

Cards Silent on Boston's Wall

BOSTON (AP) The St. Louis Cardinals had their first look yesterday at Boston's Fenway Park, but the National League champions weren't talking about the short left field fence.

"I told them to keep their eye on the ball and not on the wall," Manager Red Schoendienst said as his club worked out in the hot midday sun for the first time at the site of today's opening of the 1967 World Series.

"Looking at that wall can be a little deceiving," Schoendienst added. "I told them just to hit the ball and not worry about the wall."

Speedy Lou Brock, who led the National League in stolen bases with 5, will have the task of playing in front of the 38-foot left field wall. The fence is 315 feet from home plate down the foul line and veers to 379 feet at the flag pole in left center. "The only problem with that fence," Brock said with a smile, "is if they hit every ball off it." When asked if he had received any special instructions on how to play left field in Fenway Park, Brock added, "there's only one thing that can help you . . . that's experience. You just don't learn to play that wall in a day or two."

Brock, a left-handed batter who finished the season with a .299 average, said when he's at bat he doesn't think about the short walls—whether in right field or left field. "I just try to spray my hits," he said.

Cardinal first baseman, Orlando Cepeda, a righthanded hitter, also discounted the leftfield fence. "I haven't taken a look at the fence," he said with a big smile.

Perhaps Bob Gibson, who will pitch today's Series opener for the Cardinals, best summed up the attitude of the Redbirds as they await Boston's American League champions. "I don't get real excited before a game," he said. "It's after the game."

Gibson, who bounced back from a broken leg in mid-July, had a 13-7 season mark and 2.98 earned run average. He won two games for St. Louis in the 1964 Series victory over the New York Yankees. Gibson said he was impressed with the Boston attack, including hard-hitting left fielder Carl Yastrzemski. "But," he added, "if you got good stuff, you can beat 'em."

Schoendienst said the Cardinals had received scouting reports on the Red Sox since July. When pressed for what the scouts reported, the one-time second baseman concluded half-seriously, "Well, they mentioned Yastrzemski's name a few times."

levine's sports line

Bob Campbell: Mr. Big Play

By PAUL LEVINE
Collegian Sports Editor

Last summer the Miami Herald published a picture of Charlie Tate along side one of comedian Jonathan Winters. The effect was stunning.

The Miami football coach and the rotund funnyman wore the same expression, and you had to read the captions to tell them apart.

Everybody got a chuckle from that one, even Charlie. Last Saturday, the Herald ran another picture of the Hurricane mentor, but this time he looked like Maude Frickert, and no one laughed.

Charlie Tate had plenty of reason to look downcast. For the second week in a row, his team had been upset, and "Jolly Cholly," as Miamians preferred to call him, was jolly no more.

"That Campbell really killed us with his run," Tate groaned after the Penn State game. "It was the key play. We had him trapped but he got away, all the way to our 15."

Poor Charlie. But Miami won't be the last team to feel the sting of Penn State's flashy tailback. In the season's first two games, the 183-pound junior from Apalachin, N.Y., has gained 154 yards rushing in only 21 carries. His 50-yard scamper last week was the talk of Miami, and one press box sage went as far as to say that it was the greatest run ever seen in the Orange Bowl.

Joe Paterno called it the turning point of the game, and the Miami press couldn't find the word for it. "Spectacular," "astounding," "unbelievable," and "incredible" were some of the adjectives.

After the game, the Lion speedster said he had gotten some good blocking on the play. Regardless of blocking, there are few runners in the country who could have turned and twisted their way through a defense the way Campbell does.

If a defensive end the size of Miami's Ted Hendricks comes barreling toward Campbell on an end sweep, the Lion tailback doesn't try to run over him. He flirts with the would-be tackler.

The lineman will lunge at Campbell, who'll give him a leg, then take it back. A linebacker will get a shoulder fake, and Bob will go the other way. A change of pace, Campbell cuts inside a defensive back, and off he goes, threading his way through an entire team.

"One of the finest players I've ever coached," is the way Joe Paterno describes his do-everything tailback who is even too versatile to be called simply a triple threat.

Besides his running, in the first two games, Campbell has caught six passes and completed one of three, returned three punts and four kickoffs, and has punted seven times for a 48.9 average, best in the nation.

In fact, the only thing Campbell doesn't do is sell the cokes which Penn State fans need to lubricate their rum.

The multi-talented Campbell and all of his teammates will be put to their sternest test of the young season Saturday, when the golden-helmeted Bruins of UCLA invade Beaver Stadium. As the Lions aim for a 2-1 record and a share of national recognition, UCLA will be out to notch its fourth win without a loss.

In defeating Tennessee, Pittsburgh and Washington State, the Bruins have averaged 37 points a game, so Campbell and crew on offense are depended on to duel the Bruins in a high-scoring game.

"This is a better UCLA team than the one that beat us last year," Paterno said the other day. "They're bigger and stronger than last year, and we'll need some breaks and big plays to win."

