

State Fencers Host Powerful Rutgers In Season's Finale

By JIM ROSSI

The Penn State fencing team will close the 1965 campaign this afternoon when it hosts the swordsmen of Rutgers. The meet will be held at 2 p.m. at the fencing in the South wing of Rec Hall.

The Nittany swordsmen will be trying to finish the season with an even record. So far this season the fencers have won two and lost three. After walloping Johns Hopkins, 20-7 in the season's first road match to Cornell, 17-10, State bounced back with a 15-12 decision over Syracuse, but then lost the next two to C.C.N.Y., 16-11 and Navy, 15-11.

State will also be trying to get revenge for last year's heartbreaking 14-13 loss at the hands of the New Jersey team; but as in the last two matches victory won't be easy for the Lions. Penn State will enter its third match in a row as underdogs.

Coach Dick Klima compares this year's Rutgers team with Cornell and C.C.N.Y. State has lost dual meets to each of these schools.

Since 1961 Rutgers has improved from a consistently last place team to one of the better squads in the Eastern conference. Last year the Rutgers epeeist took first place in the Eastern finals and finished sixth overall. This year's contingent has five fencers returning from last year's squad.

Coach Klima said this final match is very important to his team. "This one," said Klima, "will give us a fairly good indication of what we can expect in the Easterns. If we can beat Rutgers we will probably do well in the Easterns."

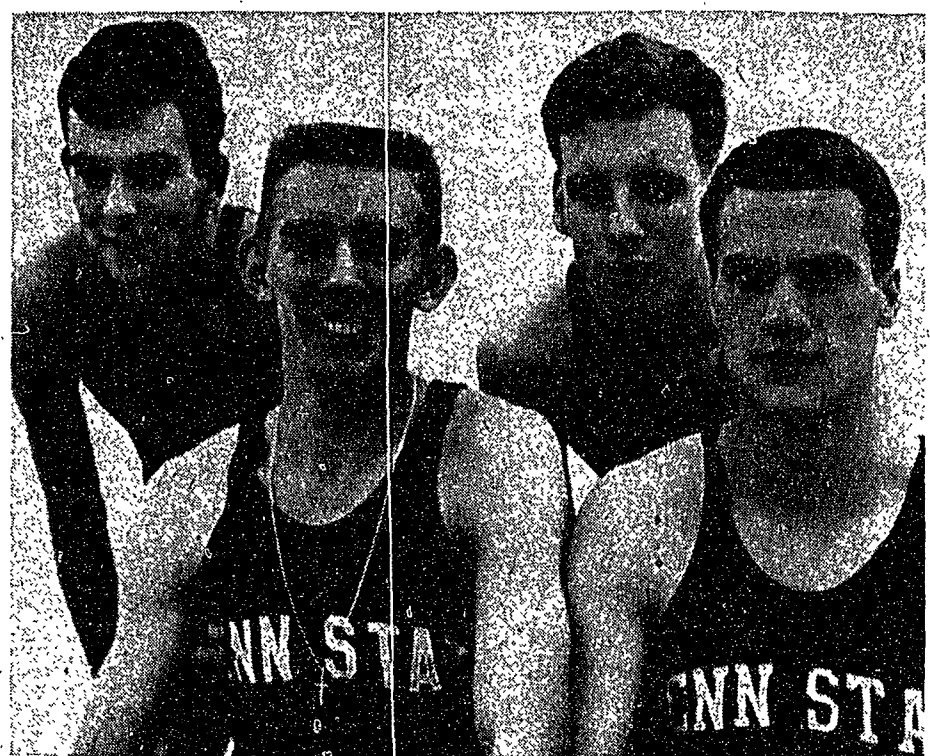

The Eastern Intercollegiate fencing championships will begin Friday in New York.

In order for State to win this afternoon, the foil and epee teams will have to perform better. It's physically impossible to win a fencing match on the strength of one weapon alone. That's exactly what the Lions have been trying unsuccessfully to do in the last two by-far better. They've been winning bouts in only one weapon, the sabre.

The sabre team has been phenomenal in the last two meets racking up 17 wins. However, if it should slip from its present pinnacle, the foil and epee teams must take up the slack. "If we're going to win," said Klima, "we're going to have to take two weapons and be strong in the third."

Klima is sticking to the same starting lineup this week. Starters include sabremen Chuck Dooley, Jeff Young, and Harry Reed; foil men Lou Plotz, Ron Bennett, and Bob Frank; and epeeists Ralph Anderson, captain Fred Davis, and Ron Bell.

