Senate Hears Opposite Views on Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Senate got conflicting advice on Vietnam yesterday. Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) proposed a U.S. cease-fire to test Hanoi's war or peace intentions. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) opposed any unilateral standstill.

Symington, an Armed Services committee member, told the Senate the United States should go beyond a mere halt in the bombing of North Vietnam and suspend all military operations in both the North and South on a fixed date.

If the Communists did not respond with similar action and with offers to talk, he said this country would be free to "pursue this war in any manner of its own choosing."

Improve Enemy Positions
Kuchel, the assistant GOP Senate leader, said the United States cannot be expected to "declare a unilateral standstill that would permit the North Vietnamese unilaterally to improve their positions," particularly in the hotly contested demilitarized zone area.

Kuchel told his colleagues that Hanoi has been denied a military victory and thus is counting on "our moral paralysis in the face of mounting pressure for peace" to win a political victory. He warned against abandoning American commitments in Asia.

"It is far too late in the day to throw away what free people have fought valiantly to achieve in Southeast Asia," Kuchel said. "America must not sully her commitment to the security of free Asia by groping for a nameless settlement . . ."

Just Enduring Peace
"In our zealous quest for a speedy end to all hostilities there we must not be blind to the indispensable necessity that the peace we seek to achieve must be just and enduring."

Symington, a former Air Force secretary, was asked in an interview if his proposal represented a change in his basic position that there should be intensified bombing of vital military targets that has caused him to be labeled a hawk.

His answer: All of the testimony from civilians and military leaders that I have been able to gather here and in my frequent visits to Vietnam is that the bombing pauses, particularly in the TET holiday early this year, have resulted in many more killings in South Vietnam.

The basis of this current stream of requests for stopping the bombing is that action of this kind will bring Ho Chi Minh to the conference table. If we stop all fighting, won't he be even more inclined to talk? The thrust of my proposals is to test Ho's intentions thoroughly.

Questions, Answers
Q. You think a cease-fire would be more effective than a mere bombing pause?
A. If we do it this way, we will lose fewer lives.

Q. But suppose the enemy doesn't stop firing, won't that be tough on the Marines who are under heavy attack on the demilitarized zone?
A. Unfortunately, we would lose those lives anyway. The only way we can really stop those losses would be a ground invasion to get at their mortars and artillery. I'm opposed to that because I believe any ground invasion of North Vietnam would bring Communist China into the war.

Q. What happens if the enemy doesn't stop firing?
A. Then the options would be entirely with us.

Q. How long would you suggest as a test period?
A. Long enough so that the government and the people, the administration and Congress, could determine whether Hanoi intends to talk or merely is stepping up its infiltration. This is in no sense an ultimatum.

"TRIUMPH! Naturalism - in characters and background - is the mark of this film in its technical perfections. Saturated in time and place, we are left with the universality of the theme and its particular contemporary relevance. And this is the triumph of 'Bonnie and Clyde'. Warren Beatty and Arthur Penn firmly establish themselves as one of the most excitingly creative teams in American moviemaking!" - Judith Crist, Vogue

"A JUMPING UP AND DOWN RAVE! A WORK OF CINEMATIC ART! The screen is strewn with violence, but the violence is meaningful, vital to an understanding of these real people. UNFORGETTABLE! HOMAGE TO ALL!" - Ladies Home Journal

"I HAVE NEVER SEEN A GANGSTER FILM LIKE IT, AND IT WILL BE HARD TO BEAT! This film should live in the national folk history. Warren Beatty gives a tremendous performance. Wonderfully authentic. The film as a whole is tight and constructed with wisdom as well as skill. It rushes to a bloody climax, which hits hard! A MAJOR ARTISTIC ACCOMPLISHMENT!" - Cue Magazine

"AN AMERICAN WORK OF ART-POSSIBLY THE BEST FILM OF THIS YEAR! 'Bonnie and Clyde' has been brought perfectly to the screen! The action stuff is simply overwhelming. Warren Beatty gives the greatest performance of his life. JUST GO SEE THIS PICTURE. YOU WILL NEVER FORGET IT!" - Cosmopolitan

"FROM START TO FINISH THE FILM WAS ENGROSSING, FASCINATING AND MAGNIFICENTLY MADE!" - Newsday

"VIVID, VIOLENT TALE! UNUSUAL! FASCINATING! Captures a sense of the period and attempts to understand the twisted motives of the young man and his girl who went on a prolonged bank-robbing and killing spree. Exceedingly well made - astonishingly good performance by Warren Beatty." - Saturday Review

"★★★★ BOLD AND BRASSY, BRUTAL AND BRILLIANT! The pace - furious. The cast is perfect. No one can help but marvel at the film's technical virtuosity!" - N.Y. Daily News
