

Lions' Paul Mickey Grabs Rebound from Pitt's Al DiFrischia

Cagers To Host WVU Mountaineers Last Team To Win in Rec Hall

By HOWARD FLICKER
Collegian Sports Writer
Size, speed and shooting are the basic elements of any basketball team, but the Penn State squad has something extra going for it—pride.

Penn State coach John Egli has been known, and often criticized for, his policy of doing a limited amount of recruiting. The coach feels, however, that his players come to Penn State not only for basketball, but for the great educational opportunity that the school offers.

"Every one of those boys is here because he wants Penn State," Egli said of his team. "This develops a tremendous pride in the school and each one of those boys has it." It will be this pride that Penn State will put on the line in Rec Hall on Saturday against West Virginia. The Mountaineers were the last team to beat the Lions in Rec Hall, and that was back on Feb. 20, 1963.

Many powerful teams have played in Rec Hall since that night, but none has been able to beat the Nittany Lions there.

Tough Home Court

Egli calls Rec Hall, "one of the most beautiful courts in the country," but despite its athletic quality, opposing teams would rather not play there, for it has become one of the toughest home courts in the nation.

Egli has been pleased with the development of the team and feels that they are at the point where they can beat a strong team like West Virginia. The coach credited pride with keeping the Lions close to some of the most powerful teams in the country, but now the team should be able to win because they are playing well together.

Two things hurt the Lions in their early season games. The first was the loss of Leon Mickens, who dropped out of school, and Galen Godbey, who injured his knee. State lost shooting and rebounding strength when it lost these two.

"With either of them we could have won the Gator Bowl," Egli said.

Mickey, Stansfield Tough Now
The second was the fact that Paul Mickey and Bill Stansfield had not played all summer and had a difficult time getting started. But both are playing well now, with Mickey leading the team in rebounds and Stansfield playing the most consistent ball on the team.

The Nittany Lions enjoy playing at home and they are extremely proud of the winning tradition in Rec Hall. They will do everything in their power to keep it from being tarnished.

NCAA Revises Gridiron Rules

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association adopted a new rule yesterday which it hopes will put the foot back into football and open up a whole new pattern of offensive play.

The committee also adopted a rule prohibiting the use of electronic coaching aids, particularly video taped replays during games. The committee, headed by Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan Athletic director, decided "that there have been too many fair catches on kicks from scrimmage and it's the unanimous feeling that this should change."

Linemen Hold Position

Under the new rule, linemen on the kicking team will have to hold their positions until the ball is kicked, thereby giving the player receiving the ball an additional few seconds time.

Currently, most teams employ a nine man spread on the line when punting and place their kicker 15 yards back. This allows the linemen to converge on the kick receiver, making punt returns almost prohibitive. "This will bring back the short or quick kick and open up a host of offensive variations," said Dave Nelson, coach at the University of Delaware.

"It brings kicking back into the game by holding the five interior linemen at the line of scrimmage and gives the coaches a full new offensive concept to work with," said Crisler.

Regarding the use of electronic coaching equipment, the committee decided to ban its use because "of an underlying concern that if one or two teams use it, then others will do it, too," said Crisler.

Video Tape Mentioned
The specific mention was made of video taped instant replays which could be fed to coaches while the game is in progress. There had been some mention of teams which employ electronic devices in the helmets of players to carry signals.

Crisler said that a major concern was economic, because it was apparent that many teams, both on the college and junior college levels, could not afford to outfit their teams with electronic gear.

Most coaches believed that use of such equipment would require the addition of at least one member to the coaching staff, he said.

Crisler also said there was danger that the philosophy of the game would change from a game for the players to a "push button type of thing."

In all, 15 rules changes were made, but most of them involved minor clarifications of existing regulations.

Hornung Married Yesterday

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Paul Hornung, the Golden Boy of the Green Bay Packers, was married yesterday to Patricia Roeder, a girl from Green Bay, Wis., whom he met 10 years ago. Hornung is 31.

The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Daniel F. Sullivan of the Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd. "I feel beautiful," Hornung said at a wedding reception in the Beverly Hills Hotel. "Everybody was nervous but me."

The wedding was attended by some 75 friends of the couple. The couple will go to Hawaii on their honeymoon.

Although they met 10 years ago, they became reacquainted last year when Miss Roeder, 28, visited her family in Green Bay. She was then working as a television model in Dallas, Tex.

"I seemed to have spent the last few months commuting between Green Bay and Dallas," Mrs. Hornung said. "Finally, I asked Paul, 'What am I going to do?'"

"You're going to marry me," he said.

Crosby Golf Tourney 'Not A Clambake'

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Clambake became synonymous with the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament in 1937 when the crooner started a fun tournament in Southern California.

Now they don't bake clams. The tournament, starting today, is a rugged test for golfers seeking part of a $104,500 purse and the scene is the picturesque Monterey Peninsula in Northern California.

Don Massengale of Jacksboro, Tex., surprised by winning the 1966 title since generally the top money goes to a pro who has collected a lot of the big checks before.

Additionally, Crosby pays out to the pros on the leading pro-amateur teams. Chuck Courtney of San Diego and Dr. John Moler combined for the pro-amateur title a year ago.

As usual, three courses will be played during the four day event but this time there's something new.

Spyglass Hill, newest course on the Monterey Peninsula, has been added and Crosby believes it will prove the toughest test of all. Still, judging from the past, the golfers may have the most respect for rugged Pebble Beach.

Each pro-amateur team will tour Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Spyglass during the first three days. Then the finalists on Sunday will attack Pebble Beach again.

Although Crosby's tournament frequently runs into rain and wind, the weatherman says it will be clear for this 26th annual affair.

Much of the interest centers on Spyglass Hill and Crosby has wagered Jack Nicklaus that he can't break the par 72 on the new layout which combines the ocean beach with the surrounding pine forests.

Entries Close This Afternoon IM Swimming Begins Next Week

Entries for intramural swimming close at 4:30 p.m. today, with competition scheduled to get under way next Tuesday night.

All entries should be filed at the Intramural Sports office, Recreation Building.

Each team may enter two men in each of the five events, and one individual may compete in only two events.

All competition will be of the dual-meet variety. Scoring will be on the basis of five points for first, three for second and one for third place. The winning relay team will be awarded five points.

The events are the 60-yard free style, 60-yard back stroke, 60-yard breast stroke, diving and 120-yard relay.

In case a meet ends in a tie, the winner will be determined by a special 90-yard medley relay to run in the following sequence: backstroke, breaststroke and freestyle. Winner of this relay will be awarded one point. The restriction on two events per person will be waived if the tie-breaking relay is necessary. Each diver will perform three dives: required forward (pike only); required backward (layout only); optional (any one meter dive, but not a repeat of either required dive).

In scoring diving, the judge's award for a dive is multiplied by the degree of difficulty to arrive at the final score. Divers will be given a score of zero when it's obvious that the performers made no real attempt to perform the announced dive.

In the breast stroke, swimmers may use either the conventional breast stroke or the butterfly. Swimmers will not be permitted to switch from one stroke to another during an event.

This season intramural swimmers will take aim on the following IM records:
60-yard free style — 30.1 seconds (J. Hickman, Phi Delta Theta, 1966).
60-yard back stroke — 35.6 seconds (F. Dolman, Beta Theta Pi, 1965).
60-yard breaststroke — 33.5 seconds (J. Hickman, Phi Delta Theta, 1966).
120-yard relay — 57.2 seconds (Beta Theta Pi, 1965).