Big play? Call on Campbell. That's his specialty.

LEVINE

UCLA Picked Third In AP Football Poll

Southern California, the new No. 1 team in the Associated Press college football poll, faces an unranked conference opponent this Saturday before moving on to next week's climactic game with Notre Dame, which the Trojans replaced atop the poll.

With the Irish upset 28-21 by Purdue and falling to sixth place, Southern California claimed the top spot on the strength of victories over Texas and Michigan State. Stanford, 2-1, meets the unbeaten Trojans Saturday.

Houston, moving into the second spot in the poll Saturday, meets a rugged North Carolina State team, which has a 2-0 record. Third-place UCLA faces Penn State at Beaver Stadium

Saturday. Purdue, which jumped from 10th to fourth by beating Notre Dame, plays Northwestern 1-1.

Georgia, ranked No. 5 could have trouble with South Carolina, which is 3-0 and beat Duke 21-17 Saturday. Notre Dame faces Iowa, which is 1-1 and was beaten by Oregon State last week.

Seventh-rated Nebraska plays Kansas State, 1-1 so far this season, and eighth-place Colorado faces Iowa State 1-2. Alabama, in ninth place in the poll, meets its traditional foe Mississippi, conqueror of Kentucky by a 26-13 score Saturday. Texas Tech, no. 10, faces Mississippi State, beaten 24-7 by Florida last week.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and jints on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis.

1. Southern Cal. (20) 3-0 428
2. Houston (10) 3-0 389
3. UCLA (6) 3-0 368
4. Purdue (9) 2-0 354
5. Georgia (1) 2-0 293
6. Notre Dame 1-1 165
7. Nebraska 2-0 141
8. Colorado 2-0 114
9. Alabama 1-0-1 73
10. Texas Tech 2-0 47

Officials Club For Women Meet Tonight

Women interested in officiating volleyball or basketball will meet at 7 tonight in the White Hall gym to organize the Women's Recreation Association officials club. The club offers basic instruction and practice in officiating both sports and provides officials for WRA intramural tournaments. In addition, it cooperates with the Central Pennsylvania Board of Women Officials to rate any women who wish to be ranked in the national rating system.

According to Adviser Nancy J. Bailey, the club will concentrate on volleyball most of fall term. Coeds should come tonight prepared to play volleyball.

Later this term and all next term the group will work with officiating basketball.

First Meeting Of Chess Club Slated Tonight

All interested students and faculty members wishing to become members of the Penn State Chess Club should report to the Hetzel Union Building, tonight at 8:00 p.m.

According to James Fritz, president of the club, members are badly needed due to heavy graduation losses. The club is a semi-formal organization designed for all students and faculty members who enjoy playing chess.

The club is coached by Donald Byrne and John Devereaux. Byrne holds the title of International Senior Master and is one of the top ten chess players in the United States.

Among the many titles won by the Penn State Chess Club are eighth place in the United States Intercollegiate Championship, and places one through four in the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Invitational Championships.

People Read Small Ads You're Reading One Now!

WE DON'T MEAN TO BRAG BUT,

We're number 1

IN SWEATERS 'N KNITS

FOR GUYS AND GALS!

Thrifty Knits

At's over 1,000 sweaters on display!

WE'RE THE ONLY ONE

IN STATE COLLEGE DEALING ENTIRELY IN

Sweaters 'n Knits!

SO, WE'RE NUMBER 1...

Next to the State Store, University Park Plaza Shopping Center
222 W. Hamilton Avenue, State College

Open Monday thru Friday, 10 a.m. 'til 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. 'til 6 p.m.

Soccer Club Plans Games

LOVE! JOY! WORSHIP!
VESPERS . . . 6:30 p.m. Eisenhower Chapel
COMMUNION . . . 10:00 p.m. Grace Lutheran Church
Sponsored by L.S.A.

An informal women's soccer-speedball club will meet from 2:30-4 p.m. tomorrow on the women's athletic field. Scheduled to meet at that time every Tuesday and Thursday, the club is open to all interested women who desire informal competition in soccer and speedball.

WEST HALLS EDUCATIONAL and CULTURAL COMMITTEE

presents

THE LIVELY ARTS

- Thurs., Oct. 5—"Charlie Chaplin"
Mr. David Shepard — Theatre Arts Department
Movies & Commentary
- Thurs., Oct. 19—"An Evening of Flamenco Guitar"
Dr. Howard Hoffman — Psychology Department
Musical Performance
- Thurs., Nov. 2—"McLuhan, Happenings and Modern Theatre"
Mr. Kelly Yeaton — Theatre Arts Department
Lecture
- Thurs., Nov. 16—"Photography"
Mr. Robert Breon — Penn State Photo Shop
Demonstration

ALL EVENTS ARE PRESENTED AT 6:30 P.M. IN WARING LOUNGE

NO ADMISSION — EVERYONE IS WELCOME

For Results --- Use Collegian Classifieds