after financial centers were swept with fears that Britain, facing its biggest trade gap in years, would devalue the pound to pay off foreign debts. Instead the government raised interest rates from 5 to 7 per cent earlier this week.

Postmaster To Make Study

After a discussion yesterday with President Johnson, Postmaster General John Gronouski told a news conference that the President had directed him to make a study of possible legislative proposals to increase rates on second- and third-class mail. He indicated no thought was being given to asking Congress at this time for another hike in first-class letter mail. He also said Johnson called for a study of the prospects for "in the next few years reducing by several hundred the number of post offices in the country." This reduction would apply "particularly to marginal, small fourth-class offices."

FBI Knows Miss. Killers

Months of stubborn investigation has convinced the FBI it can name the killers in two of the most notorious crimes spawned by the civil rights movement, an FBI spokesman said yesterday. But knowing who the culprits are and prosecuting them in court are different matters. The FBI is still trying to amass enough evidence to prosecute—before a jury of their neighbors—the men suspected of killing three civil rights workers in Mississippi last June. And it is also continuing "the most intensive type of investigation" in the September 1962 bombing of a Birmingham, Ala., church in which four Negroes died and 23 were injured.

Parties See No Merger This Term

By LAURIE DEVINE

Liberal Party will not merge with Campus Party or University Party.

As a result of statements issued last night by the leaders of the three campus parties, the present political party line-up is as follows:

CAMPUS PARTY: James Conahan, chairman of the organization, confirmed that his party will participate in no mergers.

He welcomed any Liberal Party members who wish to join Campus Party. James Caplan, Undergraduate Student Government town congressman, switched his party affiliation from Liberal to Campus Party.

LIBERAL PARTY: Brian Sherwood resigned his post as Liberal Party chairman and said, "I throw my complete support to Campus Party." Sherwood explained his action as coming from "outside pressures" which made it impossible for him to remain in Liberal Party.

Benjamin Novak, vice chairman of Liberal Party, said he will continue his position in the party. As acting chairman, he stated that because of Sherwood's resignation, it seems likely that the majority of Liberal Party members will work for student government through University Party.

Other Changes
Two members of Liberal Party's steering committee, John Gilliland and Gordon Griffin, said they intend to register with University Party next winter term.

Party officials stated all members are acting as individuals and the official party word is the Liberal Party definitely will not be dissolved. It may not nominate a slate of candidates for the winter term elections, but it will retain its identity as one of the three political parties on campus.

UNIVERSITY PARTY: Gary Legon, University Party chairman, said his party "will welcome aid from anyone who wishes to work for a better University community." University Party will not merge with any other party on campus.

Legon repeated his previous statement that the formerly proposed Campus-Liberal merger was a "cheap propaganda move."

Winter elections will be conducted Jan. 18-20 to fill 10 USG Congress seats and to elect a freshman class president.

Registration and nominating for the three parties will be held Jan. 10. At this time each individual member of each party will, as stated by Griffin, "have to decide for himself" the party of his choice.

Mild Weather Follows Rain

Much-needed rain fell in Pennsylvania yesterday and last night, and most areas reported nearly an inch.

Today should be partly sunny and mild with a high temperature of 55 degrees.

It will become partly cloudy and somewhat cooler tonight, and the low will be about 32.

Tomorrow should be mostly cloudy and cooler with a chance of showers. The high will be about 40 degrees.