Hickory: Rush, Allegheny, pinned Batt, Bedford; Veclindis, Armstrong, pinned Dyer, Allegheny. Walnut: McBath, Hickory, pinned Vill. Millin, Elks; Peck, Allegheny, pinned Frew, Bradford; Donovan, Lehigh, pinned Bureland, Clearfield; Lauri, komas, Crawford, pinned Schuster, Northumberland.

PENN STATE'S two-mile relay team, which will compete in the IC4A's at New York today, this season has included Ed Weblor, Tom Bedick, Art Morris and Dick Lampman. Weblor, however, will not compete in the relay today but instead will enter the 1000-yard run.

Lions Face East's Best In Today's IC4A Meet

By MARTY SIMON

The climax of the 1965 indoor track season—the IC4A Championships—gets underway this morning in New York's Madison Square Garden and Penn State's 19 representatives will be up against the best trackmen in the East and some of the best in the country.

Some 900 athletes from 59 Eastern schools will be competing till about midnight tonight in this marathon extravaganza.

Competition is keener than ever this year and it will be no easy chore for the Nittanians to tally but head coach John Lucas feels that his boys are up for the meet and hopes they will perform "in the best traditions of Penn State track."

The pre-meet favorite is perennial champ Villanova although Harvard, which just completed a 10-0 season, should pose a threat to the Wildcats.

Penn State's two-mile relay team (Bill Reilly, Art Morris, Tom Bedick, Dick Lampman), undefeated in dual competition in two years, will have to contend with powerful squads from Villanova (the world record-holder for this event), Seton Hall, and Georgetown, which have turned in the first, third and fourth best times, respectively, in the nation this year.

Villanova's best this year was a 7:24 while Seton Hall and Georgetown have been around the 7:30 mark. The Lions' best effort in this event has been a 7:44.

Ed Weblor will be up against the East's finest middle distance runners as he competes in the 1000-yard run, the feature event of the meet.

The qualifying time for today's mile relay finals is 3:19. The State squad (Don Gregg, Bill Hibschan, Frank Zaylskus, Paul Colasantio) has run a 3:20 this year.

This squad, according to Lucas, "has not yet proven itself, but is capable of making the finals."

The Lions' frosh medley relay team (Bob Beam, Jim Peiffer, Steve Calhoun, Terry Engelder) will tackle a Villanova team that will be shooting for a world record.

All of the Lions' 17 runners (there are two State field men entered) will have to contend with the unusual conditions of the Garden. Because the track is so small and turns so frequent, it will be the runners that can move out first that will win.

"You have to go like a bullet at the start and pray that your adrenalin will carry you the last 50 or 60 yards," Lucas said.

The Philadelphia and New York area schools have an advantage in that they often compete at the Garden and are used to its conditions. Nevertheless, Lucas said that every Nittany trackman "is capable of scoring a point provided he comes up with a maximum effort."

Sophomore Cohen Keeps All-Around Title at State

Bob Elsingor, one of eight Springfield gymnasts to qualify for the finals, came out of virtually nowhere to cop first place in the side horse with a 9.60. The big surprise in the event, came when Temple's Frank Yapps scored a 7.7 to miss the cutoff. The Owl junior who earlier in the season beat Cohen in the event, broke twice.

The side horse, along with the trampoline proved to be the two disappointing events of the afternoon for the Lions.

Only three of the five starters entered in the horse managed to qualify for the finals. Cohen finished third behind Elsingor and Tom Auchterlonie with a 9.35. Junior Dennis Paoletti finished in a fourth-place tie with Springfield's Steve Ross (9.15), while Jacobson finished just under the wire with an 8.75.

Another disappointment came in the trampoline where only Tony Watson will be competing tomorrow. The Lion junior finished fifth with an 8.65.

The big surprise came with Saponaro, one of the pre-tournament tramp favorites, out of the money with a score of 7.25. The Lion co-captain, near the end of an almost flawless routine, landed feet first on one of the springs, and to prevent any injury, jumped off.

In the biggest rivalry of the tournament, the long-horse dual between Saponaro and Sid Oglesby of Syracuse, the New Yorker came out on top. The best Saponaro could manage was a tie for fifth place with Ed Carghill of Springfield. Their score was a 9.4. Oglesby was second with a score of 9.65. Rick Black of Springfield took first with a 9.75.

Senior John Martin was also disappointing in the still rings competition. Martin finished with a 9.0—25 of a point under the cutoff score.
